Tracking Error

Each of the Funds listed in the table employs a “passive” investment strategy designed to replicate the performance of its benchmark index. Some of the Funds attempt to fully replicate the index by holding all of the component securities, in approximately the same proportion as their weighting in the index. Other Funds instead use an index sampling process, holding a representative sample of securities which approximates the full index in terms of key risk factors and other characteristics.

Tracking error measures the volatility of the return difference between the Fund and the index. It is calculated as the standard deviation of the tracking difference between the Fund and the index (gross of fees for the trailing 36-month period, or since the Fund’s inception if it does not have 36 months of performance history). Realised tracking error may vary from the anticipated tracking error, depending on a range of circumstances. These include transaction costs, securities lending income and withholding tax differences. The anticipated tracking error and realised tracking error are not expected to vary significantly under normal circumstances.

The Realised Tracking Error excludes adjustments for swing pricing.

In discharging their responsibilities under Section 225, the Directors relied upon, among other things, the services provided, advice and/or representations from third parties whom the Directors believe have the requisite knowledge and experience in order to secure material compliance with the Company's relevant obligations.

Accounting Records

The measures taken by the Directors to secure compliance with the Company's obligations to keep adequate accounting records are the use of appropriate systems and procedures, appointment of an administrator and employment of competent persons. Financial Reporting Process Description of Main Features

The Board is responsible for establishing and maintaining adequate internal control and risk management systems of the Company in relation to the financial reporting process. Such systems are designed to manage rather than eliminate the risk of failure to achieve the Company's financial reporting objectives and can only provide reasonable and not absolute assurance against material misstatement or loss.

The Board has established processes regarding internal control and risk management systems to ensure its effective oversight of the financial reporting process. These include appointing the Administrator to maintain the books and records. The Administrator is authorised and regulated by the Central Bank of Ireland and must comply with the rules imposed by the Central Bank of Ireland. The Administrator is also contractually obliged to prepare for review and approval by the Board the annual report, including financial statements intended to give a true and fair view, and the half-yearly financial statements. The Board evaluates and discusses significant accounting and reporting issues as the need arises. From time to time the Board also examines and evaluates the Administrator's financial accounting and reporting routines and monitors and evaluates the external auditors' performance, qualifications and independence.

The Administrator has operating responsibility in respect of its internal controls in relation to the financial reporting process and the Administrator's report to the Board.

Risk Assessment

The Board is responsible for assessing the risk of irregularities whether caused by fraud or error in financial reporting and ensuring the processes are in place for the timely identification of internal and external matters with a potential effect on financial reporting. The Board has also put in place processes to identify changes in accounting rules and recommendations and to ensure that these changes are accurately reflected in the Company's financial statements.

Control Activities

The Administrator maintains control structures to manage the risks over financial reporting. These control structures include appropriate division of responsibilities and specific control activities aimed at detecting or preventing the risk of significant deficiencies in financial reporting for every significant account in the financial statements and the related notes in the Company's annual report. Examples of control activities exercised by the Administrator include analytical review procedures, reconciliations and automated controls over IT systems.

Information and Communication

The Company's policies and the Board's instructions with relevance for financial reporting are updated and communicated via appropriate channels, such as e-mail, correspondence and meetings, to ensure that all financial reporting information requirements are met in a complete and accurate manner.

Monitoring

The Board receives regular presentations and reviews reports from the Depositary, Manager, Investment Manager and Administrator. The Board also has an annual process to ensure that appropriate measures are taken to consider and address the shortcomings identified and measures recommended by the independent auditors.

Capital Structure

No person has a significant direct or indirect holding of securities in the Company. No person has any special rights of control over the Company's share capital. There are no restrictions on voting rights.

Powers of the Directors

With regard to the appointment and replacement of Directors, the Company is governed by its Articles of Association, Irish statute comprising the Companies Act 2014, as amended, and with the UCITS Regulations and the Listing Rules of the Euronext Dublin Exchange as applicable to investment funds. The Articles of Association themselves may be amended by special resolution of the shareholders.

The Board is responsible for managing the business affairs of the Company in accordance with the Articles of Association. The Directors may delegate certain functions to the Administrator and other parties, subject to supervision and direction by the Directors. The Directors have delegated the day-to-day administration of the Company to the Administrator and the investment management and distribution functions to the Investment Manager. Consequently none of the Directors is an executive Director.

The Articles of Association provide that the Directors may exercise all the powers of the Company to borrow money, to mortgage or charge its undertaking, property or any part thereof and may delegate these powers to the Investment Manager.

