INVESTMENT MANAGERS' REPORTS

ECONOMIC & MARKET OVERVIEW

Introduction

Equity markets rose over the first six months of 2023, underpinned by falling inflation, an easing in the pace of interest rate hikes from major central banks, some signs of renewed economic growth and corporate earnings that generally held up better than had been feared. In contrast, government bonds produced a negative return in sterling terms (mildly positive in US dollar terms) against this background, as interest rates headed higher.

It was not all smooth going for equities during the period, however. Markets were rocked by the mini-banking crisis in February and March when three medium-sized regional banks went bankrupt, and Credit Suisse failed and was taken over by UBS. The brinkmanship in US Congress in May, which saw the US debt ceiling extended with only a few days' grace before the self-imposed deadline, also caused some investor concerns and volatility in markets. Meanwhile, the war in Ukraine increasingly seemed as if it would continue indefinitely, while geopolitical tensions between the US and China, particularly in relation to Taiwan, overshadowed markets.

Headline inflation continued to fall in major economies (having peaked in June 2022 in the US and in October 2022 in the UK and eurozone), as energy prices declined rapidly. But core inflation remained stubbornly high, as inflation spread to other areas of the economy and wage pressures grew. The UK's rate of inflation remained higher than all other G7 and eurozone nations, as escalating UK food price inflation remained most acute.

Central banks continued to emphasise the need to get on top of inflationary pressures and the US Federal Reserve (Fed) and other major central banks continued to raise interest rates. However, the pace of rate hikes fell. The Fed raised rates three times during the period, by 25 basis points (bps) each time, taking its Fed funds rate to 5.25%, before leaving rates unchanged in June. The Bank of England (BoE) and European Central Bank (ECB) both followed suit, reducing the pace of interest rate hikes to 25 bps in 2023 until the BoE raised rates by 50 bps in June following May's disappointing inflation figure. The Fed, BoE and ECB all stated that interest rates would likely need to rise in the second half of the year and that it was too early to talk of rate cuts despite the falls in inflation.

Economic data from most countries was generally sluggish. The US remained more robust than most, but its annualised growth rate waned in the final quarter of 2022 and the first quarter of 2023. Against expectations, the UK avoided a recession in the final quarter of 2022, while the eurozone economy did fall into recession, as it produced two consecutive quarters of marginally negative growth (-0.1%) in the final quarter of 2022 and the first quarter of 2023. Growth rebounded in China following the easing of restrictions in early 2023, but there were some signs that growth was waning again by the end of the period.

North America

The US market produced a positive return in sterling terms. The market rallied as headline inflation continued to drop and hopes rose that the Fed would ease the pace of interest rate hikes in 2023. There was a significant pullback in US equities in February and March, however, as two regional banks – Silicon Valley Bank and Signature Bank – failed and had to be bailed out. First Republic Bank also failed a few months later and was the second-largest bank failure in US history. There was also some volatility in May, as the US government faced a technical default; US Congress initially failed to compromise on cuts to the Biden administration's spending plans, meaning the debt ceiling faced being breached. However, an agreement was ultimately reached, and the market continued to make headway during June. By the end of the period, both the S&P 500 Index and the Nasdaq Index (predominantly technology stocks) had touched 14-month highs. Some commentators were concerned at the marked concentration of the market, which saw a small handful of technology stocks, particularly AI-related companies, dominate the rise, while significant parts of the market were relatively flat.

Annual inflation continued to fall steadily during the period, and at a faster pace than in the eurozone and the UK, dropping from 6.4% in January to 4% by May 2023, as energy – notably gasoline prices – fell markedly. Core inflation remained higher, and only declined marginally from 5.6% in January to 5.3% in May – an indication that inflationary pressures excluding food and energy, were more entrenched. A persistently tight labour market also ensured that wage pressures were an added challenge. The Fed raised interest rates three times during the period, taking them from 4.5% to 5.25%. The 25 bps hikes marked a reduction from December's 50 bps hike and the unprecedented four successive 75 bps hikes in the second half of 2022. Finally, in June, the Fed left rates unchanged. Despite this, it cautioned that rates would still likely need to go higher during the remainder of 2023, dashing hopes of a rate cut before year-end.

The US economy remained relatively robust, although GDP slowed over the period. A 2.6% annualised growth in the fourth quarter of 2022 was followed by 2.0% in the first quarter of 2023. The labour market remained well supported, even though unemployment rose mildly from the recent generational lows. Consumer sentiment generally improved, with readings in the first six months of 2023 showing an increase from those in the final six months of 2022. The composite purchasing managers' index (PMI) also fared better, with May's reading of 54.3 (any figure above 50 denotes economic expansion) the best for over a year. Corporate earnings which had been robust for much of the year began to show signs of vulnerability in the face of rising costs and weakening global demand but remained better than expected.

Europe

European markets rose over the period but mildly underperformed the global market index in aggregate. The UK underperformed Continental European markets, largely owing to higher inflation in the UK and expectations that interest rates would need to remain higher for longer. The best returns in Europe came from Ireland and Italy, while Norway was very weak owing to its dependence on oil and gas which fell over the reporting year. Finland was also notably weak.

Trends in inflation and interest rates, as well as the war in Ukraine, dominated the backdrop to European equities. Markets were initially driven by hopes that inflationary pressure was easing and monetary tightening would peak later in the year. Eurozone and UK inflation fell, having peaked in October. However, it eased more quickly in the eurozone than in the UK, dropping from 10.6% in October to 6.1% in May. The equivalent figures for the UK were 11.1% and 8.7%. The persistently higher inflation rate in the UK mainly reflected much higher food inflation. The ECB continued to raise rates at every policy meeting during the period, taking them from 2.5% in January to 4% by June. Christine Lagarde, the ECB's President, warned in June that rates would need to go higher still and that a rate hike in July was almost a done deal. In the UK, the BoE raised rates from 3.5% to 5% over the first six months of the year. However, after two consecutive 25 bps rate hikes, the BoE decided to raise rates by 50 bps in June, following inflation data that showed headline inflation was unchanged at 8.7% in May, while core inflation had risen to 7.1%. The BoE also acknowledged that inflationary pressures were more persistent than expected and rates would most likely need to rise again.

Economic growth was relatively fragile across Europe. The eurozone economy fell into a technical recession; GDP fell by 0.1% in the final quarter of 2022 and the first quarter of 2023, as higher interest rates weighed heavily on consumer spending and exports waned, faced with weaker overseas demand. Against the odds, the UK managed to avoid a recession but barely grew. In contrast to the eurozone, however, GDP rose by 0.1% in the final quarter of 2022 and the first quarter of 2023. Nevertheless, labour markets remained relatively tight. In the UK unemployment ended the year not far off generational lows, at 3.8%, while in the eurozone, unemployment fell steadily and reached an all-time low of 6.5% in May. Additionally, PMI data improved in the eurozone, with the composite index rising above the 50 line that separates expansion from contraction in each of the five months from January. In the UK, it rose every month from February.

Asia

While Asian markets, excluding Japan, were weak over the reporting year, Japan performed well. China weakened, despite abandoning its Covid-related restrictions late in 2022. Following some recovery in economic performance in early 2023 after the scrapping of its Covid-related restrictions, economic performance in the country showed signs of waning in the spring and early summer. The country was also dogged by geopolitical tensions, most notably with the US and mainly over Taiwan. India also succumbed to profit-taking to end roughly flat (having been relatively strong in 2022), despite falling inflation and positive economic growth. South Korea and Taiwan produced positive returns, driven mainly by an improved performance in technology stocks, especially those deemed to be AI-related. Japan was strong, with the bellwether Nikkei Index hitting a 33-year high late in the period, as hopes grew that the country might be escaping the clutches of longstanding deflation, with inflation picking up and the Bank of Japan (BoJ) easing some of its controls on bond yields.

Nearly all Asian countries, except China and Japan, continued to tighten monetary policy over the period. Inflation rates, however, generally improved, reflecting some easing in the tight supply chains that had been caused by tight Covid restrictions, and a reduction in the pace of energy costs as oil and gas prices moderated. In China, the People's Bank of China cut key lending rates in mid-June 2023, for the first time since August 2022, in order to support the economy and encourage greater bank lending. Inflation levels remained relatively muted in China and by April, annual inflation had fallen to just 0.1%, while producer price inflation was negative, down by 4.6% year on year in May. Indian inflation rates also eased, with annual inflation falling from 6.5% in January 2022 to 4.25% in May, as food and energy prices eased. In Japan, inflation began to pick up and hit a more than 30-year high of 4.3% in January, before falling back to 3.2% in May. The BoJ eased its yield curve control policy a little but did not abandon it as the new BoJ governor Kazuo Ueda stated that the prevailing loose monetary stance should remain in place for now.

The outlook for Asian economies generally deteriorated, as both the global and regional economic environment worsened. In China, GDP rose by 3.0% in 2022, the lowest for several decades – excluding 2020, the first year of the Covid pandemic. An official forecast of 5% for 2023 disappointed investors, even though the first quarter saw GDP grow ahead of forecast at 4.5% year on year. In India, the economy remained robust and grew by 6.1% on an annual basis in the first quarter of 2023, following a 4.5% growth in the final quarter of 2022. Japan's economy also showed signs of recovery, with the first quarter of 2023 seeing annualised growth of 2.7%, the highest for three quarters, as consumer spending accelerated.

Fixed Income

Government bond markets weakened in sterling terms (they rose mildly in US dollar terms) as interest rates continued to head higher. Although headline inflation appeared to have peaked in most major economies, underlying or core inflation remained persistently higher than expected – a sign that inflationary pressures had spread. With the obvious exception of the central banks in China and Japan, major global central banks continued to raise rates, causing bond yields to rise and bond prices to fall. Corporate bonds generally outperformed government bonds, as risk appetite remained relatively high and yield spreads contracted.

The US 10-year Treasury yield was largely unchanged over the period, with an opening and closing yield of around 3.8%. Short rates rose, with the two-year hitting just over 5% in March, also a 16-year high. The US two-year/10-year bond yield spread remained inverted over the period – often seen as a sign of an impending recession. In the UK, the 10-year Gilt yield rose to nearly 4.5% in June, matching the levels seen in the autumn following Liz Truss's mini-budget drama, which were the highest seen in 14 years. In Germany, the 10-year Bund yield was largely unchanged at around 2.5%. It had risen in March to 2.7%, a 12-year high.

Annual inflation in the US had fallen to just 4% by May 2023 from 6.4% in January, as energy, notably gasoline prices, fell markedly. Eurozone and UK inflation also fell, having peaked later than in the US. It eased more quickly in the eurozone than in the UK, dropping from 10.6% in October 2022 to 6.1% in May 2023. The equivalent figures for the UK were 11.1% and 8.7%. The persistently higher inflation rate in the UK mainly reflected much higher food inflation. However, core inflation rose to 7.1% in May 2023, indicating that inflation had broadened and intensified to a relatively greater degree in the UK.

The Fed raised interest rates three times during the period, taking them from 4.5% to 5.25%. Finally, in June, the Fed left rates unchanged. Despite this, it cautioned that rates would still likely need to go higher during the remainder of 2023, dashing hopes of a rate cut before year-end. The ECB continued to raise rates at every policy meeting during the period. It took them from 2.5% in January to 4% by June. Christine Lagarde, the ECB's President, warned in June that rates would need to go higher still and that a rate hike in July was almost a done deal. In the UK, the BoE raised rates from 3.5% to 5% over the first six months of the year. However, after two consecutive 25 bps rate hikes, the BoE decided to raise rates by 50 bps in June, following May's disappointing inflation figure. The central bank also acknowledged that inflationary pressures were more persistent than expected and rates would most likely need to rise again. It was a different story in China and Japan. China's inflation rate fell to just 0.1% in April and the central bank cut its key lending rates. In Japan, despite inflation levels not seen for over 30 years, the BoJ kept its policy stance largely unchanged, although it did loosen its yield curve control policy a little, allowing 10-year government bond yields to rise from 0% towards 0.5%.

Currency and Commodities

The US dollar weakened mildly over the period. The US dollar currency index fell as traders began to expect that the Fed would begin to ease back on its interest rate hikes, which it did. However, the Fed warned that interest rates would still need to move higher, despite leaving the Fed funds rate unchanged in June, in order to bring inflation back to its target range. Sterling appreciated against other currencies in aggregate despite soaring inflation and an escalating cost-of-living crisis. Sterling rose from around 1.21 to 1.27 against the US dollar, and from 1.13 to 1.16 against the euro, supported by expectations that the BoE would need to raise rates further, and keep them higher for longer compared with most other countries. The euro continued to recover against most major currencies. It rose mildly against the US dollar, benefiting from the ECB's increasingly hawkish stance. The Japanese yen was weak against the US dollar, reflecting the divergence in its monetary policy against that of the US. Having recovered from a multi-decade low of over 150 in October, the yen had strengthened to 128-129 by the turn of the year, but it had weakened to over 140 by the end of the period. Despite hopes that the BoJ might alter its ultra-loose monetary policy with the appointment of Kazuo Ueda as the central bank's governor, Ueda confirmed in the final months of the period that the BoJ would keep its policy intact for now.

Commodities were largely unchanged in aggregate over the period. While bullish sentiment around China's relaxation of Covid-related restrictions drove prices higher, traders remained concerned about the impact of higher interest rates on economic growth. Oil prices were weak, with West Texas Intermediate falling from over $80 per barrel at the beginning of the period to just over $70 by the end. This was despite OPEC cutting production levels and Russian oil shipments continuing to face an embargo in the West. Both West Texas Intermediate and Brent Crude fell to 15-month lows in March but recovered a little towards the end of the period. Copper was volatile and reflected sentiment about the global, and especially Chinese, economy. However, it produced a positive return, rising towards the end of the period on expected supply-side constraints, particularly in Chile. Other key industrial metals, such as aluminium, and notably zinc, were weaker on concerns about global demand. Lithium, used in electric-vehicle batteries, was significantly weaker, as concerns emerged about an oversupply of batteries in the short to medium term. The price more than halved from its peak before recovering a little towards the end of the period. The gold price rallied and traded close to all-time highs in May, before easing a little. It benefited from its 'safe-haven' status, hopes of a slowdown in the pace of interest rate hikes and a falling dollar.

ALTERNATIVES

BNY MELLON ABSOLUTE RETURN BOND FUND

Over the six-month period under review, the Fund's Euro S share class returned 1.56%, net of fees, compared with 1.49% for the 3 month EURIBOR benchmark, both in euro terms. The Fund generated a positive return and slightly outperformed its benchmark.

Markets were highly volatile in the first part of the year. Both risk-free and credit markets rallied in January on falling inflation and a moderation in hawkish tones of central bankers. In February, core government bond markets sold off sharply as economic data surprised to the upside. However, the US regional banking crisis and UBS's takeover of Credit Suisse in March triggered a flight to quality in government bonds, as well as a reassessment of how much further central banks could continue hiking interest rates without causing an undesired impact on the financial system. The increased uncertainty generated a sharp sell-off in credit markets, which recovered somewhat by month-end.

During the second half of the period under review, persistently high inflation appeared to outweigh concerns about worsening economic conditions and the possibility of widespread recessions, with the US Federal Reserve (Fed), the European Central Bank (ECB) and the Bank of England all citing inflationary pressures as reasons for raising interest rates. Against a somewhat calmer macroeconomic backdrop and the apparent resilience of companies in the face of rising interest rates (as evidenced by low default levels and good second-quarter results), risk markets performed well.

The Fund's positive performance was driven by rates and emerging markets positions. Within rates, country selection proved most beneficial, followed by duration positioning (duration measures sensitivity to interest rates). In emerging markets, local rates markets strengthened in line with risk assets amid a 'risk-on' environment. Within the Fund's credit component, high yield added to returns.

On the other side of the ledger, the Fund's duration and credit positioning detracted from performance, driven by short duration positions in 10-year UK Gilts and a short duration position in Japan. Within credit, positions in high yield, investment grade and asset-backed securities detracted. Also, a long US dollar versus euro position hurt performance.

Over the period, several duration positions were tactically amended. By the end of June, the manager had closed short positions in five-year German government bonds and repurchased a short position in Australia, leaving New Zealand as an outright long. A short duration position in Japan was closed after the Bank of Japan left its monetary policy unchanged. Within country selection, the manager entered a long 10-year UK versus Germany trade and a 10-year Korea relative to Germany trade while tactically amending an Italy versus Germany position. A Spain versus Germany position was closed.

Expectations for the peak in interest rates have moved higher. Accordingly, the next few months will likely see additional rate hikes from the Fed and the ECB. After this, it is hoped, the banks should be in a good space to assess the future course of interest rate rises. However, the path of any further hikes will depend on the trajectory of inflation.

BNY MELLON ABSOLUTE RETURN EQUITY FUND

Over the six-month period under review, the Fund's Sterling R (Acc.) share class returned -1.52%, net of fees, compared with 1.97% for the SONIA 30 day Compounded benchmark, both in Sterling terms. The Fund generated a negative return and underperformed its benchmark.

Equity markets witnessed significant volatility during the first half of the review period given the regional banking crisis in the US and UBS's takeover of Credit Suisse in Europe. However, prompt action by authorities calmed investor sentiment and assuaged fears of contagion. Subsequently, markets moved higher overall during the first six months of the year, driven by information technology companies, whose shares surged on optimism around artificial intelligence developments. That said, still-high inflation, tighter monetary policy, and the potential for recession in the developed world continued to dominate investor concerns. June saw more mixed signals coming from economic data. Services data remained strong, upheld by resilient consumer spending. By contrast, the manufacturing sector exhibited continued signs of a slowdown.

Amid such an environment, the Fund posted an overall negative return. Swiss insurer Zurich Insurance, investment manager Ninety One, French ophthalmic optics company Essilor International, and energy company Siemens all detracted. Belgium automotive importer and distributor D'leteren was a further laggard.

Conversely, British energy and services firm Centrica, Danish brewer Carlsberg, German materials company Covestro, UK-based financial group London Stock Exchange, and British manufacturing company Melrose Industries contributed to performance.

Given the uncertain market backdrop, the manager added positions where industry supply and demand dynamics are less reliant on the economic cycle. During the first quarter, long positions were opened in Norwegian salmon farmers SalMar and Mowi, as well as Informa. On the other hand, the Fund exited Siemens Energy, and trimmed positions in Jet2, Smith & Nephew and Bayer.

BNY MELLON ABSOLUTE RETURN EQUITY FUND cont'd

Macroeconomic signals have been mixed, with many indicating a continuing slowdown in the wider economy. The labour market remains the most resilient, and any deterioration here will be important to look out for. Broadening equity market leadership indicates potential support for the rally seen recently. Regardless, the manager retains caution regarding positioning and has continued to reduce equity exposure owing to ongoing uncertainty.

BNY MELLON ABSOLUTE RETURN GLOBAL CONVERTIBLE FUND

Over the six-month period under review, the Fund's Euro U (Acc.) share class returned -2.15%, net of fees, compared with a return of 1.37% for the 1 month EURIBOR benchmark, both in euro terms. The Fund generated a negative return and underperformed its benchmark.

Markets witnessed significant volatility during the period. The regional banking crisis in the US and UBS's takeover of Credit Suisse in March changed the narrative for risk assets. Though prompt action by respective US and Swiss authorities stemmed the potential fallout, uncertainty loomed large over risk assets for the remainder of the first quarter of 2023. Volatility subsided in the second quarter. Risk assets generally performed well, though gains for credit were undermined by higher government bond yields. The US investment grade bond market was resilient, but high yield markets performed even better, with spread levels tightening materially.

Against such a backdrop, the Fund posted a negative return. Performance detractors included Swiss construction company Sika, US airline Southwest Airlines and US multinational technology firm Block, which were all sold. US travel technology company Booking Holdings and German aircraft engine manufacturer MTU Aero Engines also detracted, and the manager reduced exposure to them to mitigate losses. Overlay hedges and equity hedges also hindered performance. Other smaller detractors included positions in US utilities Alliant Energy, Southern and Duke Energy. Consumer non-cyclical positions, including BioMarin, Pernod Ricard and Dexcom, also hurt returns.

Conversely, Singapore Airlines, All Nippon Airways, Freshpet, Vishay Intertechnology, Ferrotec, Palo Alto, DMG Mori and John Bean, along with interest rate hedges, were the top performers.

During the six-month period, the manager adjusted exposures at many levels, including increasing gross leverage from 131% to 147%, while simultaneously decreasing the number of holdings from 57 to 38.

Geographically, Asian and Japanese exposure was raised to 26% from 12%, while US exposure fell to 52% from 64% and European exposure decreased to 22% from 24%. Sector exposure was shifted away from consumer non-cyclicals and technology into consumer cyclicals and, to a lesser extent, industrials.

The convertible marketplace has been showing signs of dislocations. The manager expects those to revert to the norm but is running fewer positions until investors' prevailing uncertainty around central bank policy subsides. Furthermore, the manager has been increasingly concentrating on investing in strong credits that exhibit reasonable stock volatility, and on focused themes, such as artificial intelligence and industrial renaissance companies.

BNY MELLON DYNAMIC FACTOR PREMIA V10 FUND

Over the six months under review, the Fund's USD W (Acc.) share class returned 12.32%, net of fees, against 2.39% for the FTSE 3 Month US T Bill Index, in US dollar terms. The Fund generated a strong positive return and outperformed its benchmark.

Equity markets registered gains in the first half of 2023. At the start of the year, investors adopted a risk-on mood, cheering reports of slowing job growth and easing inflation; however, lighter-than-expected earnings results and ongoing recessionary signals muted returns somewhat. Pricing pressures continued to weigh on market sentiment, and central banks steadily increased interest rates. The World Bank upped its 2023 growth outlook to 2.1% in June, a boost from its January estimate of 1.7%, largely owing to solid US consumer spending and the economic reopening of China. Top central bank leaders assembled in Portugal and confirmed that additional rate hikes may be necessary to combat sticky inflation.

