I. Tax transparency in Germany and Austria

In line with German investment tax law, there is a tax liability at investor level, in particular for fund distributions. Provided that at least 50% of the fund has been continuously invested in foreign real estate and real estate companies, there is generally the option for a partial exemption of 80% of the distributions in accordance with Section 20 (3) no. 2 of the Investment Tax Act (InvStG) (real estate partial exemption). Classification of the fund as a public investment fund with the addition "Real estate fund with foreign focal area" is carried out via WM Datenservice.

In the context of tax treatment, this real estate fund in Austria has the tax status of a reporting fund within the meaning of the Investment Fund Act (Investmentfondsgesetz, InvFG). For this purpose, it reports the tax assessment bases as defined in Section 186 (2) no. 2 InvFG to the Österreichische Kontrollbank (OeKB). Private investors who hold their units in an Austrian custody account are generally subject to final taxation under capital gains tax (Kapitalertragssteuer, KESt). If the units are held in a foreign custody account, the income from the fund is subject to assessment.

The investors are advised to contact their tax advisers with regard to personal tax implications.

<sup>4</sup> ROE is determined based on the total income in EUR presented in the income statement, which can fluctuate significantly due to currency effects. If total income is calculated in Swiss francs, in which the fund units are also denominated, the currency effects are lower due to currency hedging. In addition, there are no currency effects on cash balances in Swiss francs. The key figures in CHF can be taken from the Notes.

5 ROIC is determined based on the total income in EUR presented in the income statement and the mortgage interest payable, which can fluctuate significantly due to currency effects. If total income and mortgage interest is calculated in Swiss francs, in which the fund units are denominated, the currency effects are lower due to currency hedging. In addition, there are no currency effects on cash balances in Swiss francs. The key figures in CHF can be taken from the Notes.

6 In July 2021, the Oslo/Sandvika property (NOR) was subject to costs of EUR 0.498 million from 2018/19, which had already been deducted from the purchase price. A part of these expenses was thus recognized under unrealized capital gains on investments and credited to the procurement costs of real estate

The performance shown does not take account of any commissions and costs charged when subscribing to and redeeming units.

Portfolio management report

Rental income of UBS PF Europe increased by around EUR 1.2 million to EUR 6.7 million (+21.6%) compared to the same period of the previous year. The residential property in Aachen secured in the previous financial year was acquired as planned. Portfolio management continues to pursue an active debt capital strategy to ensure the necessary flexibility of the fund in what remains a challenging environment.

Market situation

The economy in the Eurozone has weakened in 2023, but performed better than expected at the end of the year. After two quarters of slowed growth of 0.1%, GDP in the Eurozone shrunk by 0.1% in the third quarter. The restrictive monetary policy of the European Central Bank (ECB), weak foreign trade and stringent fiscal policy have taken effect. This is reflected in noticeably lower inflation rates. At 2.4%, inflation in November 2023 was significantly lower than in the previous year. In view of the economic slowdown and the significant reduction in the inflation rate, no further interest rate hikes are currently expected; instead, interest rates are expected to be cut by 75 bps in 2024 (UBS CIO Global Wealth Management).

The overall increase in prime rates in the Eurozone by 450 basis points has led to an increase in government bond yields, significantly narrowing the spread between the risk-free interest rate and real estate yields. Although real estate yields are now adjusting to the changed conditions, the spread remains historically low in comparison to non-inflation-indexed government bonds. Consequently, there is ongoing disagreement between buyers and sellers regarding the new fair market prices and potential further value adjustments. This uncertainty has caused the European transaction volume to shrink significantly (-54% according to MSCI). The sharpest year-on-year declines were recorded in the residential (-66%) and industrial (-59%) segments, which boomed during the coronavirus pandemic. The retail and hotel sectors, which suffered during the pandemic, saw the smallest decline.

While most sectors saw a decline in transaction volumes and letting activities, prime rents have increased, especially in the residential and office segment for high-quality properties with premium amenities.

Fund performance from 1 July 2023 to 31 December 2023

Taking acquisitions into account, the rental income of UBS PF Europe increased by around EUR 1.2 million to EUR 6.7 million (+21.6%) compared to the same period of the previous year (+3.5% excluding acquisitions). This encouraging performance of the fund results from the indexation of almost the entire portfolio, successful rent renewals and lease renewals as well as the acquisition of the property in Aachen (Germany). Notable achievements include the lease of residential units in Aachen and Frankfurt at higher rents, the early renewal of the lease agreement with the fund's second-largest tenant (8%) in Tilburg (NL) for an additional 10 years, and a 10-year retail lease agreement with a lifestyle company in Oslo/Sandvika (NOR).

The challenging market environment of the last year and the related price corrections offered UBS PF Europe the opportunity to acquire modern and sustainable residential and logistics properties in line with its strategy. As announced in the last annual report, UBS PF Europe acquired a residential property in the university city of Aachen, Germany in August 2023. The property, constructed in 2014, consists of four multi-story residential buildings with a total of 64 premium residential units (99.5% occupied) and a total rental area of 7 640 m². Despite being located in the city center, the complex features spacious balconies and green spaces, as well as an underground parking garage with 74 parking spaces.

