UBS (Lux) Emerging Economies Fund - Global Bonds (USD), class I-A1-acc (ISIN: LU0426895305), USD

a sub-fund of UBS (Lux) Emerging Economies Fund

This sub-fund is managed by UBS Fund Management (Luxembourg) S.A (the Fund Management Company).

Objectives and investment policy

The actively managed fund mainly invests in government bonds of emerging markets in hard currencies. The fund can also make opportunistic investments in local currency corporate bonds in emerging markets.

The fund's country, interest rate and currency exposures are actively managed under strict risk control with the aim to benefit from market movements.

The actively managed subfund uses the benchmark, JPM EMBI Global Diversified USD, as a reference in portfolio construction, for performance comparison and for risk management.

In principle, investors may ask the Management Company to redeem their units on any business day in Luxembourg.

Income of this share class is reinvested.

Although part of the portfolio is invested in the same instruments and with the same weightings as the benchmark, the portfolio manager is not tied to the benchmark in selecting instruments. In particular, the portfolio manager may freely choose to invest in bonds of issuers that are not included in the benchmark and/or set a different sector allocation to the weighting in the benchmark, in order to seize investment opportunities. At times of high market volatility, the subfund's performance may therefore diverge significantly from that of the benchmark.

Risk and reward profile

More about the risk category

- The risk category is based on the estimated future volatility of the fund. The method used for this estimate depends on the fund type and historical data.
- Historical performance is not a reliable indicator for future performance.
- The risk category allocated is not static and may vary over time.
- Allocation to the lowest risk category does not mean that an investment in this fund is free of risk.

Why is the fund in this category?

- The fund is in risk category 4 because the volatility of its returns is moderate. The fund invests in bonds and may therefore be subject to volatility. This requires corresponding risk tolerance and capacity. The value of a unit may fall below the purchase price. Changes in interest rates have an effect on the value of the portfolio. The value of a unit may be influenced by currency fluctuations.

Further material risks

- Emerging market bonds are usually subject to a high credit risk (i.e. potential loss due to failure of issuer).
- Investment in fixed income securities are usually considered as carrying credit risk (i.e. potential loss due to failure of issuer).
- The fund can invest in less liquid assets that may be difficult to sell in distressed markets.
- The fund may use derivatives, which can reduce or increase investment risk (including the risk of loss due to the bankruptcy of the counterparty).
- Pronounced fluctuations in price are characteristic of emerging economies. Other characteristics include specific risks such as lower market transparency, regulatory hurdles, illiquidity of markets as well as political and social challenges.
- Every fund reveals specific risks, a detailed and comprehensive list of risk descriptions can be found in the prospectus.