The US Federal Reserve (Fed) raised the benchmark federal funds rate three times in the first half of 2023, bringing the target range to between 5.00% and 5.25%. Though the Fed paused its rate-hiking streak at its June meeting, Chairman Jerome Powell indicated that rate increases would likely continue. Both the European Central Bank and the Bank of England continued to pursue monetary policy tightening. The Bank of Japan (BoJ) left rates unchanged as Governor Haruhiko Kuroda, the main advocate for Japan's ultra-dovish policy, retired. The central bank entered a new era as Governor Kazuo Ueda took the helm; however, the BoJ maintain its loose monetary policy stance, keeping its key policy rate at -0.1% even as inflation pushed higher and exceeded the bank's 2% target.

BNY MELLON DYNAMIC FACTOR PREMIA V10 FUND cont'd

The BNY Mellon Dynamic Factor Premia V10 Fund outperformed its cash benchmark over the period as it captured strong trends in emerging market currencies and rates. Among emerging market currencies, positions in the Mexican peso and Hungarian forint proved most additive to returns, as both currencies appreciated sharply year to date. A long position in 10-year Japanese government bonds was a positive contributor, as Japanese short-term rates remain negative, with longer-duration bonds offering attractive carry. Short positions in developed market rates, including five-year US Treasuries and 10-year Canadian government bonds, both contributed to the Fund's positive return. Developed market currency allocations were the main detractor for the period.

The Fund is positioned to seek diversifying returns in a transparent, liquid, and cost-effective manner. The manager ensures the Fund comprises a diverse and risk-aware portfolio across trend, carry, and relative opportunity positions.

Over the six-month period, the Fund's USD W (Inc.) share class generated a return of 5.05%, net of fees, compared with a return of 3.12% from the FTSE Asia Pacific ex Japan Index TR, in US dollar terms. The Fund produced a positive return that was ahead of the benchmark, driven by both strong stock selection and asset allocation.

At the stock level, the top contributor was Indian consumer goods company ITC; the stock's defensive attributes appealed given the uncertain economic outlook. Bank Mandiri performed well given positive tailwinds from a robust Indonesian economy. Technology company MediaTek contributed as well; its shares rallied on the stabilisation of inventory levels as well as the potential for opportunities in artificial intelligence. Not holding online retail giant Alibaba, which was weighed down by worries over increased competition, was also beneficial, as was not holding JD.com, with the company planning to increase subsidies to compete with Pinduoduo. A lack of positioning in Meituan was a further positive. Its share price fell on concerns about rising competition as a news report suggested that competitor Douyin would be introducing a food delivery service.

The biggest detractor was Hong Kong's Link Real Estate Investment Trust (REIT). The announcement of a rights issue received a strongly negative initial reaction. The 'higher for longer' interest rate environment and concerns surrounding commercial property in Hong Kong weighed on the stock as well. Shares in electronic manufacturing services company Venture also languished in a slowing economic environment amid reduced demand from customers.

Regarding portfolio activity, a position was established in Taiwan's Chroma ATE. The company provides customised automated testing equipment and has a leading global market position in electric vehicle (EV) power testing. Chroma's power testing revenue is expected to continue to grow strongly. The manager sees long-term capital expenditure growth and improving EV proliferation as being supportive for the company's outlook. The holding in Bank Mandiri was increased, as the bank is expected to enjoy longer-term loan growth. The Fund's position in Taiwan's MediaTek was raised on increasing confidence that the downturn in the handset cycle is coming to an end. The stock also boasts a high dividend yield.

Chinese vitamin and dietary supplements business By-health was sold. This action followed a disappointing dividend cut announcement, meaning the stock no longer has a sufficient yield to merit inclusion in the Fund. Following strong performance, the manager reduced the Fund's overweight in Singapore banks by trimming United Overseas Bank and DBS. The manager also reduced the holding in Hong Kong's Link REIT and Samsung Electronics to moderate the size of the positions.

Against the backdrop of a fragile global economy, geopolitical tensions and an uncertain outlook for earnings, the arguments for income investing remain strong, in the manager's view. The manager believes the Fund's focus on quality companies with strong balance sheets and pricing power should help it to overcome volatile times ahead.

Over the six-month period under review, the USD A share class of the Fund generated a return of 3.63%, net of fees, against a return of 3.17% for the MSCI AC Asia Pacific ex Japan TR Index, in US dollar terms. The Fund produced a positive return and outperformed its benchmark. Both stock selection and sector allocation drove the Fund's relative returns.

At the stock level, Dutch semiconductor-materials manufacturer ASML contributed to returns after reporting record order backlogs and earnings that exceeded market estimates. Accounting software provider Xero also performed well, with investors appreciating the new CEO's plans to generate greater profitability. The company demonstrated resilience in a tough market environment. Lithium miner Allkem was a positive performer owing to strong global demand for lithium, a key component in electric vehicle (EV) batteries. Indian online marketplace firm PB Fintech also performed well after issuing good earnings results.

On the negative side, Hong Kong insurer AIA was weak, as concerns around the health of the financial sector in Hong Kong and China weighed on the stock. Meituan fell on worries about rising competition, notably the news of competitor Douyin rolling out its food delivery service. LONGi Green Energy Technology was also weak; the solar energy product manufacturer was affected by concerns about pricing pressures.

Regarding portfolio activity, the manager purchased a stake in Sona BLW Precision Forgings, a leading Indian manufacturer of precision-forged auto components. The stock is a clear beneficiary of the growth in two- and four-wheel EVs. A position in ASM International was also added. The company is a market leader in atomic layer deposition, a process used by the semiconductor industry, which is in strong demand. Taiwan's Chroma ATE was another new addition. The company provides customised automated testing equipment and has a leading position in EV power-testing. Chroma's power-testing revenue is expected to continue to grow strongly.

The stake in LONGi Green Energy Technology was sold on concerns over diminishing returns given intensifying competition, as the solar photovoltaic wafer industry continues to expand. Similarly, concerns over the competitive environment and the potential impact on returns led the manager to sell China's StarPower Semiconductor. Chinese battery maker Wuxi Lead Intelligent Equipment was a further sale because of concerns over the possibility of lower growth and lower returns given industry overcapacity. The manager also sold Australian miner OZ Minerals as BHP completed its purchase of the company.

Asian equities currently trade at an unusually high discount to developed markets, providing a conducive backdrop if shorter-term variables prove favourable for Asian markets. In the manager's view, there look to be attractive long-term opportunities in Asian markets, based on relatively high levels of income growth, rapid increases in product penetration and scope for industry consolidation. Therefore, there could be a unique opportunity for Asian companies that are exposed to reliable secular growth. Accordingly, it is the manager's belief that Asian investors who can identify the right growth themes and companies could be rewarded over the long term.

Over the six months under review, the Fund's USD W (Acc.) share class returned 16.60%, net of fees its benchmark, the MSCI AC World NR USD, returned 13.93%, both in US dollar terms.

Equity markets registered gains in the first half of 2023. Pricing pressures continued to weigh on market sentiment, and central banks raised interest rates. The World Bank increased its 2023 growth outlook to 2.1% in June, a boost from its January estimate of 1.7%, largely owing to solid US consumer spending and the economic reopening of China. In this environment, the Fund outperformed its benchmark. From an industry perspective, favourable stock selection in semiconductors and semiconductor equipment contributed most. A position in NVIDIA was a top contributor, as the company's shares outperformed on positive fundamentals driven by demand for artificial intelligence products and services. An overweight to the software segment also boosted returns. Software company SAP was a top contributor, outperforming the market after a robust earnings report that beat expectations.

On the downside, challenging stock selection in banks detracted. The Fund's position in Signature Bank lagged as the business was taken over by the New York Department of Financial Services owing to liquidity concerns. The position was fully exited before the bank was put into receivership. Overweight positioning in capital markets also weighed on results. Nasdaq declined following the announcement of a large acquisition. The manager reduced the Fund's position in June owing to fundamental concerns, specifically integration risk and increased financial leverage.

The Fund's overweight to IT services was increased via a new position in Capgemini. The company's enterprise blockchain and business-to-business solutions and platforms serve to improve connectivity within and between enterprise business networks. The manager also added to existing positions within the industry. The Fund's overweight to software was also increased during the period. An overweight to capital markets was reduced by trimming existing positions. The Fund eliminated an investment in leisure products by exiting a position in Funko, as the stock is not suitable for sustainable funds.

Tokenised assets made headlines in June when the Federal Reserve Bank of New York published a paper assessing the risks and benefits of tokenised deposits built on distributed ledger technology. Tokenised deposits represent a substantial opportunity for the blockchain theme—in the US, there are deposits of more than US$17 trillion held by commercial banks. The paper asserts that tokenised deposits are a more practical approach to creating digital and programmable currency than stablecoin offerings. The paper cited multiple justifications for adopting tokenised deposits over stablecoins. The first point was that stablecoins unnecessarily tie up liquidity, as they have to be backed by safe and liquid assets (like a currency or commodity) to meet claims and redemptions. Secondly, tokenised deposits would work within the existing banking system infrastructure by tokenising funds currently held on the balance sheets of commercial banks in the US.

Over the last year, the manager has increased exposure to the emerging tokenisation theme, as it is expected that opportunities will arise as this exciting application of blockchain technology evolves.

BNY MELLON BRAZIL EQUITY FUND

Over the six-month review period, the Fund's USD A share class returned 13.68%, net of fees, compared with a return of 19.36% for the MSCI Brazil 10/40 NR Index and 15.64% for the Lipper Equity Brazil sector average, all in US dollar terms. The Fund generated a strong positive return but underperformed its benchmark.

At the industry level, stock selection in education, global capital goods and properties were the main positive contributors to the Fund's performance. The relative underperformance was attributable to an underweight position in oil, an overweight in mining, and stock selection in the e-commerce space.

At the stock level, the Fund benefited from exposure to YDUQS, Santos Brasil and Embraer. YDUQS shares appreciated after the company released results that indicated revenue growth across all segments. The stock had a very challenging 2022 and first quarter of 2023, but subsequently recovered most of those losses.

Negatives at the stock level included Vale, Assai and Americanas. Vale shares declined along with iron ore prices as economic data from China began to indicate a slower recovery. Americanas stock fell sharply after the company announced accounting inconsistencies of US$4 billion in January. Since then, the company has filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy and has been negotiating with stakeholders.

During the six-month review period, the manager sold out of some positions in retail, utilities and banks (one holding per sector) and also adjusted exposures to certain names in the portfolio.

On the domestic front, Brazil's new government began its tenure with several questions regarding its priorities and how it would deal with myriad economic challenges, namely the prevailing fiscal situation, high inflation, state-owned companies and ongoing reforms. After a challenging first quarter that threatened to reverse reforms that were already in place, the government made some adjustments to the content of its speeches and its relationship with Congress, turning the focus to the new fiscal framework. Markets reacted positively to these changes; equity prices rose and the Brazilian real appreciated as both fiscal policy and tax reforms advanced. Inflation began to fall, as did expectations, increasing the likelihood that the central bank will begin a cycle of interest rate reductions in the third quarter.

Overall, the manager maintains a positive view about the long-term returns for Brazilian equities. Although global uncertainties remain (especially regarding inflation and interest rates in developed economies and the recovery of economic activity in China), there seem to be significant opportunities in the local equity market, in the manager's view. The strategy of holding a diversified portfolio will be maintained; the manager expects to rotate between sectors as the domestic scenario becomes clearer.

BNY MELLON DYNAMIC U.S. EQUITY FUND

During the six-month period under review, the Fund's USD A (Inc.) share class returned 14.94%, net of fees, against 16.60% for the S&P 500 Net Total Return Index, both in US dollar terms. The Fund generated a positive return but underperformed its benchmark.

2023 started on a positive note for US equities. Investor confidence was buoyed by signs of improving macroeconomic conditions. However, optimism began to fade as analysts lowered their earnings estimates and central banks remained hawkish on rates. In March, the failure of three significant banking institutions—Silicon Valley Bank, Signature Bank and Credit Suisse—gave rise to worries about the overall stability of the financial system. Later in the period, US equities were boosted by artificial intelligence (AI) advancements, which drove a significant rally in technology stocks, and earnings announcements that were better than expected. The US market began to price in two more interest rate hikes for 2023. The S&P 500 proved strong in the first half of 2023. Most of the impressive return was attributable to the seven largest constituents within the index, with the remaining constituents effectively flat for the year to date.

The Fund underperformed the benchmark in the first half of the year due to its defensive equity position. Throughout the period, the target exposure was 90% equities, 0% bonds and 10% cash. The implemented equity position averaged 95% over the review period. The average 5% cash allocation helped to minimise the Fund's underperformance. The implemented equity exposure averaged 95% due to the manager's use of equity-index-based options for a portion of the equity exposure. The Fund held S&P 500 call options during 2023, which allowed it to participate in some of the equity gains seen despite the defensive target equity position of 90%. The appreciation of the options held also raised the overall equity exposure above the target.

The Fund ended the review period with defensive positioning regarding US equities and was neutral to negative on long-dated US Treasuries. The manager's estimate of the equity risk premium (the expected return from stocks over corporate bonds) remains below its long-term average, indicating that forward-looking equity valuation appears expensive. Furthermore, earnings growth year over year for the second quarter of 2023 is forecast to be negative, which would equate to the third consecutive negative quarter for S&P 500 earnings-per-share growth. As such, equities continue to be unattractive, in the manager's view. Bonds appear unappealing as well; the manager's estimate of the term premium (the expected return on long-dated US Treasuries over long-term US cash) is negative.

BNY MELLON FOOD INNOVATION FUND*

Over the six-month period under review, the Fund's USD W (Acc.) share class generated a return of -2.19%, net of fees, compared with a return of 13.93% from the MSCI AC World NR Index, both in US dollar terms. The Fund produced a negative return and was significantly behind the benchmark. Sector rotation within a leadership-driven market coupled with stock selection underpinned the negative relative returns.

At the stock level, shares in CF Industries struggled with a less constructive natural gas market impacting the nitrogen fertilizer space. Archer-Daniels-Midland declined despite fourth-quarter 2022 results that highlighted a strong end to the year for the company. International Flavors & Fragrances disappointed with its quarterly results and outlook. Headwinds from destocking and weaker consumer demand weighed on returns.

On the positive side, Costco Wholesale performed well following third-quarter results in which earnings exceeded expectations. Shares in Ahold Delhaize rallied strongly following positive earnings results. It meaningfully beat expectations as both the US and Europe saw improved margins, while cost savings were also supportive. The zero weightings in pharmaceutical companies Pfizer and Abbvie also aided performance as both stocks fell.

Regarding portfolio activity, the manager purchased Roper Technologies, a high-quality company that offers exposure to attractive niche end markets with lower cyclicality. Roper operates businesses that design and develop software, in areas such as food and nutrition service management, and trading network development for the food industry, enhancing the workflow efficiency of its customers. A stake was established in Zoetis, which develops, manufactures, and commercialises medicines, vaccines and diagnostic products for both livestock and companion animals. The manager's conviction is strong regarding the company's new product launches and their scope to outperform market expectations. Veolia Environnement, a France-based resource management group that designs and provides water, waste and energy management solutions, was a further addition. In the manager's view, the business is very well positioned to take advantage of increased regulation around water and waste treatment. Furthermore, the new management team is raising prices in waste for the first time in many years; water utility is a very stable business as is energy; and there is scope for significant cost-cutting following a large acquisition in 2020. The position in Zebra Technologies was exited, reflecting some concern around the near-term outlook as the credit environment tightens and impacts their customer base.

BNY MELLON FUTURE EARTH FUND

Over the six-month period under review, the Fund's USD W (Acc.) share class returned 3.69%, net of fees, while its benchmark, the MSCI AC World NR Index, returned 13.93%, both in US dollar terms. The Fund produced a positive return but was significantly behind the benchmark. Weak stock selection was the main factor behind the negative relative returns.

At the stock level, NextEra Energy, a world-class developer of renewable energy and strong operator of regulated assets in Florida, was weaker – particularly early in the year – following the surprise retirement of Eric Silagy, the CEO at the company's largest subsidiary FPL. LONGiGreen Energy Technology declined amid some concerns around overcapacity and competition in the solar supply chain. Alcoa struggled in an environment of weaker aluminium prices and higher costs. China's weak recovery following the relaxation of its zero-Covid policies also weighed on the shares.

On the positive side, Electrical manufacturer Hubbell benefited from secular tailwinds in grid and electrification. In the manager's view, the business is well-placed to prosper through a cyclical slowdown. Voltronic Power Technology also performed well amid resilient demand for its solar inverters. Ingersoll Rand contributed positively supported by tailwinds around energy-efficient upgrades and reshoring. Capital deployment through the downturn could drive significantly higher free cash flow.

Regarding portfolio activity, the manager bought Enphase Energy. The US residential solar inverter market is a duopoly, making it possible for Enphase to earn attractive margins. A position in a French industrial software business Dassault Systèmes was added, as it operates in attractive growth markets (aerospace and electric vehicle technology). Japanese industrial conglomerate Ebara was a further addition as growth in its high-margin precision machinery division is driving a greater emphasis on technology in the group's earnings structure. Within this segment, prospects for growth in semiconductor production equipment look particularly attractive. Other purchases included Indian precision-forged auto component manufacturer Sona BLW Precision Forgings, Japanese automotive components producer Denso and rare-earth producer MP Materials.

The position in Tomra Systems was sold, as cost inflation continued to make its impact felt on the business. Nidec was also sold given the manager's diminishing conviction in the future of its business model.

Concerns around the competitive environment and the potential impact on returns led the Fund to sell China's StarPower Semiconductor. Wuxi Lead Intelligent Equipment was sold given the manager's preference for the Korean battery manufacturers over their Chinese counterparts. The manager also sold energy utility RWE, Daikin Industries, OZ Minerals and StarPower Semiconductor.

Navigating the policy tightrope between cooling inflation and slowing demand will be finely balanced, and the timing and extent of any economic weakness will be closely watched by investors. However, structural demand trends remain in place, notably in technology and climate change, aided by government stimulus and support. Supported by a multi-dimensional research process, the manager's long term focus remains on those companies that can help to alleviate stresses on the natural world.

Over the six-month period under review, the Fund's USD W (Acc.) share class returned 2.87%, net of fees, while its benchmark, the MSCI AC World NR Index, returned 13.93%, both in US dollar terms. The Fund produced a positive return but significantly underperformed its benchmark. Stock selection at the regional level and sector allocation were the main factors behind the Fund's weak relative returns.

At the stock level, shares in National Vision weighed on returns. They fell as fourth-quarter results, and guidance for 2023, both failed to meet expectations. The position in health insurer Humana detracted from returns after it warned of higher medical costs than expected. The company expects its medical loss ratio to register at the top end of guidance for the year. China's weak recovery following the relaxation of its zero-Covid policies weighed on several holdings, including those luxury brands with exposure to the Chinese consumer, including Estee Lauder. The business disappointed the market with third-quarter results, as organic sales declined year on year. The outlook was also lowered given challenges in Asia travel retail.

On the positive side, Eli Lilly's shares were notably strong, as investors continued to take encouragement from the potential opportunity for Tirzepatide, its drug to treat patients with type-2 diabetes. The stock was also fuelled by positive news about its treatments for obesity and Alzheimer's. Intuitive Surgical performed well, registering better-than-expected procedure growth over the first quarter of 2023. Shares in Novo Nordisk moved higher after the company highlighted the substantial growth potential it sees in the areas of diabetes and obesity.

Regarding portfolio activity, the manager added Chewy, an online retailer of pet supplies operating primarily in the US. In the manager's view, the industry is an attractive one given the size of the total addressable market, high growth, and its inflation and recession resilience. Shares in Ollie's Bargain Outlet, a retailer of brand-name merchandise, were purchased. With consumer incomes continuing to be squeezed by inflation and given the threat of recession, the manager felt that the business may be well placed to benefit amid a search for value. A position was established in luxury goods manufacturer Hermès International. In the manager's view, Hermès is a rare asset exhibiting strong pricing power due to its formidable brand strength. This has allowed the business to generate very high margins and strong revenue growth over the long term. Other purchases included medical device company ConvaTec, digital healthcare company iRhythm Technologies and off-price apparel and home fashion chain Ross Stores. Key sales included MetLife, Cochlear, National Vision and Elevance Health.

Over the six-month review period, the Fund's USD A share class generated a return of 6.50%, net of fees, compared with a return of 4.89% for the MSCI Emerging Markets Index NR, in US dollar terms. The Fund produced a positive return ahead of its benchmark. Both stock selection and asset allocation contributed to the Fund's positive relative returns.

At the stock level, the top performer was semiconductor test-equipment manufacturer Advantest, which benefited from positive earnings momentum and very strong earnings guidance from US chipmaker Nvidia. Dutch semiconductor production equipment manufacturer ASML reported record order backlogs and earnings that exceeded market estimates over the period. Indian online marketplace firm PB Fintech also performed well after issuing good earnings results. Shares in MercadoLibre moved higher after record-breaking quarterly revenues were announced, and on optimism that it will gain market share, as its Brazilian e-commerce rival Americanas has filed for bankruptcy.

On the negative side, the share price of Foshan Haitian Flavouring & Food fell after the company released lower-than-expected earnings results. Hong Kong insurer AIA was weak as concerns around the health of the financial sector in Hong Kong and China weighed on the stock. Meituan fell on concerns about rising competition, notably the news of competitor Douyin rolling out its food-delivery service.

Regarding portfolio activity, the manager purchased a stake in Sona BLW Precision Forgings, a leading Indian manufacturer of precision-forged auto components. The stock is a clear beneficiary of the growth in two- and four-wheel electric vehicles. A position in Samsung Electronics was taken as it is expected to use the current down cycle to continue to invest heavily in gaining a competitive technological advantage over its peers. Bank Rakyat, a large Indonesian bank with a focus on microfinance lending, was a further addition. The macroeconomic dynamics in Indonesia are attractive and the bank has a strong competitive advantage that could help it to earn superior returns on invested capital.

The Fund's stake in LONGi Green Energy Technology was sold on concerns about diminishing returns given intensifying competition. Concerns over the competitive environment and the potential impact on returns led to the sale of China's StarPower Semiconductor. The manager also sold the small holding in Indian beauty and personal care e-commerce company FSN E-Commerce Ventures on worries about management changes and uncertainty regarding whether the company can successfully grow its fashion platform.