The latest research information, such as the current outlook from our research expert is available on our website www.ubs.com/immobilienfonds-schweiz

10-year lease extension in Tilburg (NL)

Tenant's fit-out in Oslo/Sandvika (NOR)

From a portfolio perspective, the residential property in Aachen represents another promising asset in a prime location with rental growth potential. The indexed rental agreements also provide ongoing inflation protection in the residential segment. The proportion of residential buildings increased from 5.1% to around 13.4% compared with the last semi-annual report.

As part of the debt strategy, the portfolio management reduced the leverage ratio by repaying variable-rate mortgages totaling approximately EUR 12.0 million, bringing it down to 27.5%. In recent months, the currency hedges were subject to strong changes in foreign exchange rates, which has been taken into account in liquidity management. Furthermore, available funds reserved for acquisitions and the repayment of further obligations have been invested in short-term fixed-income securities with very low default risk to take advantage of the current positive trend in interest rates.

Within the area of sustainability, UBS PF Europe once again achieved the highest possible 5-star rating in the GRESB rating for 2023. The aim of making existing as well as new properties future-proof remains a main target for UBS PF Europe.

Since the start of July, the prime yields for each of the European countries and the usage types in which UBS PF Europe is invested has on average risen by around 36 basis points (source: CBRE). Over the same period, the gross yields of UBS PF Europe increased by only 21 basis points, thanks to the occupancy rate marking nearly one hundred percent, long average lease terms (6.9 years WAULT), high indexation (over 86% of rental contracts), and quality of tenants (over 18% associated with the government). The estimated market value of the portfolio as at 31 December 2023 is EUR 298.2 million, resulting in a net asset value per UBS PF Europe unit of CHF 9.58.

However, due to the price corrections driven by the rise in interest rates, UBS PF Europe was not immune from the deteriorating price performance of the European real estate market, resulting in a drop in its share price, as reflected in the half-year performance of -1.5%.

It should be noted that the corrections driven by discount rates are partially offset by rising rents. The share price at the end of the reporting period was CHF 10.25 per share, representing a premium of 7.0%.

The portfolio management team believes that UBS PF Europe offers an attractive opportunity to buy into a high-quality, well-diversified real estate portfolio covering all sectors.

The fund management company intends to maintain its portfolio strategy, with continued focus on Europe (excluding Switzerland). The core of the strategy remains the broad diversification of investments in residential, mixed-use, and commercial properties in established or development-ready locations, providing investors with direct access to the European real estate market with a «Swiss touch».

Financial report

Supplementary information

The ROE and the ROIC are calculated in EUR based on the income statement, which is subject to strong fluctuations due to currency effects. If the figures used for the ROE and ROIC are calculated in Swiss francs (CHF), in which the fund units are also denominated, lower currency effects are incurred due to the currency hedging. In addition, there are no currency effects on cash balances in Swiss francs. Against this background, there is a resulting ROE in Swiss francs (CHF) of -5.4% (31 December 2022: -0.3%) or a ROIC of -3.4% (31 December 2022: -0.4%).

Supplementary information

The risk from derivatives is measured using the commitment approach I in accordance with Art. 34 CISO - FINMA.

Position	Amount in EUR	In % of the net fund asset
Total exposure-increasing positions	0.00	0.0%
Total exposure-reducing positions	0.00	0.0%

The open forward currency transactions at the end of the half year are exclusively for currency hedging. Currency-hedged fund share classes are generally fully hedged against currency risk toward the fund currency. In some cases, there may be minor over-or under-hedging. This additional currency risk is not included in the calculation.

Principles governing the valuation of the fund's assets and calculation of the net asset value

The net asset value of a unit is determined by the market value of the fund's assets, less any liabilities of the investment fund and any taxes likely to be due should the investment fund be liquidated, divided by the number of units in circulation.

In accordance with Article 64 (1) CISA, Article 88 (2) CISA, Article 92 and 93 CISO as well as the AMAS Guidelines for real estate funds (link: www.am-switzerland.ch), the properties held by the fund shall be regularly valued by independent valuation experts accredited by the supervisory authority using a dynamic capitalized earnings value method. The valuation is made at the price that would probably be obtained in a diligent sale at the time of the assessment. When acquiring or disposing of properties in the fund's assets, as well as at the close of each financial year, the market value of the property in the fund's assets must be verified by the appraisers. The market value of the individual properties represents a price presumably achievable in the ordinary course of business and assuming prudent buying and selling behavior. In individual cases, particularly when buying and selling fund properties, any opportunities are exploited as best as possible in the interests of the fund. This can lead to deviations from the valuations.

Further details of the appraisal methods, quantitative information and market values are provided in the valuation report of the property appraiser as set out in the annual report for the year ending 30.06.2023.