Emerging market equities currently trade at an unusually high discount to developed markets, providing a conducive backdrop if shorter-term variables prove favourable for emerging markets. BNY MELLON GLOBAL EQUITY INCOME FUND

Over the six-month review period, the Fund's USD A share class generated a return of 6.16%, net of fees, compared with a return of 15.08% for the FTSE World TR Index, both in US dollar terms. The Fund produced a positive return behind that of its benchmark. This was largely because income stocks underperformed in a more growth-focused market.

Both stock selection and asset allocation were key factors behind the Fund's underperformance. At the stock level, the technology sector was the Fund's principal area of weakness, owing largely to a lack of positioning in Apple, Nvidia, Microsoft, Meta Platforms and Tesla. Utilities holdings Dominion Energy and Exelon also underperformed. Stock selection proved positive in financials and industrials. Within these sectors, the Fund benefited notably from holdings in FedEx, DHL Group and Brazilian stock exchange B3. One of the Fund's holdings, Broadcom, was a beneficiary of strong demand for semiconductors as related to artificial intelligence.

Regarding portfolio activity, within the financials sector, the manager bought B3. The investment case is based on the development of capital markets in Brazil, with B3 set to benefit from its monopoly position. Other major purchases in the sector included Bank Mandiri, which is the largest bank by assets and third largest by market capitalisation in Indonesia, and Bank Rakyat, a large Indonesian bank with a focus on microfinance lending. The macroeconomic dynamics in Indonesia are attractive, in the manager's view. In the technology sector, a position in Taiwan's MediaTek, a global leader in smartphone silicon processors, was opened.

The manager also bought France's Veolia Environnement, which designs and provides water, waste and energy management solutions. The company is raising prices in its waste division for the first time in many years. Its water and energy businesses are stable, and there is scope for significant cost-cutting following a large acquisition in 2020. Other purchases included speciality chemicals company Chemours, young children's apparel marketer Carter's, and French advertising and communication services business Publicis Groupe.

The holding in US regional bank Comerica was sold prior to the turmoil in the US regional banking sector triggered by the collapse of Silicon Valley Bank. The stake in events organiser Informa was sold after the stock performed well on both an absolute and relative basis, which triggered the Fund's sell discipline. The manager sold Hewlett-Packard, as the cycle for information technology hardware is beginning to turn down, despite the company's large order backlog. Other sells driven by the sell discipline were AstraZeneca and industrial conglomerate Emerson Electric.

The Fund is positioned for slower economic growth, with the key overweight sector positions being consumer staples, healthcare, and most notably, utilities, balanced with an overweight in defensive financials, which could benefit from the higher interest rate environment. The Fund has underweight exposure to earnings risk in the cyclical sectors and multiple risk in the technology sector. Taking a long-term view, it is noteworthy that, during previous inflationary periods, income stocks, which can raise their dividends to help protect investors against the impact of consumer prices, have proved an attractive proposition for investors.

BNY MELLON GLOBAL INFRASTRUCTURE INCOME FUND

Over the six months under review, the Fund's USD W (Acc.) share class returned 7.04%, net of fees, against 3.30% for the S&P Global Infrastructure NR, both in US dollar terms. The Fund generated a positive return and outperformed its comparative benchmark.

Equity markets registered gains in the first half of 2023. Pricing pressures continued to weigh on market sentiment, and central banks steadily increased interest rates. The World Bank upped its 2023 growth outlook to 2.1% in June, a boost from its January estimate of 1.7%, largely owing to solid US consumer spending and the economic reopening of China. Central bank leaders confirmed that additional interest rate hikes may be necessary to combat sticky inflation.

On a sector basis, utilities was the Fund's top contributor owing to effective stock selection, including a lack of exposure to several underperforming companies. The most notable gains in the sector came from Italian multinational utility company Enel. The company continues to execute its plans to divest non-core assets. The energy sector also contributed to returns, partially owing to a lack of positioning in certain underperforming stocks. German logistics company DHL Group, a division of Deutsche Post, buoyed returns as the company opened a shipping hub at Atlanta's Hartsfield-Jackson International Airport, increasing shipping capacity to North America.

On the downside, the real estate sector detracted from returns, as the Fund's only two holdings, which were both out-of-benchmark, lagged over the period. Medical Properties Trust was a top individual detractor in a volatile period that culminated in poor performance for the sector. Industrials, despite a robust double-digit total return, weighed on performance owing to the Fund's underweight positioning in the sector. Dominion Energy, a producer and distributor of electricity, natural gas and related services, was also a top detractor on the back of considerable negative earnings revisions.

The Fund's overweight in utilities was increased via the addition of positions in Exelon, NextEra Energy and Veolia Environnement. The manager increased the Fund's exposure to communication services by initiating a position in BT. Exposure to industrials and real estate was decreased by trimming existing positions.

The manager believes the outlook for global infrastructure remains positive, and thinks this area remains unique in its ability to mechanically pass through inflationary pressures. The energy transition remains in focus; there looks to be particular opportunity for value creation in this area within Europe. It's possible that Europe may introduce a measure similar to the US Inflation Reduction Act, which was passed last year. In the manager's view such an event could add material upside to the European utility sector.

BNY MELLON GLOBAL LEADERS FUND

Over the six months under review, the Fund's USD A (Acc.) share class rose 18.07%, net of fees, compared with 15.09% for the MSCI World Index and 11.60% for the LIPPER Equity Global Average, all in US dollar terms. The Fund generated a positive return and outperformed both its benchmark and the sector average.

Equity markets faced a series of challenges during the first six months of 2023, although the more pessimistic growth forecasts of last year have been confounded by economies that have shown more resilience than expected. However, while the pace of inflation is diminishing, it remains elevated, forcing developed market central banks to tighten monetary policy further.

The Fund's strong performance was largely attributable to positioning in the healthcare, consumer staples and industrials sectors. A lack of exposure to energy and a markedly underweight exposure to financials versus the benchmark also contributed. However, the information technology sector was a drag on performance given the success of certain high-profile technology companies over the period, some of which the Fund did not own.

Adobe's digital media business, which makes up some 75% of the company's sales, performed very well, beating earlier guidance and boosting the Fund's returns. Beyond this great fundamental performance, there have been plenty of encouraging announcements about Adobe's artificial intelligence capabilities. Following a disappointing end to 2022, when the company was plagued by the decline of Covid-related activity and some temporary manufacturing issues (which have since been resolved), West Pharmaceutical performed well. West sells packaging, containment and delivery consumables to pharmaceutical customers for use in injectable drugs. Investors are looking beyond short-term issues to the future growth outlook for the company, which appears very strong.

Weaker from a performance perspective was Automatic Data Processing. Results showed the company's core employer services business continuing to execute well and is outperforming management's original expectations. However, this was modestly offset by anticipated softness in ADP's professional employer organisation business. Concerns around a tougher macroeconomic environment and the durability of the strength of the US labour market featured among investor concerns. Despite an encouraging operational start to the year, AIA Group was weak due to negative sentiment around the strength of China's post-Covid reopening. However, with Asia's Covid restrictions now a thing of the past, and with mainland China visitors crossing the border to Hong Kong to buy life insurance again, 2023 could mark a return to more consistent growth.

There were no new purchases and no complete sales during the period.

In the manager's view, the expectations of a mild global economic slowdown have been somewhat baked into the equity market psyche. As ever, the Fund remains focused on the long-term prospects of the companies held. Encouragingly, many leading companies continue to exhibit a level of growth and resilience that belies the challenges of still-elevated input costs, higher interest rates, and demand attrition. However, the manager believes that in time, vulnerable, highly leveraged business models will be exposed. This emphasises the importance of the financial strength and market leadership of the companies held within the Fund.

BNY MELLON GLOBAL OPPORTUNITIES FUND

Over the six-month period under review, the USD A share class of the Fund generated a return of 14.41%, net of fees, against a return of 13.93% from the MSCI AC World Index NR, in US dollar terms. The Fund produced a positive return and outperformed its benchmark. Stock selection and sector allocation both contributed to returns.

At the stock level, electrical manufacturer Hubbell was one of the top performers, producing strong earnings results and raising guidance. Secular tailwinds in grid and electrification mean the business is well placed to manage through a cyclical slowdown, in the manager's view. Semiconductor equipment manufacturer Applied Materials was another strong performer, as structural drivers in the form of artificial intelligence (AI) advancements and higher capital expenditure continued to reinforce its long-term attractions. Microsoft also benefited from its exposure to the AI theme, continuing to roll out AI programmes across its platforms.

In terms of detractors, the Fund was hindered by a lack of positioning in two sizeable index constituents (Tesla and Meta Platforms), as they both benefitted from the marked recovery in the technology sector. Shares in AIA Group suffered from broader concerns about the health of the financial sector. China's weak recovery following the relaxation of zero-Covid policies also weighed on the stock, despite some encouraging industry-level data on Hong Kong life insurance sales over the first quarter. Chubb was hit by the financial sector woes experienced in the spring. Slowing price hikes in its commercial insurance arm also represented a worry for investors. Roche suffered from a series of pipeline disappointments, and because its coronavirus-related revenue streams look set to fade.

In terms of portfolio activity, a stake was taken in Nvidia, a global leader in the design of graphics processing units and artificial intelligence platforms. It is the manager's belief that Nvidia is likely to be a key enabler of this next wave of technology development. Shares in life sciences, diagnostics and environmental & applied solutions firm Danaher were added. The manager believes the market is underestimating its long-term sustainable organic growth rate, and there could be scope for better-than-expected margin expansion owing to positive price-cost dynamics and a superior operating culture. A position in French industrial software business Dassault Systemes was added, as it operates in attractive growth markets (aerospace and electric vehicle technology). A position in Abbott Laboratories was exited owing to concerns about the earnings power of the business in the aftermath of the Covid-19 pandemic. Suzuki Motor was sold given the business is going through an investment cycle and profits may be depressed in the shorter term.

Navigating the policy tightrope between cooling inflation and slowing demand will require a balancing act, and the timing and extent of any economic weakness will be closely watched by investors. However, structural demand trends remain in place, notably in technology and regarding climate change. Our focus remains on companies that appear to have more resilient long-term earnings profiles and attractive end-market outlooks.

BNY MELLON JAPAN SMALL CAP EQUITY FOCUS FUND

Over the six-month period under review, the Fund's W share class returned 2.87%, compared with 15.16% for the Russell/Nomura Small Cap Index and 11.82% for the Lipper Equity Japan Small & Mid Cap average, all in Japanese yen terms.

The Fund generated a positive return, net of fees, but underperformed its benchmark and sector average during the period.

At the industry level, the main positive contributors to performance were pharmaceuticals, and real estate, where the Fund had no holdings, and metal Products, where the Fund was overweight. The main detractors were services, where the Fund was overweight, and wholesale trade and iron & steel, where the Fund had no holdings.

At the individual stock level, the main contributors to performance included Sanken Electric, which produces discrete semiconductors and analogue integrated circuits; Nifco, which manufactures synthetic resinous fasteners and plastic components mainly for automobiles; and Vision, a leading provider of mobile Wi-Fi router rental service available both domestically and overseas.

The main detractors from the Fund's performance were Direct Marketing MiX, which provides marketing services through its outbound call centers; M-up Holdings, which is an operator of fan club sites and e-ticket business; and Insource which provides corporate training and business-related open courses.

There were two new positions during the period including information services International-Dentsu, which engages in the provision of information services including consulting services, and custom system development; and ULVAC, which provides a wide range of solutions for flat panel displays, electronic components, semiconductors, and general-industry equipment. In addition, the Fund completed the sale of BrainPad, a leading company in the field of data utilisation and also Sanken Electric.

The manager increased the weighting of stocks that appeared to be at attractive levels on a medium-term basis, funding them from stocks that have held up relatively well. At the end of June 2023, the Fund held 30 stocks. The Fund was overweight services, information & communication, and chemicals. The largest overweight positions in the Fund included the aforementioned Nifco, Otorun, which produces optical thin film deposition tools, and Vision, a leading provider of mobile Wi-Fi router rental service available both domestically and overseas.

The manager believes inflation effects will ease in 2024, but at the same time believes Japan could face a serious labour shortage from around 2025. In this context, the manager will be watching to see if companies will be able to continue to provide sufficient wage increases, which will be the key to the achievement of the Bank of Japan's (BoJ) inflation target of 2%.

Japan's recovery continues, albeit at a slow pace. Durable goods and services demand has picked up since last year, whereas non-durable goods have seen a decline. Retail consumption is expected to be supportive of the economy's performance once inflation returns to 2%.

After the adjustment of yield curve control by the BoJ, bond prices dropped, the yen strengthened and growth stocks fell. Although the manager believes the change in monetary policy could have a limited impact on the Japanese economy, it may cause the Japanese equity market to be more volatile for a while.

In terms of strategy, the Fund will continue to hold stocks that the manager believes have attractive growth prospects.

BNY MELLON LONG-TERM GLOBAL EQUITY FUND

Over the six-month review period, the Fund's Euro A share class rose 14.41%, net of fees, versus 12.58% for the MSCI World NR Index, both in Euro terms. The Fund generated a positive return and outperformed its benchmark.

Equity markets faced a series of challenges during the first six months of 2023, although the more pessimistic growth forecasts of last year have been confounded by economies that have shown more resilience than expected. However, while the pace of inflation is diminishing, it remains elevated, forcing developed market central banks to tighten monetary policy further.

The Fund's encouraging performance was attributable to positioning in the healthcare, consumer staples, and materials sectors. A lack of exposure to energy and a markedly underweight exposure to financials versus the benchmark also contributed. However, the information technology sector proved a drag on performance given the surge in certain high-profile technology companies over the period, some of which the Fund did not own.

The Fund benefited from a position in West Pharmaceutical Services, as the company's outlook improved due to growth in drugs such as those related to obesity. In its second-quarter results, Adobe's digital media business, which makes up some 75% of the company's sales, performed very well and beat management's prior guidance. Beyond its excellent fundamental performance, there have been plenty of encouraging announcements about Adobe's artificial intelligence (AI) capabilities. Also performing well, in part because of AI headlines, was Taiwan Semiconductor. The company, along with many other semiconductor-related companies, benefited from positive sentiment related to NVIDIA's results and excitement around AI in May.

Waters was weak due to growing evidence that the bioprocessing market is going through a period of weak demand and inventory destocking. Waters's first-quarter results reflected this and were softer than expected. Instrument sales were impacted by scaled-back demand from both Chinese and biotechnology customers. Although payroll company Automatic Data Processing posted satisfactory results, concerns over the durability of the strong US labour market dampened investor sentiment. Despite an encouraging operational start to the year, AIA Group was weak due to negative sentiment around the strength of China's post-Covid reopening. However, with Covid restrictions across Asia now a thing of the past, and with mainland China visitors crossing the border to Hong Kong to buy life insurance again, 2023 could mark a return to more consistent growth.

From an activity perspective, Jardine Matheson and SGS were sold over the period, while Lonza, ODFL, Moody's and O'Reilly Automotive were purchased.

In the manager's view, the expectations of a mild global economic slowdown have been somewhat baked into the equity market psyche. As ever, the Fund remains focused on the long-term prospects of the companies held. Encouragingly, many leading companies continue to exhibit a level of growth and resilience that belies the challenges of still-elevated input costs, higher interest rates, and demand attrition. Over the six-month period under review, the USD A (Acc.) share class of the Fund returned 17.97%, net of fees, against 7.54% for the MSCI AC World Mid Cap TR USD, both in US dollar terms. The Fund generated a strongly positive return and outperformed its comparative benchmark.

Equity markets registered gains in the first half of 2023. Pricing pressures continued to weigh on market sentiment, and central banks steadily increased interest rates. The World Bank upped its 2023 growth outlook to 2.1% in June, a boost from its January estimate of 1.7%, largely owing to solid US consumer spending and the economic reopening of China. Central bank leaders confirmed that additional interest rate hikes may be necessary to combat sticky inflation.

In this environment, the Fund significantly outperformed its benchmark. Overweight positioning in both semiconductors and semiconductor equipment and software, which meaningfully outperformed during the period, led contributors. Meanwhile, an underweight to hotels, restaurants and leisure detracted from performance, as did unfavourable stock selection in metals and mining.

In semiconductors and semiconductor equipment, NVIDIA led contributors. Shares of NVIDIA jumped after the company reported first-quarter earnings that were significantly higher than expected, owing to soaring demand for the chips used in generative artificial intelligence systems. ANSYS also contributed; the company's new growth initiatives are expected to add to already high margins.

Conversely, electrical equipment companies Plug Power and Alfen were top individual detractors. Shares of Plug Power lagged as the company continued to fall short on margins. Its execution risk remains high as it transitions to scaling its green hydrogen and electrolyzer businesses. Shares of Alfen underperformed, as its destocking of electric vehicle charging equipment is taking longer than anticipated, which could have a negative impact on second-quarter results.

The Fund's exposure to chemicals was increased by the introduction of a position in LG Chem. The manager added to an overweight position in software by initiating a position in Dassault Systemes and reduced overweight positioning to semiconductors and semiconductor equipment by exiting positions in Diodes, Marvell Technology, MediaTek, Semtech, Skyworks Solutions and Wolfspeed. Additionally, the manager decreased the Fund's overweight to machinery by exiting positions in CNH Industrial and Wuxi Lead Intelligent Equipment.

In the manager's opinion, the secular growth outlook over the mid- to long term in the mobility theme remains very attractive for the Fund's auto-related holdings. Advanced driver assistance systems (ADAS), autonomous vehicles, connectivity and electrification look to be places poised for above-average growth. ADAS content and functionality per vehicle continues to increase in key markets, as does the underlying secular shift to vehicle electrification, which remains a principle focus for China and Europe. Although it is early in the transition, it is expected the US Inflation Reduction Act (IRA) could give a boost to the popularity of electric vehicles in the US. Additionally, a European version of the IRA could promote the use of local supply chains for critical minerals to be used in the energy transition.

BNY MELLON SMALL CAP EUROLAND FUND

Over the six-month period under review, the Fund's Euro A share class returned 10.68%, net of fees, against 9.36% for the S&P Eurozone Small Cap TR, both in Euro terms. The Fund generated a positive return and outperformed its comparative benchmark.

Equity markets registered gains in the first half of 2023. At the start of the year, investors returned to risk-on mode, cheering reports of slowing jobs growth and easing inflation; however, lighter-than-expected earnings results and ongoing recessionary signals muted returns slightly. Pricing pressures continued to weigh on market sentiment, and central banks continued to raise interest rates. The World Bank increased its 2023 growth outlook to 2.1% in June, up from its January estimate of 1.7%, largely owing to solid US consumer spending and the economic reopening of China. Central bank leaders confirmed that additional rate hikes may be necessary to combat sticky inflation.

In this environment, the Fund outperformed its benchmark. By country, positive stock selection in Germany led contributors, followed by favourable stock selection in Belgium. Meanwhile, challenging stock selection in Italy and France detracted. In France, chemicals company OCI and office real estate investment trust Covivio lagged during the period. By sector, favourable stock selection in information technology (IT) and communication services led contributors, while weak stock selection in financials and consumer discretionary detracted from results. French media company Publicis Groupe and French IT services company Sopra Steria were among the top individual contributors to performance.

During the period, the manager increased the Fund's exposure to communication services through a new position in MFE-MediaForEurope and increased exposure to IT by adding to an existing position. Real estate holdings were also increased through a new position in Unibail-Rodamco-Westfield. Exposure to the consumer discretionary sector was lowered by exiting Mediaset Espana and trimming several other existing positions. The manager reduced the Fund's exposure to industrials by exiting Deutz and reducing other existing positions.

The manager believes the outlook for international stocks remains positive as we head towards autumn, with some of the most extreme inflationary data points moderating. In the manager's view as industrial profitability continues to increase (albeit from lower levels), this could represent a tailwind to valuations, which are already look low.

BNY MELLON SMART CURES INNOVATION FUND

Over the six months under review, the Fund's USD W (Acc.) share class returned -0.66%, net of fees, against a return of 13.93% for the MSCI All-Country World NR Index and 1.78% for the LIPPER Equity Sector Healthcare Average, all in US dollar terms.

Equity markets registered gains in the first half of 2023. Pricing pressures continued to weigh on market sentiment, and central banks continued to increase interest rates. The World Bank upped its 2023 growth outlook to 2.1% in June from its January estimate of 1.7%, largely owing to solid US consumer spending and the economic reopening of China. Central bank confirmed that additional interest rate hikes may be necessary to combat sticky inflation.

In this environment, the Fund underperformed its benchmark. In support of the Smart Cures thematic view, the portfolio is positioned 67% in clinical pioneer investments and 33% in 'supporting cast' investments.

Cytokinetics was a main detractor. The commercialisation of Bristol Myers Squibb's Camzyos drug, developed to treat hypertrophic cardiomyopathy, weighed on Cytokinetics's results. Owing to its comparatively underwhelming launch, some investors believe that Cytokinetics's drug Aficamten could find a smaller market size than initially expected. BioMarin Pharmaceutical, a rare-disease-focused biotechnology company, also weighed on results. However, the manager believes the company has the potential to double its revenue by 2027, owing to a new gene therapy for hemophilia A and a new medicine for achondroplasia.

Legend Biotech was a key positive contributor. Its shares outperformed during the period owing to strong data on Carvykti, as presented by the American Society of Clinical Oncology. The data supports the use of Carvykti in the second-line treatment of multiple myeloma, which will greatly expand the drug's potential. Eli Lilly also helped hinder losses during the review period. Shares rose on confirmatory data for its Alzheimer's disease drug, which could ultimately lead to regulatory approval. Eli Lilly already has a next-generation Alzheimer's medication that is advancing to a Phase 3 trial.

The manager's outlook for the Fund remains robust. There are currently 2,400 ongoing clinical programmes in various phases throughout the gene technology industry. The sector generated over US$9 billion in 2022 in genetic medicine revenue; the manager anticipates that could grow to US$80 billion by 2030. Thus far this year, the first gene therapies have been approved for both Duchenne's muscular dystrophy and hemophilia A, markedly changing the treatment paradigms for both diseases. Thirteen new cell or gene therapies are expected during 2023, making it the most productive subsector of therapeutics within the healthcare space. Financing has begun to pick up, in contrast with a difficult 2021-2022, which suggests investors are starting to come back to the industry. In the manager's view, fundamentals have improved dramatically over the past two years, this could be the beginning of a genetic medicine revolution, which would reshape how disease care is delivered over the next two decades.

BNY MELLON SUSTAINABLE GLOBAL EMERGING MARKETS FUND

Over the six-month period under review, the USD W (Acc) share class of the Fund generated a return of 4.57%, net of fees, against a return of 4.89% from the MSCI Emerging Markets NR Index, both in US dollar terms. The Fund produced a positive return but underperformed its comparative benchmark.

At the sector level, the Fund benefited most from positioning in the consumer sectors. The holding in Brazilian pharmacy chain Raia Drogasil was the top contributor, with the company's first-quarter results highlighting growth in both market share and revenues. The position in L'Oréal also performed well as the Chinese economy reopened, while the resilience of the cosmetics market was also evidenced by a solid set of results for the fourth quarter. The Fund benefited from not holding Chinese retailer JD.com and food delivery group Meituan, with both stocks weakening over concerns about intensifying competition.

It was a mixed picture within the information technology sector. Holdings in Infineon Technologies and ASML were amongst the leading contributors over the period. The sustained strength of Infineon's automotive and industrial segments saw the company raise earnings guidance for the full year. Meanwhile, semiconductor manufacturer ASML reported a record order backlog and forecasted strong sales growth in 2023. However, the holding in Chinese group LONGi Green Energy Technology detracted as the solar energy product manufacturer was affected by concerns over pricing pressures. The manager subsequently sold the position, as industry capacity continues to expand. The Fund's zero weighting in Samsung Electronics also detracted from performance relative to the benchmark index.

Positioning in the healthcare sector detracted as the holding in Chinese drug research and development company Pharmaron Beijing came under pressure in the wake of US banking stress, with concerns over possible constraints on access to capital for its smaller biotechnology customer base.

In terms of activity, the manager added a new position in Taiwanese group Chroma ATE. The company provides customised automated testing equipment and has a leading market position in electric vehicle (EV) power testing globally. From an ESG (environmental, social and governance) perspective, Chroma ATE is a key player in the EV supply chain. Another new holding was established in Sona BLW Precision Forgings, a leading Indian manufacturer of precision-forged auto components with nearly three-quarters of its order book from the EV market. The manager also added to existing holdings in Chinese lithium-ion battery manufacturer Contemporary Amperex Technology (CATL), Korean lithium-ion battery maker Samsung SDI, and Indian life insurance group HDFC Life. The holdings in Chinese financial services group Ping An Insurance and Brazilian industrial company WEG were reduced following a period of strong performance from both stocks. The Fund's position in Chinese industrial-equipment maker Shenzhen Inovance Technology was scaled back given potential risks to the near-term outlook from a worsening macroeconomic environment.

Looking ahead, the manager believes a combination of relatively higher levels of income growth, rapid increases in product penetration, and scope for industry consolidation should present longer-term investment opportunities in emerging markets. The manager remains focused on identifying companies best placed to exploit these trends.

BNY MELLON SUSTAINABLE GLOBAL EQUITY FUND*

Over the six-month period under review, the USD A share class of the Fund generated a return of 12.59%, net of fees, compared with a return of 13.93% for the MSCI AC World NR Index, both in US dollar terms. The Fund generated a strong positive return but underperformed its benchmark.

Stock selection had a positive effect on returns, while asset allocation was a mild detractor. Several holdings benefited from artificial intelligence (AI)-driven momentum, particularly in the second quarter. With AI workloads expected to be supportive of its cloud division, Amazon's shares contributed positively. Microsoft also benefited from its exposure to the AI theme, with the company continuing to roll out AI across its platforms. ICON shares rebounded strongly following share-price weakness brought on by a weaker funding environment in the biotechnology industry.

In terms of detractors, the Fund was hindered by a lack of positioning in two sizeable index constituents (Tesla and Meta Platforms), as they both benefited from the marked recovery in the technology sector. Shares in AIA Group suffered from broader concerns about the health of the financial sector. China's weak recovery following the relaxation of zero-Covid policies also weighed on the stock, despite some encouraging industry-level data on Hong Kong life insurance sales over the first quarter. Speciality chemicals firm Croda International declined owing to a lack of material improvement in volume trends over the second quarter and a profit warning driven by destocking in its consumer ingredients channels.

Regarding portfolio activity, the Fund underwent a rebalancing during the period as it shifted to a sustainable mandate. Stocks added as part of the conversion included leading lithography equipment supplier ASML, bioscience company Chr. Hansen, semiconductor manufacturer Infineon Technologies, exhibitions business Informa, offshore wind farm developer and operator Orsted, and smart-energy solutions provider SolarEdge Technologies, among others. Stocks exited as part of the sustainable rebalancing included Alibaba, Applied Materials, Barclays, Bayer, Diageo, Eli Lilly, Exelon, Goldman Sachs, and Royal Dutch Shell.

Later in the period, a stake in Nvidia was taken. The company's graphical processing units are used in the training of AI models and inferencing. AI capabilities are poised to revolutionise how we interact with and consume information, and Nvidia represents an attractive way to gain exposure to this area, in the manager's view. A position in luxury products manufacturer Hermes International was established. The manager believes Hermes to be a rare asset exhibiting strong pricing power due to its formidable brand strength. Positions in Novartis and Norfolk Southern were exited.

Navigating the policy tightrope between cooling inflation and slowing demand will require a balancing act, and the timing and extent of any economic weakness will be closely watched by investors. However, structural demand trends remain in place, notably in technology and regarding climate change. The manager's focus remains on companies that appear to have more resilient long-term earnings profiles and attractive end-market outlooks.

confirmed that additional interest rate hikes may be necessary to combat sticky inflation.

In this environment, the Fund underperformed its benchmark. On a sector basis, consumer staples and real estate contributed most to performance, while information technology (IT) and financials detracted. In consumer staples, the Fund's lack of exposure to the beverages segment contributed. A lack of positioning in real estate also helped. Conversely, in IT, the Fund's lack of exposure to Apple and NVIDIA detracted from relative returns. In financials, overweight positioning and challenging stock selection, particularly in the insurance segment, weighed further. Reinsurers lagged, largely owing to the start of the Atlantic hurricane season. More positively, casino and gaming company International Game Technology was a top individual contributor. Not owning drugmaker Pfizer also proved beneficial.

The Fund's largest overweight positions were in the financials, energy and healthcare sectors, while the largest underweights were to IT, consumer discretionary and consumer staples. The manager increased exposure to the consumer discretionary sector through a new position in Wynn Resorts. In energy, positions in Occidental Petroleum and Shell were added. To fund these positions, exposure to financials and utilities was reduced. In financials, the Fund exited positions in Bank of America, Chubb, Comerica, Fidelity National Information Services and MetLife. In utilities, the manager exited positions in NextEra Energy and PPL.

Looking ahead, the manager expects segments of the market should continue digesting the backlog of demand brought on by the pandemic and thinks companies may start reporting more 'normalised' earnings and guidance. Furthermore, companies with more traditional business models may become more attractive, supported by several drivers, including onshoring, automation, electrical infrastructure and efforts that alleviate supply constraints. This new perspective could place greater emphasis on profitable and sound business models. The manager expects the remainder of 2023 to feature a market conducive to the long-standing philosophy of focusing on opportunities at the intersection of valuation, fundamentals and catalyst-driven business momentum.

The manager continues to be constructive on areas of the market that look capable of providing positive relative value and robust balance sheets through uncertain times.

FIXED INCOME

BNY MELLON EFFICIENT GLOBAL HIGH YIELD BETA FUND

Over the six months to 30 June 2023, the Fund's USD A (Inc.) share class returned 4.47%, net of fees, compared with a return of 5.38% for the Bloomberg Barclays Global High Yield Corporate Bond USD Hedged TR Index. The Fund generated a positive return but underperformed its benchmark.

The index posted strong gains in the first half of 2023, overcoming concerns over rising interest rates, a banking crisis, recession fears and more frequent defaults. CCC rated bonds performed particularly well over the six-month period, reflecting the strong risk-on sentiment of market participants. Consumer cyclicals, the largest industry in the global high yield asset class, produced the highest returns. The other finance sector was hampered by real estate companies in Asia, and China in particular.

Model-driven components produced a muted contribution for the Fund during the review period. An overweight to new fallen angels (bonds that have only recently lost their investment grade status) and higher-quality bonds proved negative, but this was offset by better performance from the value and market completion factors. Security selection also contributed to the Fund's underperformance, attributable to small negative contributions across multiple sectors, including capital goods and electric. However, a positive contribution from the banking and technology sectors partially offset losses in other areas.

Pricing source differences between the Fund and the benchmark also negatively affected returns. The impact of this would be small over the longer time horizon, but year to date, the pricing differential proved a modest detractor.

Despite numerous interest rate hikes by the US Federal Reserve (Fed) over the last 12 to 18 months, global high yield spreads have narrowed year to date. As at 30 June, the global high yield option-adjusted spread is tight relative to historical levels. This suggests investors are becoming more confident about the possibility of attractive yields. With second-quarter earnings mostly surprising to the upside, fears of recession are abating.

Year to date, new issuance in US high yield has totaled US$93 billion, marking the second-lowest issuance since 2009 (2022 having had the lowest). This relatively slight issuance provides somewhat of a technical tailwind. The US economy appears to be showing continued strength, leading investors to believe the Fed could raise interest rates two more times before the end of 2023.

BNY MELLON EFFICIENT GLOBAL IG CORPORATE BETA FUND

Over the six months to 30 June 2023, the Fund's USD A share class returned 2.92%, net of fees, compared with a return of 3.13% for the Bloomberg Barclays Global Aggregate Corporate TR Index USD Hedged, both in US dollar terms. The Fund generated a positive return but underperformed its benchmark.

Spreads tightened consistently throughout the first half of the year and contributed positively to the index's total returns. Rate returns were more mixed, delivering positive returns in the first quarter on falling US Treasury yields. However, rate returns turned negative in the second quarter as yields rose and market participants worried about persistent interest rate hikes from the US Federal Reserve (Fed).

All ratings sectors ended the first half in positive territory, with lower-rated BBB bonds outperforming. Similarly, industries were positive across the board. Interestingly, finance-oriented sectors were among the better performers, particularly in the second half of the review period, recovering lost ground from March's banking crisis.

The Fund slightly underperformed its benchmark over the six-month period. Pricing source differences between the Fund and the benchmark negatively affected returns and were largely responsible for the Fund's lower relative return.

The Fund's model-driven component proved positive in the period. Its tilt to value and market completion factors were most additive. Allocations characterised by a structural shift towards lower-rated bonds with shorter maturity dates offset some of the gains, as did the quality factor. Security selection resulted in a positive contribution for the Fund. New issue participation also proved beneficial, particularly in May, a month that saw a flurry of new issues come to market. From a sector perspective, banking and electric were positive but were offset partially by finance.

Yields and spreads have moved modestly higher from the first quarter of the year; US Treasury yields rose on expectations of further Fed rate hikes, and spreads tightened as investors turned to investment grade bonds in order to collect higher yields and harness income potential. In the manager's view, profitability, though softening, remains strong.

BNY MELLON EFFICIENT U.S. FALLEN ANGELS BETA FUND

During the six-month period under review, the Fund's USD W (Acc.) share class returned 3.87%, net of fees, against a return of 4.95% for the Bloomberg Barclays US HY Fallen Angel 3% Cap Total Return Index Value Unhedged. Accordingly, the Fund generated a positive return but trailed its benchmark.

The first half of 2023 was marked by a number of concerns, including high inflation and rising interest rates; a banking crisis in the US and Europe; recession fears; and higher defaults. However, falling inflation and timely intervention by the authorities following the banking crisis helped restore investor confidence and led the Fund to generate a positive return as spreads tightened.

Both spread and interest rate returns contributed positively to the index's performance. All ratings sectors rose over the period. CCC rated bonds performed extremely well and had a meaningful impact on spread returns. From an industry perspective, all sectors, with the exception of banking, generated positive returns. The banking sector was weighed down by the crisis that saw three medium-sized US regional banks go bankrupt, and Credit Suisse be taken over by UBS.

For the Fund, its model-driven component made a muted contribution. Positive contributions from the value and quality factors were offset by the weaker performance of new fallen angel bonds (those that have only recently lost their investment grade status), which were uncharacteristically weak in the first quarter of 2023 against a backdrop of heightened recession fears and the afore-mentioned banking crisis. Security selection detracted, with positioning in cyclicals and communications proving the most challenging. This was partially offset by stronger performances from banks.

Despite significant interest rate increases over the past 12 to 18 months, fallen angel spreads have tightened year to date, which reflects investor confidence. This is likely owing to attractive yields, strong fundamentals and abating recession fears. Consensus expects the US Federal Reserve to raise rates twice more in 2023 given the continued strength of the domestic economy.

Against a backdrop of higher refinancing costs and a possible economic slowdown, the manager continues to see the potential for significant new downgrades in the coming year.

BNY MELLON EFFICIENT U.S. HIGH YIELD BETA FUND

Over the six-month period under review, the Fund's USD A (Inc.) share class returned 4.47%, net of fees, against a return of 5.05% for the Bloomberg Barclays U.S. Corporate High Yield TR Index. Accordingly, the Fund generated a positive return but underperformed its benchmark.

The first half of 2023 was marked by several concerns, including high inflation and rising interest rates; a banking crisis in the US and Europe; recession fears; and higher defaults. However, falling inflation and timely intervention by the authorities following the banking crisis helped restore investor confidence.

Both spread and interest rate returns contributed positively to the index's performance, easily overcoming the modest negative returns attributable to a rise in US Treasury rates. In terms of credit ratings, CCC rated bonds performed particularly well in the first six months of the year, reflecting strong risk-on sentiment and perhaps indicating that the market is becoming less concerned about the possibility of defaults or a deep recession. By sector, consumer cyclicals, capital goods and energy made the biggest contribution to spread returns. On the other hand, communications lagged all other industries except banking.

In terms of contributors to the Fund's return, security selection was positive, largely attributable to small positive contributions from multiple sectors, including non-cyclicals, banking and technology. The basic materials and financial sectors were modestly negative, though this was not significant enough to offset stronger results in other areas. The impacts of swing pricing and pricing-source differences had the biggest effect on the Fund's relative underperformance. Model-driven components were modestly negative. The Fund's overweight exposure to new fallen angels (bonds which have only recently lost their investment-grade status) and higher-quality bonds also proved negative.

Despite significant interest rate increases over the past 12 to 18 months, high yield spreads have tightened year to date, which reflects investor confidence. Consensus expects the US Federal Reserve to raise rates twice more in 2023 given the continued strength of the domestic economy. Furthermore, new high yield issuance is at its second lowest level since 2009 (2022 had the lowest). This relatively low issuance could provide something of a technical tailwind for high yield bonds.

Given tightening yields, abating recession fears and the lower probability of numerous defaults, the manager considers current spreads and yield levels to be attractive, equating to compelling opportunities for high yield bonds.

BNY MELLON EMERGING MARKETS CORPORATE DEBT FUND

Over the six-month period under review, the Fund's USD A share class returned 2.15%, compared with a return of 3.64% for JP Morgan Corporate Emerging Market Bond Index Broad Diversified (CEMBI - BD) TR Index, both in US dollar terms. The Fund generated a positive return but underperformed its benchmark.

The markets witnessed significant intra-period volatility driven by elevated inflation, banking crisis and geopolitical tensions. In emerging markets, investment grade versus high yield spread differentials were broadly unchanged for corporates during the first quarter, while spreads decompressed in emerging markets sovereigns. During the second half of the period, spreads compressed across risk assets: emerging market sovereign high yield, high yield credit and investment grade all tightened. This was partly offset by rates selling off. In general, emerging markets outperformed developed markets, with only US investment grade posting negative returns.

During the first quarter, Chinese property and technology holdings detracted the most, while South Africa contributed to returns. Toward the end of the period, the Fund benefitted significantly from exposure to Ukrainian sovereign and corporate bonds on the back of military progress and discussions on using seized Russian assets to fund post-war rebuilding. Also, strong performance came from Canpack, Coruripe, Medco and Star Energy during June.

It was a busy period in terms of activity, with a shift out of oil & gas and industrials into financials. Overall, the manager was close to being fully invested, reducing risk and ending the period tilted toward higher-quality credits. In the first quarter, exposure was increased to Thai and Indonesian banks, gaming companies in Macau and Chinese property developers. By contrast, relative short duration positioning was reduced. Furthermore, bonds from KazMunayGas, Greenko and HDFC Bank were bought. The biggest country reduction was China. During the second quarter, risk was reduced by selling certain high yield bonds, while increasing exposure to higher-quality bonds and cash. From a sector perspective, the manager increased exposure to financials and industrials, which became the largest overweight positions for the Fund. In June, purchases included Sands China, BRF and Greenko. Also, the manager participated in new issues from BBVA Bancomer, Energean and Ecopetrol. Conversely, Aldar, HDFC's senior bonds and Cemex's perpetual bonds were sold, while other positions such as Ecobank Nigeria and Geopark were reduced.

Investors may be warming to the idea that most developed market bond markets are already pricing in peak rates, but the main worry in the medium term is the impact on growth as the US Federal Reserve continues to fight inflation. Nearer term, tailwinds for emerging markets include stronger sentiment, following improved emerging markets ex-China growth, peak emerging market inflation and improving creditworthiness in the sovereign high yield universe.

BNY MELLON EMERGING MARKETS DEBT FUND

Over the six-month period under review, the USD A share class of the Fund returned 3.90%, net of fees, against 3.81% for the JP Morgan EMBI Global Index, in US dollar terms.

The Fund produced a positive return and outperformed its benchmark in the first half of 2023. Positive country selection was most additive but was partially offset by duration (which measures a bond's sensitivity to interest rate movements). From a regional perspective, the main contributors included overweight exposure in Ukraine and Argentina and underweight exposure to the United Arab Emirates (UAE), Saudi Arabia, and Egypt. Conversely, detractors included the Fund's underweight positions in Saudi Arabia, Chile, the UAE, and Sri Lanka.

Through the first half of the period, the manager reduced exposure to investment grade sovereigns and corporates, as relative spread versus US investment grade valuations looked expensive. The manager sold long-dated bonds in Mexico, Panama, Peru, and Poland and reduced exposure to Romania. In Asia, the Fund reduced risk by selling corporate exposure, mainly to Tencent and Lenovo. Part of the Fund's Pemex holdings were swapped into Angola, which the manager believes has the potential to be upgraded. In quasi-sovereign bonds, the manager reduced risk in Pertamina, Perusahaan Listrik Negara, Indonesia Asahan Aluminium, KazMunayGas, and Cemex.

Within the Fund's BB rated holdings, South Africa was sold given spread compression and domestic growth concerns. The manager also sold the Dominican Republic given tight valuations and a slowing growth outlook from a very strong cyclical rebound in 2021-2022. Colombia was also taken back to target due to policy risks. Conversely, the Fund bought newly issued Guatemalan bonds to cover an underweight position ahead of upcoming elections. An underweight position in Egypt, which had contributed positively to performance, was covered by adding long-dated US dollar-denominated bonds. The manager rebalanced the Fund's Ukraine exposure from corporates, which have outperformed, to sovereign bonds. Argentina 2030 bonds were also swapped to the long end of the curve after a bond buyback of 2029s-2030s helped performance. In Africa, the manager sold Kenyan bonds to initiate an underweight position and reduced the Fund's overweight position in Nigeria ahead of the country's elections in February. Finally, the manager added to the Fund's overweight position in Ecuador on weakness, believing fundamentals to be strong.

The manager currently favours high yield sovereign hard currency markets over investment grade. The high yield hard currency positioning is due to the attractive value on offer for distressed names (companies in danger of or that are going through bankruptcy). This position is challenged by a poor macroeconomic environment but helped by low issuance. The manager's highest conviction is for local currency debt, where the Fund is overweight local duration and neutral on currencies. For corporates, the manager believes it is currently difficult to identify a great deal of value in investment grade. A slowdown in US and Chinese growth and the demand for commodities inform the manager's negative view on this sector.

BNY MELLON EMERGING MARKETS DEBT LOCAL CURRENCY FUND

Over the six-month period under review, the Fund's USD A share class returned 8.82%, net of fees, against 7.79% for the JP Morgan GBI-EM Global Diversified Index, in US dollar terms.

The Fund generated a positive performance and outperformed its benchmark due to duration and currency exposure. The primary duration contributor was the Fund's overweight exposure to Russia, Hungary, and Columbia and its underweight exposure to Brazil and Turkey. In currencies, the primary positive contributors were short positions in the Turkish lira, Egyptian pound, and Taiwan dollar and long exposure to the Thai baht. This was partially offset by the Fund's long position in the South African rand and the Malaysian ringgit.

At the beginning of the year, the manager added foreign exchange exposure in Asian markets, including via the Philippine peso, Singaporean dollar, Malaysian ringgit and Hong Kong dollar. A short euro versus long Hungarian forint position was added, as the Hungarian forint offers the highest carry within Central and Eastern Europe given the hawkish monetary policy stance of its central bank. In the second quarter, profits on the Fund's short euro versus Hungarian forint position were taken, while a short euro versus Czech koruna position was initiated. The manager believes the Czech koruna represents a crowded trade that may unwind if volatility increases. A long euro versus short Brazilian real position was added as a hedge to the Fund's long local rates position in Brazil.

Due to outperformance, profits were taken via a reduction of the Fund's long position in the Thai baht. Subsequently, the Fund's long position in the Singaporean dollar was swapped into a long position in the South Korean won given the view that export headwinds are bottoming in the technology and chips sector. Finally, the Fund took profits on a tactical short Brazilian real versus South African rand trade and opportunistically took profits from short positions in the Czech koruna and Chilean peso.

On the rates side, the manager began the year by reducing the Fund's underweight in Central and Eastern Europe, partially by adding exposure to Hungary. The manager reduced an underweight position in Poland rates given recent underperformance and bought front-end Romania rates for carry. In Asia, the Fund added exposure to Korea while moving to a neutral position in China. The remaining off-benchmark allocation and position in Hungarian rates was trimmed as the country's hawkish central bank stance led to outperformance. Profits were also taken on the Brazilian rates position amid expectations of aggressive rate-cutting over the next year. At the end of the second quarter, the manager bought South African rates given the African National Congress's dissipation of geopolitical risks regarding Russian arms transactions.

The manager continues to favour high yield sovereign hard currency markets over investment grade. This position is challenged by a poor macroeconomic environment but helped by low issuance. The manager's highest conviction is for local currency debt, where the Fund is overweight local duration and neutral on currencies. The manager believes it is currently difficult to identify value in investment grade due to a slowdown in US and Chinese growth and the demand for commodities.

Over the six-month period under review, the USD C share class of the Fund returned 6.40%, net of fees, versus 5.66% for the comparative benchmark, a composite comprising 50% JP Morgan Government Bond Index – Emerging Markets Global Diversified TR Index, 25% JP Morgan Emerging Markets Bond Index Global TR Index, 25% JP Morgan Corporate Emerging Markets Bond Index Diversified TR Index, both in US dollar terms. The Fund produced a positive return and outperformed its benchmark.

The Fund's outperformance was due primarily to duration and hard currency positioning. The biggest positive duration contributors on a country basis were overweight positioning in Columbia, Hungary, and Russia and underweight positioning in Brazil. Primary hard currency contributors included overweight exposure to Ukraine, Argentina, Nigeria, and Romania.

Through the first half of the review period, the manager reduced exposure to investment grade sovereigns and corporates. Long-dated bonds in Mexico, Panama, Peru, and Poland were sold,

Finally, the manager added to the Fund's overweight position in Ecuador on weakness, believing fundamentals to be strong.

In currencies, a short euro versus long Hungarian forint position was added. Profits were taken on this position in the second quarter of 2023, and a short euro versus Czech koruna position was opened. Elsewhere, the manager added a long euro versus short Brazilian real position and took profits on a long Thai baht position, reducing the size of the investment. A long position in the Singaporean dollar was swapped for a long position in the Korean won given the won's underperformance and a view that export headwinds are bottoming in the technology sector. Finally, the manager took profits on a tactical short real versus South African rand trade and opportunistically took profits on short positions in the Czech koruna and Chilean peso. The long rand position was closed.

On the local rates side, the Fund sold South Korea and profits were taken on a Brazilian rates position amid expectations of aggressive interest rate cuts in the coming year. Finally, the manager reduced Peruvian local rates given recent outperformance versus its Latin American peers.

The manager's highest conviction is for local currency debt, where the Fund is overweight local duration and neutral on currencies. BNY MELLON EMERGING MARKETS DEBT TOTAL RETURN FUND

Over the six-month period under review, the Fund's USD W (Acc.) share class returned 7.20%, net of fees, compared with 5.17% for the comparative benchmark comprising 1/3 JP Morgan Government Bond Index – Emerging Markets Global Diversified TR Index, 1/3 JP Morgan Emerging Markets Bond Index Global Diversified TR Index, 1/3 JP Morgan Corporate Emerging Markets Bond Index Broad Diversified TR Index and 7.16% for the LIPPER Bond Emerging Markets Global LC Average, all in US dollar terms. The Fund generated a positive return and outperformed both its benchmark and the sector average.

Over the period, performance was largely driven by hard-currency positions, local-currency positions, local rates, and currency exposures. The Fund enjoyed a good run at the end of the period as a result of Russian local-currency exposure. Outside of Russia, exposure to Ukrainian quasi-sovereign bonds had a strong positive impact, as did the Fund's holdings in Argentina. Exposure to Ivory Coast and Romania also added to performance. Detractors were varied and small, largely owing to underweights as spreads tightened. In currencies, the Turkish lira proved additive.

During January, the manager took profits in Hungary and Mexico. In the high yield space, it participated in new issues from Colombia, the Dominican Republic and Pemex while reducing an underweight in Turkey. In local rates, the manager added risk in Hungary and Korea. Sovereign high yield exposure to certain outperformers, including South Africa and the Dominican Republic, was reduced in February.

Thereafter, the manager bought hard-currency Panama and Poland, sold Nigeria, and added to an overweight position in Ecuador. The manager sold South Korean rates while adding tactically to the short Polish zloty position. The manager added a small short euro versus long Hungarian forint position and a long euro versus short Brazilian real position, and took profits on a long Thai baht position, reducing the size of the investment.

The Fund's investment grade exposure was reduced. Long-end bonds in Mexico, Panama, Peru, and Poland were sold in April. The manager reduced exposure to Romania, and reduced risk in Pertamina, Perusahaan Listrik Negara, Indonesia Asahan Aluminium and KazMunayGaxs. In Asia, risk was reduced by selling corporate exposure to Tencent and Lenovo while participating in new issues from Brazil and Bahrain. Similarly, the Fund participated in a long-dated Mexico new issue before taking profits. Part of the Fund's Pemex holdings were swapped into Angola, and the underweight in Egypt was covered via the addition of long-dated US dollar-denominated bonds.

During May and June, the manager added to a long position in the Malaysian ringgit and bought Colombia's Ecopet and a new issue of Guatemalan government bonds. Profits were taken on a short position in the Czech koruna and were reinvested into a long position in the Korean won. The manager trimmed positions in Hungary and Brazil and generally reduced positions in Asian currencies (such as the Singaporean dollar and Korean won) while closing a long South African rand position. A position in Cemex was also sold.

Though inflation is declining, it remains high, which may lead to further monetary tightening by global central banks. However, the pace of interest rate hikes is expected to soften from here, and many analysts believe the hiking cycle has likely reached a later stage.

Acknowledging the uncertainty around economic data and central bank activity, the manager has tactically adjusted the Fund's exposures.

BNY MELLON EUROLAND BOND FUND

During the six months under review, the Fund's Euro A share class generated a return of 1.89%, net of fees, underperforming its benchmark, the Bloomberg Barclays Euro Aggregate Bond TR Index, which rose by 2.25%, in Euro terms.

High inflation, the US regional banking crisis and UBS's takeover of Credit Suisse dominated market sentiment during the period. Inflationary pressures outweighed concerns over worsening economic conditions, compelling major central banks to raise interest rates: the US Federal Reserve (Fed), the European Central Bank, and the Bank of England each delivered multiple interest rate hikes in the first half of 2023.

Markets witnessed significant volatility during the period amid the US and European banking crisis, which caused government bond yields to fall (and bond prices to rise) in the first quarter. However, as volatility began to decline in April, yields moved higher again. During the second half, bonds with shorter maturity dates saw yields rise as prospects for further rate hikes increased. By the end of the review period, the 10-year US Treasury yield had risen to 3.84%; the 10-year German government bond fell to 2.39%; and the 10-year UK Gilt yield ended at 4.38%.

At the start of the year, the Fund held a short position in the euro versus the Czech koruna and a long position in the euro versus the US dollar. The manager also added a long position in Greek government bonds versus German government bonds and reduced its short duration positioning while maintaining a short duration position in five-year German government bonds. In the latter half of the period, a long position in Ireland versus Germany and a short in France versus the Netherlands and Belgium was maintained, as well as a long Spain versus Portugal position. The Fund also entered a strategic long UK Gilts versus German government bonds position and shifted a short duration position in five-year German government bonds to 30-year maturities given the rapid flattening of the yield curve.

An overweight position in credit risk contributed to performance, as credit spreads tightened. Security selection was mostly positive, with a significant contribution from an overweight in banks. Duration positioning (which measures sensitivity to interest rates) and yield curve positioning detracted in January, as the Fund was positioned for short duration. In February, a reduction in short duration positioning boosted performance. However, a strategic short duration position in five-year German government bonds subsequently detracted, as government bond yields declined amid the banking sector crisis. Conversely, a long Mexico versus Germany position added to performance. Duration and yield curve positioning were positive in April and June owing to a short position in five-year German government bonds, as yields rose during those months. The Fund ended the period overweight senior and Tier 2 banks, transport and automotives, and was underweight the cyclical consumer, healthcare and basic materials sectors.

Though the manager expects the US, UK and Europe to avoid recessions in 2023, further interest rate increases appear highly likely, as inflation, though falling, is still elevated. Inflation is expected to continue to fall and decline more rapidly so long as wage inflation does not accelerate. Therefore, the peak in interest rates is probably close; the manager expects they should be lower by the end of 2024.

BNY MELLON EUROPEAN CREDIT FUND

During the six months under review, the Fund's Euro A share class returned 2.31%, net of fees, compared with 2.16% for the Markit iBoxx Euro Corporates Index TR and 2.03% for the Lipper Bond EUR Corporates sector average, all in euro terms.

The Fund generated a positive return, outperforming both its benchmark and the sector average.

High inflation, the US regional banking crisis and UBS's takeover of Credit Suisse dominated market sentiment during the period. Inflationary pressures outweighed concerns over worsening economic conditions and the possibility of recession, compelling three major central banks to raise interest rates: the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank, and the Bank of England all delivered multiple rate hikes in the first six months of 2023.

Markets witnessed significant volatility during the period amid the US and European banking crisis, which caused government bond yields to fall (and bond prices to rise) in the first quarter. However, as volatility began to decline in April, yields moved higher again. During the second half of the review period, bonds with shorter maturity dates saw yields rise again as prospects for further rate hikes increased. By the end of the period, the US 10-year Treasury yield had risen to 3.84%, the 10-year UK Gilt to 4.31% and the 10-year German Bund to 2.39%. Credit continued to hold up well; spreads tightened, reflecting the strong risk-on sentiment and indicating market participants are less concerned about defaults or a deep recession.

The Fund's overweight credit risk positioning contributed to performance. Security selection was also positive, particularly from allocations to Permanent TSB Group, Bank of Cyprus and Credit Suisse (in the first quarter) and to Banco de Sabadell and BP Capital Markets in the second. Interest rate positioning was positive for returns in the latter part of the period. On the other hand, sector strategy detracted from performance owing to positions in energy in January, banks in February, and utilities in March and April. The Fund ended the period overweight utilities and underweight senior insurance and maintained an underweight duration position relative to the benchmark throughout the first half of the year due to the manager's view on rates.

The Fund added several new issues during the period, including from Sabadell, Morgan Stanley, Schneider Electric, Realty Income, Société Générale and Svenska Handelsbanken. It also bought Ford, Mercedes-Benz, VIA Outlet, BP Capital Markets, Koninklijke Ahold Delhaize, Amprion, BASF, Cellnex Telecom, Banco Santander,

BNY MELLON GLOBAL BOND FUND

Over the six-month review period, the Fund's USD A share class returned 0.03%, net of fees, compared with a return of 0.91% for the JP Morgan Global Government Bond Index (Unhedged) TR, in US dollar terms. The Fund produced a marginally positive return but underperformed its benchmark.

The main reason for the underperformance was a rally in bond markets and a sell-off in the US dollar between the Fund and benchmark's pricing times.

The Fund's emerging market government bond holdings boosted returns, especially the local-currency positions in Colombia. Local-currency Mexican and Indonesian government bonds also performed well. Short positions in government bond futures contributed positively; interest rates continued to rise, which caused bond markets to sell off, especially in the second quarter of the year. A short position in Australian three-year futures was the largest contributor among these derivatives, as yields jumped higher following a hawkish decision by the Reserve Bank of Australia to raise interest rates further. Yield curve positioning in the US, which was biased toward the long end and away from short-and intermediate-dated issues, proved advantageous; rising interest rate expectations led to further yield curve inversion, with greater yield increases at the front end of the yield curve. The Fund's underweight to UK duration (which measures sensitivity to interest rates) proved beneficial – Gilts continued to underperform as inflation figures exceeded market expectations.

The Fund's overweight positions in Australia and New Zealand government bonds were initially beneficial, as government bond yields in both markets followed US Treasury yields down in the first quarter. However, they ultimately detracted from returns as yield curves flattened amid stubborn inflation and increased interest rate expectations. The Fund's exposure to longer-dated Gilts also weighed on returns. Active currency positioning delivered a negative return. Losses on a long position in the Japanese yen outweighed gains made on a short position in the Philippine peso.

In the first quarter, investment activity was concentrated on shorter-maturity bonds. The manager purchased call options on five-year US Treasuries and added to the Fund's holdings of five-year US Treasury Inflation-Protected Securities. The Fund decreased its position in three-year Australian and five-year Canadian maturities by selling futures. Later in the period, exposure to government bonds in New Zealand, Norway and Canada was added as valuations became more attractive. Additionally, the manager increased exposure to local-currency emerging market sovereigns, notably in Mexico and Malaysia, while selling Chinese renminbi-denominated supranational securities after yields fell.

Turning to currencies, in June the manager introduced a long Australian dollar position and unhedged some of the Fund's Indian bond exposure. In addition, most of the euro long position and temporarily hedged Mexican peso exposure was closed following a strong run.

The manager's view is that economic growth will falter and inflation will cool as the impact of stricter monetary policy takes effect on the global economy. This has been reflected in the Fund's positioning: the duration underweight has gradually been reduced, and buying has been focused on the shorter end of the yield curve. Regarding currencies, the manager prefers emerging market currencies in countries where central banks have been proactive in addressing inflation.

BNY MELLON GLOBAL CREDIT FUND

Over the six months under review, the Fund's USD W (Acc.) share class returned 3.28%, net of fees, compared with 2.99% for the Bloomberg Barclays Global Aggregate Credit TR Index (hedged to U.S. Dollars) and 2.78% for the Lipper Bond Global Corporates USD average, all in US dollar terms. The Fund generated a positive return and outperformed both its benchmark and the sector average.

During the period, monetary tightening, elevated inflation, the banking crisis in the US and Europe, and geopolitical tensions dominated investor concerns. The first six months of 2023 witnessed significant volatility amid heightened inflation, the US regional banking crisis and the takeover of Credit Suisse by UBS. As a result, government yields fell in the first three months of 2023. However, prompt action by policymakers calmed investors, which led to a beginning in the decline of volatility and the consequent move higher in yields again. During the second half, bonds with shorter maturity dates saw yields rise again as prospects for further interest rate hikes increased.

For the six-month period ending June 30, security selection, sector selection, credit strategy positioning, interest rate positioning, macro positions, duration positioning (which measures sensitivity to interest rates) and a long position on European versus US investment grade credit were among the contributors to performance. Conversely, detractors from performance included macro rates positioning, duration positioning, yield curve positioning, country allocation and foreign currency positions across different months.

In terms of activity, by the end of June 2023, the manager had adopted a market neutral position. Additions were made to the Fund's long cash credit short credit default swap position, as the valuation differential became more attractive.

While inflation has declined, it is still running comfortably ahead of central banks' targets. In addition, with labour markets remaining tight, markets are starting to reassess how long the hiking cycle will continue. Looking ahead, the manager believes the inflationary environment is likely to moderate, the pace of policy tightening is expected to ease, and China and Europe will potentially witness encouraging growth.

The manager continues to see opportunity in relative value and idiosyncratic trades, with issuer and regional dispersion higher than it has been for some time while viewing euro-denominated credit as attractive. The next phase of the cycle is likely to involve slower growth and lower margins, resulting in the Fund's quality bias and a preference for more defensive sectors.

BNY MELLON GLOBAL DYNAMIC BOND FUND

Over the six-month period under review, the Fund's USD A share class generated a return of 1.78%, net of fees, compared with a return of 3.33% for the SOFR (30-Day Compounded) + 2%. The Fund generated a positive return but underperformed its comparative benchmark.

Currency positioning detracted from performance over the period. Most specifically, losses on a long position in the Japanese yen outweighed gains made on the short Philippine peso position and long Mexican peso and Brazilian real. During the second quarter of 2023, the Fund's holdings in developed market government bonds weakened. The largest detractors were long-dated securities held across the US, Australia and New Zealand. Exposure to high yield corporate bonds also weighed on performance during the second half of the period, with holdings in real estate bonds Shimao and Greenland Global, as well as an Asian high yield bond fund, performing poorly.

On the positive side, exposure to emerging market sovereign bonds provided the main contribution. Positions in local currency Colombian, Brazilian, and Mexican bonds were among the top performers. During the second quarter of 2023, short positions in government bond futures partially offset losses on holdings of long-dated securities. A short position in Australia three-year futures was the largest contributor, as bond yields climbed higher in response to the Reserve Bank of Australia raising interest rates again.

Regarding portfolio activity, the manager increased the duration of the Fund over the period. (Duration measures sensitivity to interest rates.) This was largely achieved by adding exposure to developed government bond markets – initially, through longer-dated US Treasuries and Australian government bonds, and subsequently by adding exposure to the UK and Norway, as well as five-year US Treasury Inflation-Protected Securities. In the emerging bond markets, the manager increased exposure to local currency emerging market sovereign bonds through purchases of Brazilian and Colombian debt. Other positions were sold, including Chinese renminbi-denominated supranational securities and South African bonds. Exposure to hard currency bonds was also reduced, as holdings of Peruvian and Bolivian securities were sold following spread tightening.

In the corporate bond markets, the Fund's exposure to high yield securities was reduced as risks of recession rose early in the year, owing to higher interest rates. Among currencies, the Fund's short position in the US dollar was increased while exposure to the euro was raised on the manager's view that the latter would benefit from rising interest rate differentials amid European Central Bank hawkishness. Subsequently, a long position in the Australian dollar was introduced in April, and a Czech koruna long position was added in May. In June, the manager added to a long position in the Brazilian real while closing out a long position in the euro.

Looking ahead, global economic growth seems likely to slow as the impact of interest rate hikes from the major central banks takes effect. Accordingly, some caution is warranted, and so the Fund's low weighting in high yield bonds has been maintained. Among currencies, the manager favours emerging markets, in countries where central banks have been proactive in addressing inflation and real (i.e. inflation-adjusted), interest rates are exceptionally high.

BNY MELLON GLOBAL HIGH YIELD BOND FUND

Over the six-month period under review, the Fund's USD C share class returned 4.86%, net of fees, against 5.46% for the ICE BofA Developed Markets High Yield Constrained TR Index (USD Hedged). The Fund generated a positive return but underperformed its benchmark.

Investor sentiment began to improve at the end of the period as the fear of macroeconomic risks decreased in tandem with a reassessment of US Federal Reserve (Fed) policy in June. Global high yield spreads tightened over US Treasuries, and performance was positive across the quality spectrum, with lower-rated credits performing the strongest through June. The average price for the ICE BofA Developed Markets High Yield Constrained Index increased from the end of 2022. US high yield mutual funds reported outflows through June, while European high yield funds saw small inflows during the same period.

Security selection proved positive, as strong selection in the services and telecommunications sectors contributed to performance. This was partially offset by weaker selection in utilities and finance. Sector allocation was modest; underweight positioning in the broadcasting and cable sectors contributed. This was partially offset by underweight exposure to leisure and overweight exposure to telecommunications. The Fund's allocations to bank loans, collateralised loan obligations and cash proved positive.

In terms of positioning, the manager moderated the Fund's exposure to lower-quality issuers and is finding attractive opportunities (both relative and absolute) across higher-quality issuers. The Fund remains underweight cyclical exposure. BB rated bonds account for the Fund's largest credit quality exposure; higher-rated single Bs remains well represented, and CCC rated exposure is slightly overweight. Overall, the manager thinks credit selection will be a critical driver of performance in 2023.

Given the ongoing reduction in inflationary pressures and slowing yet steady economic data (especially in the US), the manager thinks spreads will be fairly range-bound for the remainder of 2023 and are unlikely to widen materially. This will be helped in part by the strength of corporate balance sheets accrued in recent years and current solid employment figures. The manager expects US interest rate activity to stabilise in the second half of the year following the aggressive action seen since 2022 but believes we could see additional interest rate rises from the Bank of England and European Central Bank.

Nonetheless, it is likely certain cyclical sectors, including chemicals, metals & mining and building materials, will experience more challenged operating environments. Those sectors sensitive to discretionary and advertising spending, such as retail, consumer products and broadcasting, could also see softer earnings. However, the manager remains comfortable taking capital risks across sectors that are reliant on more defensive end markets, including packaging for food & beverages, insurance and healthcare. Finally, the Fund remains cautious on sectors that will require consistent access to funding, these include the cable, wireline and fibre industries.

BNY MELLON GLOBAL SHORT-DATED HIGH YIELD BOND FUND

Over the six-month period under review, the Fund's USD A (Acc.) share class returned 6.25%, net of fees, compared with a return of 2.23% for the SOFR (90-Day Compounded) both in US dollar terms.

The Fund generated a positive return and outperformed its benchmark.

Bond markets were highly volatile over the first quarter, swayed by macroeconomic factors including a changing inflation picture, higher interest rates, recessionary fears and instability in the banking sector. Credit spreads widened on the impact of two US regional bank failures and the takeover of Credit Suisse by UBS. During the second quarter, high and persistent inflation scuppered the view that major central banks were at the end of their tightening cycles. Overall, risk assets generally performed well over the period.

Non-distressed bonds held onto price gains, while distressed bonds were dragged down in March by fears over the stability of the banking sector. Also, rising interest rates, as major central banks continued to battle against inflation, failed to dent investor confidence with risk assets generally performing well as spreads tightened further. The Fund's performance was largely driven by stock selection, avoidance of banks and taking advantage of market dislocation. Also, a rigorous stock selection process with a focus on companies that generate free cash flow, and thus are able to pay higher interest rates when refinancing, helped the Fund to avoid defaults. In particular, avoidance of banks and bonds with a low credit rating contributed significantly. In May and June, allocation to the European market also boosted relative returns.

Top sector contributors were telecommunications, chemicals and pharmaceuticals in January; automotives, pharmaceuticals and chemicals in February; and automotives and entertainment in March. To a lesser degree, outperformance was helped by the Fund's shorter overall duration compared to the market. In June, the US high yield market recovered, with the best-performing sectors being wirelines, brokerage exchanges, media, leisure and building materials. In European high yield, leisure, metals & mining and other industrial sectors contributed the most. Issuance increased over the period and has already surpassed last year's levels.

Over the period, the Fund used free cash to add attractive new opportunities, reducing exposure to CCC-rated assets and deploying capital into more stable companies. The Fund ended the period with an average duration (which measures sensitivity to interest rates) of two years and telecommunications, chemicals and automotive among its top sectors.

The manager expects spreads to tighten into the summer owing to declining issuance, high investor cash positions, low bond inventories, as well as hedge funds covering their short positions. Refinancing activity is expected to increase from September, which is when Investors will likely deploy capital into the European high yield market. However, given the current rate volatility, the manager remains cautious and prefers not to deploy capital until short-term rates stabilise.

BNY MELLON SUSTAINABLE GLOBAL DYNAMIC BOND FUND

Over the six-month period under review, the Euro W (Acc.) share class of the Fund generated a return of 1.24%, compared with a return of 2.37% for 1 month EURIBOR +2%. The Fund produced a positive return but underperformed its comparative benchmark.

The greatest positive contribution came from the Fund's holdings in local currency emerging market government bonds, particularly those in Colombia. Mexico and Peru also contributed, although the Fund's Bolivian exposure detracted from returns. In the first quarter, the Fund benefited from longer-dated government bonds, including Australia and New Zealand, as bond yields fell. Slightly offsetting this, short positions through government bond futures, in Italy and Germany in particular, delivered small losses.

Both high yield and investment grade credit delivered positive returns. In both asset classes, losses on holdings of additional tier 1 (AT1) bonds were more than offset by gains made on other holdings such as the high yield Heimstaden bonds and the investment grade JP Morgan and other US dollar-denominated corporate securities.

Long-dated US Treasuries detracted from returns, most notably the 2050 bond, as interest rates continued to rise. As yield curves flattened, the largest detractors were long-dated securities held across the US, Australia and New Zealand. However, short positions in government bond futures almost fully offset these losses. A short position in Australia three-year futures was the largest contributor among these derivatives, as bond yields jumped higher following a hawkish decision by the Reserve Bank of Australia to raise interest rates again. The Fund's currency exposure was negative, partly due to short positions in the Chilean peso and Czech koruna, and long positions in the Swedish krona and Japanese yen.

Regarding portfolio activity, the manager increased duration. This was achieved largely by adding exposure to various government bond markets, including the US, the UK and Norway. Duration was also added through purchases of emerging market sovereign bonds. Exposure in this area included long-dated hard currency Brazil bonds as well as local currency Brazil, Bahamas and Uruguay securities. A position in hard-currency Bolivia bonds was exited. Slightly offsetting this, the manager initiated short positions in Australian three-year and US two-year government bond futures. Investment grade credit exposure was raised, through highly rated sterling covered bonds, such as Lloyds and the Commonwealth of Australia. Sales included Dollar General, American Express and Volkswagen.

Turning to currencies, with a US recession expected to occur before a European one, the manager increased the short position in the US dollar and increased exposure to the euro, although the long euro position was later reduced on profit-taking. Mexican and Uruguayan peso exposure was also increased, while a short position was taken in the Philippine peso. Australian and Czech koruna long positions were introduced later in the period.

In the second half of 2023, the manager believes that economic growth will suffer and inflation will cool as the impact of central bank policy tightening is felt. Against this backdrop, the Fund remains biased towards government bond exposure, while continuing to maintain a low weighting in high yield bonds. In relation to currencies, the manager favours emerging market currencies in countries where central banks have been proactive in addressing inflation.

BNY MELLON TARGETED RETURN BOND FUND

Over the six months under review, the Fund's USD A (Acc.) share class returned 3.20%, net of fees, compared with 1.99% for the LIPPER Bond Global USD average. The Fund generated a positive return and outperformed its sector average.

Markets witnessed significant volatility during the period, as a narrowly avoided US and European banking crisis temporarily elevated spreads and depressed yields. However, as volatility declined in April, bond yields rose again. During the second half of the review period, yields on short-dated 'safe haven' assets rose most significantly, as inflation and activity data remained unexpectedly robust. Benchmark 10-year US Treasury yields rose to 3.84%; the 10-year German government bond yield fell to 2.39%, and the 10-year UK Gilt yield ended higher at 4.39%. Inflationary pressures outweighed concerns over worsening economic conditions and the possibility of recessions, compelling major central banks to raise interest rates; the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England each delivered multiple hikes in the first six months of the year.

The Fund's overweight to corporate credit and other risk assets were the main drivers of the Fund's performance during the period under review. On the other side, the Fund's overweight to developed market duration provided a partial offset to returns, as yields shifted higher globally and fixed income assets suffered. Currency positioning was also among the detractors during the period, with the first quarter accruing the bulk of the negative returns.

BNY MELLON U.S. MUNICIPAL INFRASTRUCTURE DEBT FUND

Over the six-month review period, the Fund's USD C share class returned 3.76%, compared with a return of 3.72% for its custom benchmark comprising 50% Bloomberg Barclays U.S. Municipal Bond TR Index, and 50% Bloomberg Barclays Taxable U.S. Municipal Bond TR Index.

During the first quarter, the Fund's strategic positioning of an overweight to taxable bonds helped maintain income generation, contributing to the Fund's outperformance of tax-exempt municipals. Sector allocation also added to returns. US Treasuries and corporate investment grade bonds made gains year to date, amid further market volatility and tightening credit spreads. In June, the strategic positioning of an overweight to taxable bonds (to defend the Fund's yield) helped maintain income generation but underperformed tax-exempt municipals.

At the end of the review period, the Fund had a marginally long duration positioning (which measures sensitivity to interest rates) relative to the benchmark. The average portfolio credit quality was A+ compared with the benchmark's weighted average credit rating of AA-.

The Fund invests in issuers across a large number of US states, although the economically more significant and populous states do feature as domicile for a significant proportion of the securities held in the portfolio. The top five exposures represented around 50% of the Fund, comprising bond issuers within California, New York, Florida, Texas and Illinois.

Revenue bonds continued to be favoured by the Fund, which held close to 84.1% of these bonds compared with the benchmark's 67.9%. Subsector overweight positions by June-end included hospitals, transportation, education and airports. The manager believes these sectors will continue to benefit from strong domestic activity in the US, as well positioned issuers had good liquidity pre-pandemic.

The manager's 2023 outlook for the municipal bond market remains positive given the limited supply and investor inflows. Issuance is likely to increase modestly and mutual fund outflows could see sustained reversal in the event that interest rates stabilise. The manager expects volatility to remain elevated in the near term, but it could be lower throughout the year.

Against such a backdrop, the manager views municipal bonds as a valuable asset class owing to attractive yields and relatively stable credit quality. In the current environment, the Fund's tilt is toward an overweight allocation to short-dated bonds for liquidity and re-investment opportunities coupled with an allocation to longer-dated bonds.

RESPONSIBLE HORIZONS EM DEBT IMPACT FUND*

The Sub Fund launched on 24 January 2023.

During the period from inception on 24 January 2023 to 30 June 2023, the Fund's USD W (Acc.) share class returned -0.34%, net of fees. Its benchmark, the JP Morgan EM Credit Green, Social & Sustainability Bond Diversified Index, returned 0.85%. The Fund generated a negative return and underperformed its benchmark.

Macroeconomic concerns related to China and the developed markets dominated sentiment across riskier assets. Market participants witnessed significant intra-period volatility driven by elevated inflation, a limited banking crisis and geopolitical tensions. In emerging markets, investment grade versus high yield spread differentials were broadly unchanged for corporates during the first quarter, while spreads decompressed for sovereign bonds.

RESPONSIBLE HORIZONS EM DEBT IMPACT FUND* cont'd

During the second half of the review period, spreads compressed across risk assets: emerging market sovereign high yield, high yield credit and investment grade spreads all tightened. Overall, supply in both the emerging market corporate and sovereign markets was somewhat muted. However, impact bond issuance continued apace.

At the end of the review period, the Fund was positioned with a slight bias toward B rated issuers versus those rated AAA or AA. In addition, on impact and valuations, the Fund targets more diversified regional exposure than the index. Each of the Fund's investments are aligned with one or more of 16 of the 17 UN Sustainable Development Goals, with a particular focus on renewable energy and telecommunications infrastructure, given the manager's conviction in the attractive opportunities that exist in those areas.

Highlights from the Fund's first five months included investment in a blue bond from an issuer targeting sustainable marine vessels; a Costa Rican telecom building critical infrastructure; and a gender-equality bond financing projects to help women borrowers access essential services. The Fund was also invested in a geothermal energy producer and an Eastern European green bond intended to finance affordable green residential property and renewable energy.

By the end of the period, 78% of the Fund's assets were invested in impact bonds and 20% in bonds from impact issuers. The remaining 2% was held in cash and cash equivalents.

The manager will practice caution over the short-term, as an improving emerging market outlook will be challenged by the uncertain macroeconomic backdrop in developed markets. Furthermore, inverted yield curves are continuing to skew flows. Regardless, the manager believes that, taking a long-term view, emerging market yields are structurally attractive, and fundamentals relatively resilient.

The manager is positive on the opportunities that exist for impact-focused emerging market strategies given the rapidly expanding investment universe, improvement in impact data and growing issuer interest. Should the US Treasury curve normalise and the developed market backdrop improve, opportunities to add risk should arise, enhancing both potential returns and impact.

RESPONSIBLE HORIZONS EURO CORPORATE BOND FUND

Over the six-month period under review, the Fund's Euro W (Acc) share class returned 2.14%, net of fees, compared with 2.18% for the Bloomberg Barclays Euro Aggregate Corporate Total Return Index and 2.02% for the Lipper Bond EUR Corporates average. Accordingly, the Fund generated a positive return and underperformed its benchmark but came in ahead of the sector average.

High inflation, the US regional banking crisis and the takeover of Credit Suisse by UBS dominated market sentiment. Inflationary pressures outweighed concerns over worsening economic conditions and the possibility of recession, compelling the US Federal Reserve (Fed), the European Central Bank (ECB) and the Bank of England (BoE) to deliver three interest rate hikes each in the first six months of 2023. Government bonds outperformed, and credit markets delivered mixed returns during the first quarter amid concerns over the banking crisis. Toward the second half of the period, risk markets performed well against a less noisy macroeconomic backdrop and the apparent resilience of companies despite rising rates (low default levels and good second-quarter results).

The Fund's sector allocation, overweight positions in senior banks, and underweight in foods and beverages detracted the most from performance in the first quarter, with sector allocation also detracting in the second quarter. Duration (which measures sensitivity to interest rates) and yield curve positioning were further detractors. By contrast, security selection and credit risk positioning contributed over the period. The Fund's duration and yield curve positioning also added to overall performance.

During the period, the manager added five new bank issues in the primary market: Sabadell, Credit Agricole, Groupe BPCE and Société Générale, and Svenska Handelsbanken. A new position was also added in Dutch retailer Ahold Delhaize. In the secondary market, holdings were added in Booking Holdings, Logicor Financing Sarl, Unicaja Banco, Credit Mutuel Arkea, Unibail-Rodamco-Westfield, Evonik Industries, Deutsche Telekom and AstraZeneca. Conversely, exposure was trimmed in Barclays, Commerzbank, ABANCA Corporación Bancaria, UBS, Électricité de France, La Banque Postale, Morgan Stanley, Schneider Electric, Richemont International and ASR Nederland.

RESPONSIBLE HORIZONS EURO CORPORATE BOND FUND cont'd

By the end of the six-month period, 37.3% of the Fund was invested in impact bonds (benchmark: 18.9%), up from 32.6% at the beginning of the period. More generally, the weighted average environmental, social and corporate governance (ESG) score is 2.1 versus the benchmark's 2.3. The lower the score, within the 1-5 range, the better the ESG performance. These scores are derived from Insight's Prime ESG rating methodology. Furthermore, the Fund's carbon intensity is 65.74% of the index's score (carbon intensity measures how much carbon dioxide is generated by issuers relative to revenue). The manager aims to invest in a higher percentage of impact bonds than the index (and thereby lower the Fund's ESG score) to fulfil a commitment to responsible investing and sustainability.

The manager believes European investment grade issues from global companies as a way to benefit from the wider spreads that are on offer while limiting exposure to the weaker European economic environment. However, while these economies have been unexpectedly resilient, the manager also believes a period of sub-trend growth is likely that could exert downward pressure on margins over the medium term.

Insight Investment Management (Global) Limited

RESPONSIBLE HORIZONS EURO IMPACT BOND FUND

For the six-month period under review, the Fund's Euro W (Acc.) share class returned 2.15%, net of fees, compared with 2.25% for Bloomberg Barclays MSCI Euro Corporate Green Bond Index, both in euro terms. The Fund generated a positive return but slightly trailed its benchmark.

Inflation, the US regional banking crisis and the takeover of Credit Suisse by UBS dominated market sentiment during the period. Inflationary pressures outweighed concerns over worsening economic conditions and recession, compelling the US Federal Reserve (Fed), the European Central Bank (ECB), and the Bank of England (BoE) to deliver three interest rate hikes each in the first six months.

The markets witnessed significant volatility during the period, amid the US and European banking crisis, which caused government yields to fall in the first quarter. However, volatility lessened at the beginning of April, which pushed yields higher again. In June, market expectations changed to further official rate rises as opposed to cuts that had previously been expected for late 2023 and 2024. Government bond yields rose as rate expectations repriced.

Against a less noisy macroeconomic backdrop and the apparent resilience of companies despite rising rates (low default levels and good second-quarter results), risk markets performed well in the second half of the period. The Bloomberg US Aggregate Corporate Index spread tightened by 15 basis points and the Bloomberg Euro Aggregate Corporate Index spread tightened by 7 basis points over the quarter. High yield was particularly strong, with the Bloomberg US Aggregate High Yield Index and the Pan-European High Yield Index tightening by 65 basis points and 38 basis points, respectively. The euro bond market was also in positive territory over the six-month period.

Security selection was the biggest contributor to performance. This was driven by an underweight position in Thames Water, which sold off amid concerns surrounding the CEO's resignation and the equity injections required. An overweight position in Credit Suisse also contributed, on the back of UBS's takeover and subsequent credit spread compression.

Conversely, sector allocation detracted from performance, mainly from an underweight position in property. The underweight in property is driven by the Fund's impact bond assessment framework, which aims to help identify bonds that fulfil the manager's minimum expectations with regard to sustainability. The framework currently rates various property green bonds as red, excluding them from the Fund's investment universe.

In terms of activity, the Fund added green bond issues from Ahold Delhaize, NGL, E.ON, Elliott, Engie, Kutxa Bank, RCI Banque, Bank of Ireland, Mercedes-Benz and NN Group. Besides, a social bond issue from Natwest and a green hybrid issue from Telefonica were also added. As of the end of June, the Fund is overweight banks, utilities, autos, pharma and underweight property and energy.

Going forward, the Fund aims to utilise the unique opportunities available in public fixed income markets to achieve a transparent, diversified impact alongside a corporate market rate of return.

BNY MELLON GLOBAL REAL RETURN FUND (EUR)

Over the six-month period under review, the Fund's Euro A share class returned -3.38%, net of fees, compared with a return of 3.37% for the 1 month EURIBOR +4%, both in euro terms. The Fund generated a negative return and underperformed its comparative benchmark.

Negative returns in the stabilising layer were the main reason behind the Fund's weakness over the period. This was largely due to the negative contribution from derivative instruments, specifically protection against falling markets which represented a cost as equity markets rallied. Gold was a mild detractor, falling as bond yields continued to rise and because of the more risk-on tone in markets.

Conversely, the return-seeking core added value, with global equities contributing the most. Strong stock contributors included NVIDIA, which occupies a dominant position as a vendor of hardware components to facilitate artificial intelligence (AI) and was boosted by robust first-quarter results. Microsoft enjoyed the halo effect around AI, and technology more broadly, given its part ownership of AI chatbot ChatGPT. Booking Holdings and Ryanair benefited from improved confidence and travel among European consumers. Laggards were dominated by banking and oil & gas stocks. The largest single detractor was US energy firm ConocoPhillips, which was affected by weakness in the oil price, followed by European banks ING and BNP Paribas. On the positive side, emerging market debt contributed to returns owing to the perception that bond yields were close to peak levels and a less aggressive inflation outlook. However, corporate bonds and alternatives were mildly negative contributors. Exposure to European and UK contingent convertible bonds, including a small position in Credit Suisse, was affected by the unprecedented decision by the Swiss regulator to subordinate bondholders to equity investors in relation to the collapse of Credit Suisse. In alternatives, weakness was seen in the renewables and infrastructure holdings owing to a combination of rising bond yields, collateral calls by UK pension funds employing LDI (liability-driven investing) strategies, and new regulations on fee disclosures.

In the return-seeking core, new positions were initiated in Munich Re, and travel technology company Amadeus. Emerging market debt exposure was bolstered through the purchase of South African sovereign debt. Exposure to contingent convertible securities was halved in recognition of the changed fundamentals of the asset class. Towards the end of the quarter, the manager switched a significant portion of the direct equity market protection into put options on the S&P 500 Index, thereby enabling the Fund to participate more fully in the upside, while providing additional downside protection through to early 2024. The position in gold was trimmed and the proceeds reallocated to short-dated government debt, given the increasingly attractive high yields.

Markets continue to shrug off worrying signs, notably an inverted yield curve, weaker leading indicators, tightening liquidity conditions and narrow equity market participation. For this reason, the manager believes that a significant insulating layer needs to be in place to protect against any significant market downturn. In the manager's view, it is prudent, to wait on the sidelines rather than materially increase exposure to equities (or other risk assets) which appear overvalued.

Emerging market debt exposure was bolstered through the purchase of South African sovereign debt. Exposure to contingent convertible securities was halved in recognition of the changed fundamentals of the asset class. Towards the end of the quarter, the manager switched a significant portion of the direct equity market protection into put options on the S&P 500 Index, thereby enabling the Fund to participate more fully in the upside, while providing additional downside protection through to early 2024. The position in gold was trimmed and the proceeds reallocated to short-dated government debt, given the increasingly attractive high yields.

Markets continue to shrug off worrying signs, notably an inverted yield curve, weaker leading indicators, tightening liquidity conditions and narrow equity market participation. For this reason, the manager believes that a significant insulating layer needs to be in place to protect against any significant market downturn. In the manager's view, it is prudent to wait on the sidelines, rather than materially increase exposure to equities (or other risk assets) which appear overvalued.

BNY MELLON GLOBAL UNCONSTRAINED FUND

Over the six-month review period, the Fund's W (Acc.) share class returned 8.88%, net of fees, compared with a return of 8.64% for the MSCI AC World/JP Morgan GBI (60:40) benchmark, in US dollar terms. The Fund generated a positive return and outperformed its benchmark.

Stock selection was the key driver of the Fund's returns. Asset allocation also made a positive contribution, as the Fund benefited from its underweight position in bonds.

At the stock level, the top-performing position was US industrial Hubbell, which performed well on confidence that secular tailwinds in grid and electrification have left the business well-placed to weather any cyclical slowdown. Technology-related stocks were well represented amongst the portfolio's top contributors, notably holdings in German business software provider SAP, Microsoft, semiconductor equipment provider Applied Materials and Alphabet, owner of search engine Google. The technology sector rode a wave of positive sentiment after US chipmaker NVIDIA released earnings guidance that greatly exceeded market expectations, driven by a surge in demand for chips used in generative artificial intelligence (AI) systems. Significantly, both Alphabet and Microsoft highlighted the integration of AI across their product platforms.

However, the Fund does not hold the aforementioned NVIDIA or Meta Platforms, the owner of Facebook, which detracted from performance. Likewise, not holding a position in electric-car maker Tesla was detrimental to returns. Elsewhere, the Fund's holding in Hong Kong-based insurer AIA lost ground as market confidence in the viability of the financial sector was undermined by the failure of Silicon Valley Bank and Signature Bank in the US, and the takeover of Credit Suisse by rival Swiss bank UBS, orchestrated by the Swiss regulators.

Regarding portfolio activity, a new position was initiated in Rentokil Initial, the world's leading commercial pest-control company and a market leader in hygiene services. The company issued encouraging first quarter results, alongside indications that the acquisition of US rival Terminix is progressing well. The manager also initiated a holding in a French industrial software business Dassault Systèmes, which has dominant positions in aerospace, automobile and life sciences industries. Other notable additions included US healthcare-industrial conglomerate Danaher, Danish enzyme producer Novozymes, Swiss pharmaceutical group Roche, and US entertainment group Universal Music.

The holding in US housebuilder Toll Brothers was sold after a period of strong share price performance. While new-build volumes have benefited from a lack of supply in the existing homes market, the manager's view is that the outlook for the US remains uncertain as mortgage interest rates remain high. Other disposals included positions in healthcare group Abbot Laboratories, and US insurance companies Chubb and Assurant.

In the short term, the manager believes volatility will likely be a feature of financial markets, as the global economy adjusts to the consequences of higher interest rates. Accordingly, the managers will continue to focus on those companies with more resilient earnings profiles and positive end-market outlooks.

BNY MELLON SUSTAINABLE GLOBAL REAL RETURN FUND (EUR)

Over the six-month period under review, the Fund's Euro W (Acc.) share class generated a return of -4.16%, compared with a return of 3.37% for the 1 month EURIBOR +4% comparative benchmark. The Fund produced a negative return, net of fees, and underperformed its benchmark.

Negative returns in the stabilising layer were the main reason behind the Fund's weakness over the period. This was largely due to the negative contribution from derivative instruments, specifically protection against falling markets which represented a cost as equity markets rallied. Government bonds, however, produced positive returns.

Conversely, the return-seeking core added value, with global equities contributing the most. Strong stock contributors included NVIDIA, which occupies a dominant position as a vendor of hardware components to facilitate artificial intelligence (AI), and was boosted by robust first-quarter results. Microsoft enjoyed the halo effect around AI, and technology more broadly, given its part ownership of AI chatbot ChatGPT. Booking Holdings benefited from improved confidence and travel among European consumers. On the negative side was Anglo American, which suffered from falling commodity prices and concerns about the Chinese economy. Also, Neste was negatively impacted by a disappointing investor day, while Comerica and KeyCorp also underperformed.

On the positive side, emerging market debt contributed to returns owing to the perception that bond yields were close to peak levels and a less aggressive inflation outlook. However, corporate bonds and alternatives were mildly negative contributors. Exposure to European and UK contingent convertible bonds was affected by the unprecedented decision by the Swiss regulator to subordinate bondholders to equity investors in relation to the collapse of Credit Suisse. In alternatives, weakness was seen in the renewables and infrastructure holdings owing to a combination of rising bond yields, collateral calls by UK pension funds employing LDI (liability-driven investing) strategies, and new regulations on fee disclosures.

In the return-seeking core, new positions were initiated in Munich Re, and travel technology company Amadeus. Emerging market debt exposure was bolstered through the purchase of Mexico and Brazil. Exposure to contingent convertible securities was halved in recognition of the changed fundamentals of the asset class. Towards the end of the quarter, the manager switched a significant portion of the direct equity market protection into put options on the S&P 500 Index, thereby enabling the Fund

NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

1. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The significant accounting policies and estimation techniques applied in the preparation of these financial statements are set out below:

STATEMENT OF COMPLIANCE

The condensed financial statements for the financial period ended 30 June 2023 have been prepared in accordance with Financial Reporting Standard (“FRS”) FRS 104: “Interim Financial Reporting” and Irish statute comprising the European Communities (Undertakings for Collective Investment in Transferable Securities) Regulations, 2011 (as amended) (the “UCITS Regulations”) and the Central Bank (Supervision and Enforcement) Act 2013 (Section 48(1)) (Undertakings for Collective Investment in Transferable Securities) Regulations 2019 (the “Central Bank UCITS Regulations”). The condensed financial statements should be read in conjunction with the annual report and audited financial statement for the financial year ended 31 December 2022 which have been prepared in accordance with FRS 102: “The Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the United Kingdom and the Republic of Ireland” (“FRS 102”) and Irish statute.

BASIS OF PREPARATION

The financial statements have been prepared on a going concern basis for the Company under the historical cost convention as modified by the revaluation of financial assets and liabilities held at fair value through the profit or loss.

The format and certain wordings of the financial statements has been adapted from those contained in the Companies Act 2014, as amended, so that, in the opinion of the Directors, they more appropriately reflect the nature of the Company’s business as an investment fund.

The Company has availed of the exemption available to open-ended investment funds under Section 7 “Statement of Cash Flows” of FRS 102 not to prepare a cash flow statement on the basis that substantially all of the Company’s investments are highly liquid and carried at fair value, and the Company provides a statement of changes in net assets attributable to redeemable participating shareholders.

CRITICAL ACCOUNTING ESTIMATES AND JUDGEMENTS

The preparation of financial statements requires the use of certain critical accounting estimates. It also requires the Directors to exercise its judgement in the process of applying the Company’s accounting policies. Management makes estimates and assumptions concerning the future. The estimates and assumptions that have a significant risk of causing a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities are discussed below within “Financial assets and liabilities at fair value through profit or loss – Fair value estimation”. The Company based its assumptions and estimates on parameters available when the financial statements were prepared. However, existing circumstances and assumptions about future developments may change due to market changes or circumstances arising beyond the control of the Funds. Such changes are reflected in the assumptions when they occur and are recognised prospectively.

FOREIGN CURRENCY TRANSLATION – FUNCTIONAL AND PRESENTATION CURRENCY

Items included in the Company’s financial statements are measured using the currency of the primary economic environment in which each Fund operates (the “functional currency”). The functional currency of each Fund has been evaluated by the Board of Directors based on the currency that most faithfully represents the economic effects of the underlying transactions, events, investors’ base and conditions. The financial statements of the Company are presented in US dollar, which is the Company’s presentational currency.

The functional and presentation currency of the Funds are US dollar, Euro, Sterling or Japanese yen as noted in the Statement of Financial Position.

Foreign currency assets and liabilities, including net assets attributable to redeemable participating shareholders are translated into the functional currency using the closing rate applicable at the financial period end date. Foreign currency income and expenses in the Statement of Comprehensive Income are translated into the functional currency at the exchange rates prevailing at the dates of the transactions. Proceeds from redeemable participating shares issued and the cost of redeemable participating shares redeemed are also translated into the functional currency at the exchange rates prevailing at the dates of the transactions. Foreign exchange gains and losses arising from transactions and translations are presented in the Statement of Comprehensive Income within “net gains/losses on financial assets/liabilities at fair value through profit or loss”.

FOREIGN CURRENCY TRANSLATION – FUNCTIONAL AND PRESENTATION CURRENCY cont'd.

For Company aggregation purposes, all assets and liabilities together with income and expenses for all classes of shares are translated into US dollar using the closing rate for assets and liabilities and the average rate for income and expenses including subscriptions and redemptions, as this is the currency of the primary economic environment in which the Company operates. A currency adjustment arises from the re-translation of the opening net assets at the financial period end exchange rates, as disclosed in the Statement of Changes in Net Assets Attributable to Redeemable Participating Shareholders. This method of allocation has no effect on the value of net assets allocated to the individual Funds.

FINANCIAL ASSETS AND LIABILITIES AT FAIR VALUE THROUGH PROFIT OR LOSS – CLASSIFICATION

This category has two sub-categories: financial assets and liabilities held for trading, and those designated at fair value through profit or loss at inception.

A financial asset or liability is classified as held for trading if it is acquired or incurred principally for the purpose of selling or repurchasing in the near term or if on initial recognition is part of a portfolio of identifiable financial investments that are managed together and for which there is evidence of a recent actual pattern of short-term profit taking. Derivatives are also categorised as held for trading.

Financial assets and liabilities designated at fair value through profit or loss at inception are financial instruments that are not classified as held for trading but are managed, and their performance is evaluated on a fair value basis in accordance with the investment strategy of the Funds as documented in the prospectus.

FINANCIAL ASSETS AND LIABILITIES AT FAIR VALUE THROUGH PROFIT OR LOSS – RECOGNITION, DERECOGNITION AND MEASUREMENT

Regular purchases and sales of investments are recognised on the trade date – the date on which the Company commits to purchase or sell the investment. Financial assets and liabilities at fair value through profit or loss are initially recognised at fair value. Transaction costs are expensed as incurred in the Statement of Comprehensive Income.

Financial assets and liabilities are derecognised when the rights to receive cash flows from or pay cash flows for the investments have expired or the Company has transferred substantially all risks and rewards of ownership.

Subsequent to initial recognition, all financial assets and liabilities at fair value through profit or loss are measured at fair value. Gains and losses arising from changes in the fair value of the “financial assets or financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss” category are presented in the Statement of Comprehensive Income within “net gains/(losses) on financial assets/liabilities at fair value through profit or loss” in the financial period in which they arise using the average cost method.

For hedge share class level forward foreign currency contracts, the realised and unrealised gains or losses are allocated solely to the relevant share classes. The unrealised gains or losses on hedging activities are reflected in the “financial assets or financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss” category in the Statement of Financial Position.

FINANCIAL ASSETS AND LIABILITIES AT FAIR VALUE THROUGH PROFIT OR LOSS – FAIR VALUE ESTIMATION

The fair value of financial assets and liabilities traded in active markets (such as publicly traded derivatives and trading securities) are based on quoted market prices at the financial period end date. In accordance with FRS 102, the Company has applied the recognition and measurement provisions of International Accounting Standards No. 39 “Financial Instruments: Recognition and Measurement” as adopted for use in the European Union. Accordingly, the quoted market price used for financial assets held is the mid-market price. When the Company holds derivatives with offsetting market risks, it uses mid-market prices as a basis for establishing fair values for the offsetting risk positions and applies this mid-market price to the net open position, as appropriate.

If a significant movement in fair value occurs subsequent to the valuation point of the Funds on the financial period end date, valuation techniques will be applied to determine the fair value. A significant event is any event that occurs after the last market price for a security, close of market or close of the foreign exchange, but before the Funds' valuation time that materially affects the integrity of the closing prices for any security, instrument, currency or securities affected by that event so that they cannot be considered readily available market quotations.

cont'd.

The fair value of financial assets and liabilities that are not traded in an active market (for example over-the-counter derivatives) is determined by using valuation techniques. The Company uses a variety of methods and makes assumptions that are based on market conditions existing at each reporting date. Valuation techniques used include the use of comparable recent arm's length transactions, reference to other instruments that are substantially the same, discounted cash flow analysis, option pricing models and other valuation techniques commonly used by market participants making the maximum use of market inputs and relying as little as possible on entity-specific inputs.

The carrying value less impairment provision of other receivables and payables are assumed to approximate their fair values.

The main valuation techniques of the Company are as follows:

- (a) Financial assets and liabilities listed and regularly traded on a recognised exchange and for which market quotations are readily available or traded on over-the-counter markets shall be valued at the mid-market price accordingly on the principal exchange in the market for such investment.
- (b) If the financial assets and liabilities are listed on several recognised exchanges, the mid-market price on the recognised exchange, which, in the opinion of the Directors in consultation with the relevant Investment Manager, constitutes the principal market for such assets, will be used.
- (c) If for specific financial assets or liabilities the mid-market price referred to in (a) or (b) above is not available or does not, in the opinion of the Directors in consultation with the relevant Investment Manager, reflect a fair or appropriate value, the value shall be calculated by alternative methods with care and in good faith by the Directors, as appropriate, approved for such purpose by The Bank of New York Mellon SA/NV, Dublin Branch (the "Depositary"), in consultation with the relevant Investment Manager with a view to establishing the probable realisation value for such assets.
- (d) In the event that any financial assets or liabilities are not listed or dealt on any recognised exchange, such assets shall be valued by the Directors with care and in good faith and in consultation with the relevant Investment Manager at the probable realisation value. Such probable realisation value may be determined by using a quotation from a broker.
- (e) Cash and other liquid assets are valued at their face value with interest accrued, where applicable.
- (f) Units or shares in collective investment schemes (other than those valued pursuant to (a) or (b) above), are valued at the latest available net asset value, as a best estimate of fair value of the relevant collective investment scheme.
- (g) Derivative instruments dealt on a market are fair valued at the settlement price for such instruments on such market. Where such derivative instruments are not dealt on a market, their value shall be the daily quotation from independent pricing service or market makers.
- (h) Forward foreign currency contracts are fair valued by an independent price source by reference to the price at which a new forward contract of the same size and maturity could be undertaken.
- (i) Initial margin deposits are made upon entering into futures contracts and are generally made in cash or cash equivalents. Futures contracts are fair valued based upon their quoted daily settlement prices. Changes in the value of open futures contracts are recognised as unrealised gains or losses on futures contracts until the contracts are terminated, at which time the realised gains and losses are recognised. Unrealised gains or losses on futures contracts are shown in the Schedule of Investments. The variation margin receivable or payable at the reporting date is reported as an asset or liability, as applicable, in the Statement of Financial Position.
- (j) The premium on purchased put options exercised is subtracted from the proceeds of the sale of the underlying security or foreign currency in determining the realised gain or loss. The premium on purchased call options exercised is added to the cost of the securities or foreign currencies purchased. Premiums paid from the purchase of options, which expire unexercised are treated as realised losses. The premium on written call options exercised is added to the proceeds from the sale of the underlying security or foreign currency in determining the realised gain or loss. The premium on written put options exercised is subtracted from the cost of the securities or foreign currencies purchased. Premiums received from written options, which expire unexercised are treated as realised gains.
- (k) Interest rate, credit default and total return swap contracts are fair valued daily based upon quotations from independent pricing service or market makers and the change in the value if any is recorded as unrealised gains or losses. Payments received or made as a result of the contract termination are recognised net of any upfront payment as realised gains or losses. Income on over-the-counter derivatives accrues to the Funds and is not subject to any returns sharing arrangements with BNY Mellon Fund Management (Luxembourg) S.A (the "Manager") or any other parties.
- (l) Commercial paper and time deposits are valued at amortised cost, as a best estimate of fair value. The Company may invest in financial instruments that are not traded in an active market, whereby fair value may be determined by applying valuation techniques, such as discounted cash flow analysis and other valuation techniques used by market participants.

cont'd.

- (m) Exchange traded funds are fair valued based upon quotations of the net asset value per share, as a best estimate of fair value, from independent pricing sources.
- (n) Certain Funds may enter into “TBA” (To Be Announced) purchase commitments to purchase securities for a fixed unit price at a future date beyond customary settlement time. Although the unit price has been established, the principal value has not been finalised. The Funds hold and maintain until settlement date, cash or high grade debt obligations in an amount sufficient to meet the purchase price, or the Funds may enter into offsetting contracts for the forward sale of other securities they own. Income on the securities will not be earned until settlement date. TBA purchase commitments may be considered securities in themselves and involve a risk of loss if the value of the security to be purchased declines prior to settlement date, which is in addition to the risk of decline in the value of the Funds’ other assets. Unsettled TBA purchase commitments are valued at the current market value of the underlying securities. Although the Funds may enter into TBA purchase commitments with the intention of acquiring securities for their portfolios or for delivery pursuant to option contracts that they have entered into, the Funds may dispose of a commitment prior to settlement if the Investment Manager deems it the appropriate action.
- (o) Equity swaps are priced in accordance with the pricing basis for the underlying equity positions. Finance charges on equity swaps are accrued daily, reset on a monthly basis and subject to settlement on disposal of equity swaps. Income on equity swaps accrues to the Funds and is not subject to any returns sharing arrangements with the Manager or any other parties.
- (p) Loans are fair valued based on valuations provided by the pricing vendor Markit. Fees earned or paid and the receipt of payments of principal are recorded as a component of “net gains/(losses) on financial assets/liabilities at fair value through profit or loss” in the Statement of Comprehensive Income. Where Markit is unable to provide a value for a loan, the loan is fair valued based on a quotation obtained from a loan house. Unsettled loans are fair valued based on the agreed purchase price until a valuation from pricing vendor becomes available.
- (q) Certain Funds may use Participatory Notes (“P-Notes”) that are either listed or traded on eligible markets. P-Notes provide the Funds with the opportunity for economic exposure to specific equities in restricted or emerging markets, i.e. India, Sri Lanka, Vietnam, Bangladesh, China and Brazil, where owning local equity or equity related securities might be less efficient than the use of P-Notes, leading to a reduction in costs. P-Notes are valued by reference to the mid-market price of the underlying security.

LOANS

Certain Funds of the Company may invest in direct debt instruments which are interests in amounts owed to lenders or lending syndicates by corporate, governmental, or other borrowers. A Fund’s investments in loans may be in the form of participations in loans or assignments of all or a portion of loans from third parties. A loan is often administered by a bank or other financial institution (the “lender”) that acts as agent for all holders. The agent administers the terms of the loan, as specified in the loan agreement. A Fund may invest in multiple series or tranches of a loan, which may have varying terms and carry different associated risks. A Fund generally has no right to enforce compliance with the terms of the loan agreement with the borrower. As a result, a Fund may be subject to the credit risk of both the borrower and the lender that is selling the loan agreement.

When a Fund purchases assignments from lenders, it acquires direct rights against the borrower of the loan. When investing in a loan, a Fund has the right to receive payments of principal, interest and any fees to which it is entitled only from the lender selling the loan agreement and only upon receipt of payments by the lender from the borrower.

RECEIVABLES

Receivables include cash and cash equivalents, income receivable, receivable for investments sold, expense cap receivable from the manager, margins on derivatives contracts, subscriptions receivable and other receivables. These amounts are recognised initially at fair value and subsequently measured at amortised cost.

FINANCIAL LIABILITIES AT AMORTISED COST

Financial liabilities at amortised cost include bank overdraft, payable for investments purchased, redemptions payable, expenses payable, performance fees payable, margins on derivatives contracts, cash collateral payable to broker, income payable on swaps, finance charges payable on swaps, tax payable and other payables. These amounts are recognised initially at fair value and subsequently measured at amortised cost.

OFFSETTING FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

Financial assets and liabilities are offset and the net amount reported in the Statement of Financial Position when there is a legally enforceable right to offset the recognised amounts and there is an intention to settle on a net basis or realise the asset and settle the liability simultaneously.

1. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES cont'd.

CROSS INVESTMENT

As at 30 June 2023, BNY Mellon Absolute Return Bond Fund, BNY Mellon Euroland Bond Fund and BNY Mellon European Credit Fund invest in other Funds of the Company (31 December 2022 and 30 June 2022: BNY Mellon Absolute Return Bond Fund, BNY Mellon Euroland Bond Fund and BNY Mellon European Credit Fund). These cross investments have been eliminated in the financial statements of the Company. Where a Fund invests in another Fund or Funds of the Company, these cross investments have been deducted from the total net asset value when calculating the management fees payable. The realised gains and losses, including movements in unrealised gains and losses, on the cross investments have been eliminated in the Total Company amounts disclosed in the Statement of Comprehensive Income.

CASH AND CASH EQUIVALENTS AND BANK OVERDRAFTS

Cash and cash equivalents are valued at face value, with interest accrued where applicable at relevant valuation point on the relevant business day. Cash equivalents include deposits held at call with banks and other short-term investments in an active market with original maturities of three months or less. Bank overdrafts are shown separately in the Statement of Financial Position. Unrealised gains and losses on spot currency contracts are incorporated within the balances for cash and cash equivalents and bank overdraft, respectively, effective for 30 June 2023 and 31 December 2022.

COLLATERAL

Cash collateral provided by the Funds is identified in the Statement of Financial Position as “margins on derivatives contracts” and is not included as a component of cash and cash equivalents. Cash collateral received by the Funds is identified in the Statement of Financial Position as “cash collateral received from broker”. The obligation to return the cash collateral is identified in the Statement of Financial Position as “cash collateral payable to broker”. Cash collateral received is restricted and does not form part of the Funds’ cash and cash equivalents. For collateral other than cash, if the party to whom the collateral is provided has the right by contract or custom to sell or re-pledge the collateral, the Funds classify that asset in its Statement of Financial Position separately from other assets and identify the asset as pledged collateral. Where the party to whom the collateral is provided does not have the right to sell or re-pledge, a disclosure of the collateral provided is made in the Schedule of Investments, as indicated by a “~” tick mark.

TRANSACTION COSTS

Transaction costs are costs incurred to acquire financial assets or liabilities at fair value through profit or loss. They include fees and commissions paid to agents, advisers, brokers and dealers. In respect of equities and financial derivative instruments, the transaction costs, when incurred, are immediately recognised in the Statement of Comprehensive Income as an expense and are included in the “net gains/(losses) on financial assets/liabilities at fair value through profit or loss”. In respect of all other securities, the bid ask spread is embedded in the purchase and sale price of the securities and cannot be separately verified or disclosed.

DIVIDEND INCOME

Dividend income from financial assets at fair value through profit or loss is recognised in the Statement of Comprehensive Income within “dividend income” when the right of the Funds to receive payments is established. Dividend income is shown gross of any non-recoverable withholding taxes.

DIVIDEND EXPENSE

Interest on short equity swaps is recognised in the Statement of Comprehensive Income as “Dividend expense”, which may be subject to change, dependent on periodic resetting and/or final disposal of underlying swap instruments.

INTEREST INCOME

Interest income on interest bearing financial instruments is shown as a component of “net gains/(losses) on financial assets/liabilities at fair value through profit or loss”. Bank interest income is accounted for on a cash receipts basis.

TAXATION

Under current law and practice, there is no income, gains or other taxes payable by the Funds. The Funds currently incur withholding taxes imposed by certain countries on investment income and capital gains. Withholding taxes are disclosed separately in the Statement of Comprehensive Income and net of any tax credits.

Certain Funds accrue for capital gains tax on net realised and unrealised gains on investments. The capital gains tax is recorded in accordance with the tax regulation of each relevant country and rates on Irish investors. The capital gains tax expense and the amounts payable at the financial period end are reflected in the “withholding taxes on dividends and other investment income” and “tax payable” figures in the Statement of Comprehensive Income and the Statement of Financial Position, respectively.

1. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES cont'd.

EXPENSES

Expenses are accounted for on an accruals basis. Any costs associated with the termination of a Fund are paid for by the Manager.

SECURITIES LENDING

The Company has entered into a securities lending agreement (as amended, assigned, novated and assumed) with The Bank of New York Mellon, London Branch and the Depositary. The Company can lend securities with a value of up to 100% of any one line of stock, to borrowers approved by The Bank of New York Mellon. The Company receives securities, financial instruments or other assets as collateral against the loaned securities. The Company does accept cash as collateral but does not engage in cash collateral reinvestment. Collateral held (and pending) will not be less than 102% of the value of the securities on loan. Securities lending income is accounted for on a cash receipts basis. Details of the securities lending position at the financial period end are contained in Note 13 to the financial statements.

DISTRIBUTIONS TO REDEEMABLE PARTICIPATING SHAREHOLDERS

Distributions to redeemable participating shareholders are recognised as “finance costs” in the Statement of Comprehensive Income.

REDEEMABLE PARTICIPATING SHARES

The Company issues multiple classes of redeemable participating shares within each Fund which are redeemable at the holder's option and do not have identical rights. Such shares are classified as financial liabilities.

Redeemable participating shares can be put back to the Fund at any time for cash equal to a proportionate share of the Fund's net asset value attributable to the share class. The redeemable participating shares are carried at the redemption amount that is payable at the financial period end date if the holder exercises the right to put the share back to the Fund.

Redeemable participating shares are issued and redeemed at the holder's option at prices based on the Fund's net asset value per share at the time of issue or redemption. The Fund's net asset value per share is calculated by dividing the net assets attributable to the holders of each class of redeemable participating shares with the total number of outstanding redeemable participating shares for each respective class in accordance with the provisions of the prospectus in determining the net asset value per share for subscriptions and redemptions.

DILUTION ADJUSTMENT

To mitigate the effects of dilution, the Directors may, at their discretion, make a dilution adjustment to the net asset value per share. The Directors will retain the discretion in relation to the circumstances in which to make such a dilution adjustment.

The decision to make a dilution adjustment will depend on the volume of subscriptions or redemptions of shares in the Fund. The Directors may in their discretion make a dilution adjustment if, in their opinion, the existing shareholders, in the case of subscriptions, or remaining shareholders, in the case of redemptions, might otherwise be adversely affected. In particular, the dilution adjustment may be made in the following circumstances:

- where a Fund is in continual decline (i.e. is experiencing a net outflow of redemptions);
- if the Fund is experiencing large levels of net subscriptions or net redemptions relevant to its size; and
- in any other circumstances where the Directors believe it will be in the interests of shareholders to make a dilution adjustment.

The dilution adjustment will involve adding to the net asset value per share when the Fund is in a net subscription position, and deducting from the net asset value per share when the Fund is in a net redemption position, such figure as the Directors consider represents an appropriate figure to meet transaction costs, including but not restricted to market spreads, brokerage fees and taxes, to preserve the value of the underlying assets of the relevant Fund and in any other circumstances where the Directors believe it will be in the interests of the shareholders. The resultant amount will be the price rounded to such number of decimal places, as the Directors deem appropriate.

1. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES cont'd.

Where a dilution adjustment is made, it will increase the price at which shares shall be issued when there are net subscriptions and decrease the price at which shares shall be redeemed when there are net redemptions. The price at which each class of share shall be issued or redeemed (as appropriate) will be calculated separately but any dilution adjustment will in percentage terms affect the price of each class in an identical manner. Such dilution adjustment will not exceed 2% of the Fund's net asset value under normal market conditions; however, the Directors may temporarily increase the above mentioned maximum dilution adjustment if this is deemed necessary under exceptional market conditions and in the best interests of investors. As dilution is directly related to the inflows and outflows. As dilution is directly related to the inflows and outflows from a Fund, it is not possible to accurately predict whether dilution will occur at any future point in time. Consequently, it is also not possible to accurately predict how frequently the dilution adjustment will be applied.

2. SHARE CAPITAL

AUTHORISED SHARES

The initial authorised share capital of the Company is EUR 38,092 divided into 38,092 subscriber shares of EUR 1.00 each and 25,000,000,000 at no par value initially designated as unclassified shares. The unclassified shares are available for issue as participating shares.

SUBSCRIBER SHARES

The 38,092 subscriber shares at EUR 1.00 each were all issued as fully paid and are held by the Manager. The subscriber shares do not entitle the holders to any dividend and on a winding up, entitle the holders to receive the amount paid up thereon but not otherwise to participate in the assets of the Company. The subscriber shares do not form part of the net asset value of the Company and are thus disclosed in the financial statements by way of this note only. In the opinion of the Directors, this disclosure reflects the nature of the Company's investment business.

REDEEMABLE PARTICIPATING SHARES

Redeemable participating shares carry the right to a proportionate share in the assets of the Funds and the holder of the share is entitled to one vote each on a poll. Shares are redeemed by shareholders at prices based on the value of net assets of the relevant class.

The activity on redeemable participating shares for the financial period ended 30 June 2023 is as follows:

15. RISK MANAGEMENT OBJECTIVES AND POLICIES

STRATEGY IN USING FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

The Company's investment activities expose it to the various types of risk, which are associated with the financial instruments and markets in which it invests: market risk (including market price risk, interest rate risk and currency risk), credit risk and liquidity risk. The Company has in place risk management programmes that seek to limit the potential adverse effects of these risks on the Funds' financial performances.

The assets of each Fund will be invested separately in accordance with the investment objectives and policies of the relevant Fund, which are set out in the relevant supplements to the prospectus. Where a Fund maintains in its name reference to a particular currency, country, region, economic sector or type of security, at least three quarters of the assets of that Fund will comprise investments corresponding to the relevant currency, country, region, economic sector or type of security (as appropriate).

The Funds may use FDI for efficient portfolio management purposes or to protect against foreign exchange risks. Some Funds have the facility to use FDI for investment purposes according to the Central Bank UCITS Regulations. In their Risk Management Process ("RMP") it explains whether each Fund uses the commitment approach or Value at Risk ("VaR") to calculate its global exposure. The commitment approach measures the leverage effect produced by the use of derivatives and is calculated by converting all derivative positions, whether used as part of the Fund's general investment policy, for purposes of risk reduction or for the purpose of efficient portfolio management, based on the market values of the underlying assets or contracts. VaR for a pre-defined time horizon measures the threshold loss in value of a portfolio of financial instruments that may be exceeded for a given probability (either Absolute^[1] or Relative^[2]). The quality of the VaR model forecasts is demonstrated by back-testing. As a complement to VaR, stress testing is used to evaluate the potential impact on portfolio values of extreme, although plausible, events or movements in a set of financial variables.

For a more detailed discussion, the RMP for each of the Funds is available on request.

^[1] This is defined as the VaR of the Fund capped as a percentage of NAV.

^[2] This is defined as the VaR of the Fund divided by the VaR of a benchmark or reference portfolio.

FINANCIAL RISK MANAGEMENT PROCESS

In order to achieve its investment objectives, the Company buys, sells and holds financial assets and liabilities. As a consequence, the Company is exposed to market price risk, interest rate risk, currency risk, credit risk and liquidity risk arising from the financial instruments it holds. The Company's overall risk management programme focuses on the unpredictability of financial markets and seeks to minimise potential adverse effects on the Company's financial performance. The Company uses FDI to moderate certain risk exposures.

The risk management policies employed by the Company to manage these risks are discussed below.

INVESTMENT RISK

Activities of each Fund expose it to a variety of financial risks: market risk (including market price risk, interest rate risk and currency risk), credit risk and liquidity risk.

MARKET RISK

Market risk is the risk that the fair value of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market prices. Market risk comprises three types of risk: market price risk, interest rate risk and currency risk.

MARKET PRICE RISK

Market price risk is the risk that the fair value of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market prices (other than those arising from interest rate risk and currency risk), whether those changes are caused by factors specific to individual financial instruments or its issuer, or other factors affecting similar financial instruments traded in the market.

Many of the Funds trade in financial instruments, taking positions in traded securities in the equity and equity derivative markets. The investments of the Funds are subject to market fluctuations and there can be no assurances that investments will appreciate in value, therefore presenting a risk of loss of capital.

15. RISK MANAGEMENT OBJECTIVES AND POLICIES cont'd.

MARKET PRICE RISK cont'd.

The Investment Managers manage market price risk through building diversified investment portfolios across a range of industry and/or geographic sectors as is appropriate for the Funds and in accordance with the Central Bank UCITS Regulations and the investment objectives of the Funds. An analysis of exposures to market price risk is provided in the Schedule of Investments for each Fund. The market positions of the Funds are monitored on a daily basis by the Investment Managers, reviewed on a monthly basis by the Investment Management Oversight Committee and on a quarterly basis by the Board of Directors.

The Company's market risk strategy is driven by the Company's investment risk and return objectives. The Board of Directors has instructed the Investment Managers to manage each of the risks in accordance with an established risk management system.

VaR is the risk measurement methodology used to assess the Funds' leverage and market risk volatility. When the VaR is calculated as a percentage of the net asset value of the Funds (absolute or relative VaR), it may not be greater than the Regulatory limits, as detailed in the prospectus. VaR is calculated on a daily basis using a one-tailed 99% confidence level and pre-determined holding period on either an absolute (where the figure is compared to the net asset value of the Fund) or relative basis (where VaR is compared to the benchmark or reference portfolio). The historical observation period will not be less than one year unless a shorter period is justified.

Some limitations of VaR analysis are:

- the models' methodologies are based on historical data and cannot take account of the fact that future market price movements, correlations between markets and levels of market liquidity in conditions of market stress may bear no relation to historical patterns;
- the market price risk information is a relative estimate of risk rather than a precise and accurate number; and
- the market price information represents a hypothetical outcome and is not intended to be predictive.

Leverage is calculated as the sum of the notionals of the derivatives used. (This may be supplemented with leverage calculated on the basis of a commitment approach. The creation of leveraged exposure to an index via FDI, or the inclusion of a leverage feature in an index, must also be taken into account in meeting the prospectus disclosure requirements).

INTEREST RATE RISK

Interest rate risk is defined as the risk that the fair value of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market interest rates. This risk arises on financial instruments whose fair value is affected by changes in interest rates.

The majority of the Company's financial assets and liabilities i.e. those Funds holding substantially equity or equity derivative instruments are non-interest bearing, as a result, these assets are not subject to significant amounts of risk due to fluctuations in the prevailing levels of market interest rates. Any excess cash and cash equivalents are invested at short-term market interest rates.

For those Funds holding primarily interest bearing securities and as such exposed to the risk of fluctuations in the prevailing levels of market interest rates, the Investment Managers monitor the Funds' exposure to interest fluctuations on a daily basis. Whilst primarily an investment decision, the Investment Managers employ proprietary systems and processes to best position the Funds to benefit from or limit the risk of any fluctuations in the prevailing market levels of market interest rates.

The Investment Managers will endeavour to acquire interest bearing securities in liquid markets. However, not all securities invested by the Funds will be listed or rated and consequently liquidity may be low. Moreover the accumulation and disposal of holdings in some securities may be time consuming and need to be conducted at unfavourable prices. The Funds may also encounter difficulties in disposing of assets at their fair price due to adverse market conditions leading to limited liquidity. The financial markets of emerging market countries in general, are less liquid than those of the more developed nations. Purchases and sales of investments may take longer than would otherwise be expected on developed stock markets and transactions may need to be conducted at unfavourable prices.

CURRENCY RISK

Currency risk is the risk that a fair value of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in foreign exchange rates. The risk arises on financial instruments that are denominated in a currency other than the functional currency in which they are measured.

15. RISK MANAGEMENT OBJECTIVES AND POLICIES cont'd.

CURRENCY RISK cont'd.

The Investment Managers monitor the Company's currency position on a daily basis and may act to manage the Company's currency exposure through the use of FDI such as forward foreign currency contracts or options. The Investment Managers of hedged non-base share classes may also use derivative instruments such as forward foreign currency contracts or options as a key component of their operating strategy. Currency risk does not arise from financial instruments denominated in the functional currency.

CREDIT RISK

Credit risk is the risk that one party to a financial instrument will cause a financial loss for the other party by failing to discharge an obligation. This includes counterparty risk and issuer risk. Financial assets, which potentially expose the Company to credit risk, consist principally of interest bearing securities such as bonds, financial derivative instruments and investments in cash balances and deposits with and receivable from brokers.

The extent of the Company's exposure to credit risk in respect of these financial assets approximates their carrying values as recorded in the Statement of Financial Position.

The Investment Managers manage issuer risk through building diversified portfolios with a limited concentration of exposure (10%) to any one issuer in accordance with the Central Bank UCITS Regulations and the investment objectives of the Funds. Additionally, if required the Investment Managers will limit ownership of debt instruments to those instruments carrying a credit rating equal to or in excess of that provided for in the individual investment objectives of the Funds.

Substantially all of the assets of the Company are held by the Depositary. Bankruptcy or insolvency of the Depositary may cause the Company's rights with respect to securities and other positions held by the Depositary to be delayed or limited.

The Company only transacts with depositaries that are regulated entities subject to prudential supervision, or with high credit ratings assigned by international credit-rating agencies. The Directors monitor the credit quality of the Depositary, The Bank of New York Mellon SA/NV, Dublin Branch, on a quarterly basis in order to mitigate risk. Its long-term senior debt and long-term deposit rating by Standard & Poor's is AA- (31 December 2022: AA-) as at the end of the financial period.

The Company's securities and other positions are segregated from the assets of either the Depositary or its agents. Thus in the event of insolvency or bankruptcy of the Depositary, the Company's securities and other positions are segregated from those of the Depositary or its agents. The Company will, however, be exposed to the credit risk of the Depositary, or any custodian used by the Depositary, in relation to the Company's cash held by the Depositary and the subscription and redemption cash collection accounts held by the Global Sub-Custodian. In the event of insolvency or bankruptcy of the Depositary, the Company will be treated as a general creditor of the Depositary in relation to cash holdings of the Company.

Counterparty/issuer risk is monitored in the following manner:

- Each Investment Manager maintains an Approved Broker list which is subject to ongoing monitoring. The trading system only permits trading with approved brokers. New brokers are added, subject to a formal review process that includes a review of the broker's creditworthiness and financial strength.
- Measurement and monitoring of counterparty or issuer trade exposure is conducted daily and consists of reviewing all outstanding positions held.

The permanent risk function of the Company oversees this process as well as performing independent checks.

For Funds using the cash sweep management, cash balances are automatically swept into the short-term investment vehicle daily. The cash investment auto-sweep is part of the daily cash management procedure. All money market funds available through the cash sweep management are triple-A rated by Standard & Poor's and Moody's and maintain a stable net asset value. US dollar, Euro and Sterling prime and treasury funds are available for investments, in addition to a number of funds in additional currencies, depending on the domicile of the investor and the tax implications.

All transactions in listed securities are settled or paid upon delivery using approved brokers. The risk of broker default is considered minimal as delivery of securities sold is only made once the broker has received payment. Payment is made on a purchase once the securities have been received by the broker.

15. RISK MANAGEMENT OBJECTIVES AND POLICIES cont'd.

CREDIT RISK cont'd.

Credit default swaps provide a measure of protection against defaults of debt issuers. The use of credit default swaps does not assure their use will be effective or will have the desired result. The credit events are specified in the contract and are intended to identify the occurrence of a significant deterioration in the creditworthiness of the reference asset. As a seller of protection on credit default swaps, the Funds will generally receive from the buyer of protection a fixed rate of income throughout the term of the swap provided that there is no credit event. As the seller, the Funds would effectively add leverage to their portfolios because, in addition to their total net assets, the Funds would be subject to investment exposure on the notional amounts of the swaps.

The maximum potential amount of future payments (undiscounted) that a Fund as a seller of protection could be required to make under a credit default swap equals the notional amount of the agreement. These potential amounts would be partially offset by any recovery values of the respective referenced obligations, upfront payments received upon entering into the agreement, or net amounts received from the settlement of buy protection credit default swap entered into by the Funds for the same referenced entity or entities.

Where possible the Company restricts its exposure to credit losses on the trading derivative instruments it holds by entering into master netting arrangements which is a bilateral agreement between the Funds and the counterparties (approved brokers) with whom the Funds undertake a significant volume of over-the-counter derivative transactions (including total return swaps). Derivatives are held with counterparties on an unsegregated basis. Master netting arrangements do not result in an offset of balance sheet assets and liabilities, as transactions are usually settled on a gross basis. However, the credit risk associated with favourable contracts is reduced by a master netting arrangement to the extent that if an event of default occurs, all amounts with the counterparty are terminated and settled on a net basis. The Company's overall exposure to credit risk on derivative instruments subject to a master netting arrangement can change substantially within a short period, as it is affected by each transaction subject to the arrangement.

Certain over-the-counter derivatives are cleared through central clearing houses. Under this arrangement, over-the-counter trades entered with counterparties are given up to clearing houses, which after acceptance effectively replace the counterparty for the risk aspects of the trade.

The Company employs a risk management process which will enable it to measure, monitor and manage the risks attached to financial derivative positions and details of this process have been provided to the Central Bank.

For the purpose of providing margin or collateral in respect of transactions in financial derivative instruments, the Funds of the Company may transfer, mortgage, charge or encumber any assets or cash forming part of the Funds. The Funds may also be exposed to a credit risk in relation to the counterparties with whom they transact or place margin or collateral in respect of transactions in financial derivative instruments and may bear the risk of counterparty default.

The Funds may receive cash and eligible non-cash collateral in relation to derivative trading to reduce counterparty exposure. Cash collateral received by each Fund is shown as an asset in the Statement of Financial Position, which is offset by a corresponding liability.

Those Funds entering into securities lending arrangements are also exposed to counterparty risk. To minimise such risk, collateral is held, exceeding in value the amount of securities on loan. Details of these are provided in Note 13 of the financial statements.

A number of Funds have investments in leveraged loans which are held on an unsegregated basis with the agent banks. These loans are not held with the Depositary and accordingly the Funds are subject to the credit risk of the borrower. The Funds are also subject to the credit risk of the agent banks.

LIQUIDITY RISK

Liquidity risk is the risk that the Company may not be able to generate sufficient cash resources to settle its obligations in full as they fall due or can only do so on terms that are materially disadvantageous.

The Company is exposed to the daily settlement of margin calls on derivatives and to daily cash redemptions of redeemable participating shares. Each Fund therefore invests the majority of its assets in investments that are traded in an active market and can be readily disposed of; it invests only a limited proportion of its assets in investments not actively traded on a listed exchange. Listed securities of each Fund are considered readily realisable, as they are listed on a regulated stock exchange.

15. RISK MANAGEMENT OBJECTIVES AND POLICIES cont'd.

LIQUIDITY RISK cont'd.

The Investment Managers utilise derivative instruments and debt securities, if appropriate, such as exchange traded index future contracts to allow exposure to markets whilst maintaining sufficient liquidity.

Where any Fund acquires securities on the over-the-counter markets, there is no guarantee that the Fund will be able to realise the fair value of such securities due to their tendency to have limited liquidity and comparatively high price volatility.

The Company has the ability to borrow in the short term to ensure settlement. An overdraft facility is in place and has been utilised for settlement liquidity purposes. The Depositary shall be entitled to use available cash in the Fund's account and to liquidate securities in the account as is necessary to meet the Fund's obligations in connection with the provision of an overdraft facility to the Fund and/or unpaid amounts.

The Company's financial assets and liabilities are held for trading and are acquired principally for the purpose of selling in the short term. As these securities are not expected to be held to maturity or termination, the current market value represents the estimated cash flow that may be required to dispose of the securities. Future cash flows of the Funds and realised liabilities may differ from current liabilities based on changes in market conditions.

Redeemable shares are redeemed on demand at the holders' option. However, the Directors do not envisage that the contractual maturity will be representative of the actual cash outflows, as holders of these instruments typically retain them for the medium to long term.

In order to manage the Company's overall liquidity and to facilitate an orderly disposition of securities, the Directors are able to refuse to repurchase any shares in excess of one tenth of the shares in issue in a Fund on any one valuation day by way of the provisions in the prospectus.

NUMBER OF SHAREHOLDERS

The Company did not have less than 10 redeemable participating shareholders at the end of the current financial period and prior financial year.

CAPITAL RISK MANAGEMENT

The capital of the Funds is represented by the net assets at the end of the financial period. The amount of net assets can change significantly on a daily basis as the Funds are subject to daily subscriptions and redemptions at the discretion of shareholders. The Funds' objective when managing capital is to safeguard the Funds' ability to continue as a going concern in order to provide returns for shareholders and benefits for other stakeholders and to maintain a strong capital base to support the development of the investment activities of the Funds.

In order to maintain or adjust the capital structure, it is part of the Company's policy to perform the following:

- The level of daily subscriptions and redemptions relative to the assets it expects to be able to liquidate is monitored and the amount of distributions payable to redeemable participating shareholders is adjusted accordingly.
- Redeemable participating shares are issued and redeemed in accordance with the prospectus and supplements of the Funds, which include the ability to restrict redemptions and requirement for certain minimum holdings and subscriptions.

FAIR VALUE ESTIMATION

The Company has classified fair value measurements using a fair value hierarchy that reflects the significance of the inputs used in making the measurements. The fair value hierarchy has the following levels:

Level 1: Quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities.

Level 2: Inputs other than quoted prices included within level 1 that are observable for the asset or liability, either directly (that is, as prices) or indirectly (that is, derived from prices).

Level 3: Inputs for the asset or liability that are not based on observable market data (that is, unobservable inputs).

15. RISK MANAGEMENT OBJECTIVES AND POLICIES cont'd.

FAIR VALUE ESTIMATION cont'd.

Instruments whose values are based on quoted market prices in active markets, and therefore classified within level 1, include active listed equities, exchange traded funds and derivatives, highly liquid government bonds (G7 countries), certificate of deposit and other quoted securities. The Company does not adjust the quoted price for these instruments.

Financial instruments that trade in markets that are not considered to be active but are valued based on quoted market prices, dealer quotations or alternative pricing sources supported by observable inputs are classified within level 2. These include investment-grade government (non-G7 countries) and corporate bonds, over-the-counter derivatives, collective investment schemes, money market instruments, P-Notes and certain listed equities. As level 2 investments include positions that are not traded in active markets and/or are subject to transfer restrictions, valuations may be adjusted to reflect illiquidity and/or non-transferability, which are generally based on available market information.

Investments classified within level 3 have significant unobservable inputs, as they trade infrequently. Level 3 instruments include leveraged loans and corporate debt securities which are priced at costs or fair valued using single broken quote. Unobservable inputs shall be used to measure fair value to the extent that relevant observable inputs are not available, thereby allowing for situations in which there is little, if any, market activity for the asset or liability at the measurement date. However, the fair value measurement objective remains the same, i.e. an exit price from the perspective of a market participant that holds the asset or owes the liability. Therefore, unobservable inputs shall reflect the assumptions that market participants would use when pricing the asset or liability, including assumptions about risk. The sensitivity of unobservable inputs used in the fair valuation of these level 3 securities is not readily determinable.

The following table provides an analysis of financial instruments that are measured at fair value as at 30 June 2023:

Transfers are deemed to occur at the beginning of the financial period.

The transfer from Level 2 to Level 3 relates to equities and leveraged loans positions whose issuers experienced reductions in trading activity and was inactive (i.e. stale) as at the financial period end. These securities are priced at cost or fair valued using single broker quote and resulted in the reclassification to Level 3.

The transfers out of Level 3 are related to securities that were priced at cost and subsequently were subject to active trading and normal vendor pricing.

The collaterals are held on account at the tri-party agent, who acts as a settlement and collection service for securities and collateral between the lender and the borrower. The tri-party agents used are Euroclear, Global Collateral Management – The Bank of New York Mellon Institutional Bank and JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A. (where JPMorgan are the borrower).