The Directors may, at any time and from time to time, temporarily suspend the calculation of the Net Asset Value of a particular Fund and the issue, repurchase and conversion of Shares in any of the following instances:

(a) during any period (other than ordinary holiday or customary weekend closings) when any market or Recognised Exchange is closed and which is the main market or Recognised Exchange for a significant part of investments of the relevant Fund, or in which trading thereon is restricted or suspended;

(b) during any period when an emergency exists as a result of which disposal by the Company of investments which constitute a substantial portion of the assets of the relevant class is not practically feasible; or it is not possible to transfer monies involved in the acquisition or disposition of investments at normal rates of exchange; or it is not practically feasible for the Directors or their delegate fairly to determine the value of any assets of the relevant Fund;

(c) during any breakdown in the means of communication normally employed in determining the price of any of the investments of the relevant Fund or of current prices on any market or Recognised Exchange;

(d) when for any reason the prices of any investments of the relevant class cannot be reasonably, promptly or accurately ascertained;

(e) during any period when remittance of monies which will or may be involved in the realisation of or in the payment for any of the investments of the relevant class cannot, in the opinion of the Directors, be carried out at normal rates of exchange;

(f) for the purpose of winding up the Company or terminating any Fund; or

(g) if any other reason makes it impossible or impracticable to determine the value of a substantial portion of the investments of the Company or any Fund.

Notice of any such suspension and notice of the termination of any such suspension shall be given immediately to the Central Bank of Ireland and to the relevant stock exchanges and will be communicated to applicants for shares or to shareholders requesting the repurchase of shares at the time of application or filing of the written request for such repurchase. Where possible, all reasonable steps will be taken to bring any period of suspension to an end as soon as possible.

Registered shares may be transferred by instrument in writing. The instrument of transfer must be accompanied by a certificate from the transferee that it is not acquiring such shares on behalf of or for the benefit of a US Person. In the case of the death of one or joint shareholders, the survivor or survivors will be the only person or persons recognised by the Administrator as having any title to or interest in the shares registered in the names of such joint shareholders. The Directors may decline to register a transfer if they are aware or reasonably believe the transfer would result in the beneficial ownership of shares by a person in contravention of any restrictions on ownership imposed by the Directors or might result in legal, regulatory, pecuniary, taxation or material administrative disadvantage to the relevant Fund or shareholders generally.

Review of Business and Future Development

There was no change in the nature of the Company's business during the financial year. The performance review encompasses tracking error and tracking difference disclosures which are key metrics as to how well the Fund has been managed against their benchmark indices. There is a detailed review in the Performance Summary of factors contributing to the Funds' performance. The Directors do not anticipate any change in the structure or investment objectives of the Company.

Shareholder Meetings

The Annual General Meeting of the Company will usually be held in Dublin, normally during the month of December or such other date as the Directors may determine. Notice convening the Annual General Meeting in each year at which the audited financial statements of the Company will be presented (together with the Directors' and Auditors' reports of the Company) will be sent to shareholders at their registered addresses not less than 21 clear days before the date fixed for the meeting. Other general meetings may be convened from time to time by the Directors in such manner as provided by Irish law.

Each of the shares entitles the holder to attend and vote at meetings of the Company and of the Fund represented by those shares. Matters may be determined by a meeting of Shareholders on a show of hands unless a poll is requested by any shareholder having the right to vote at the meeting or unless the chairman of the meeting requests a poll. Each shareholder has one vote on a show of hands. Each share gives the holder one vote in relation to any matters relating to the Company which are submitted to shareholders for a vote by poll. No class of shares confers on the holder thereof any preferential or preemptive rights or any rights to participate in the profits and dividends of any other share class or any voting rights in relation to matters relating solely to any other share class.

Any resolution to alter the class rights of the shares requires the approval of three-quarters of the holders of the shares represented or present and voting at a general meeting of the class. The quorum for any general meeting of the class convened to consider any alteration to the class rights of the shares shall be such number of shareholders being two or more persons whose holdings comprise one-third of the shares.

Each of the shares other than Subscriber shares entitles the shareholder to participate equally on a pro-rata basis in the dividends and net assets of the Fund in respect of which the shares have been issued, save in the case of dividends declared prior to becoming a shareholder.

Management shares entitle the shareholders holding them to attend and vote at all general meetings of the Company but do not entitle the holders to participate in the dividends or net assets of the Company.

Composition and Operation of Board and Committees

There are eight Directors currently, three of whom are independent of the Investment Manager. The Directors may be removed by the shareholders by ordinary resolution in accordance with the procedures established under the Irish Companies Act 2014, as amended. The Board meets at least quarterly.

An audit committee has been formed as a sub-committee of the Board. There are no other sub-committees of the Board.

Diversity Report

With respect to diversity, the Company has no employees and the only individuals engaged directly by it are its Directors. When there is a vacancy on the Board, in line with the Company's Diversity Policy, the objective is to ensure that the Board is diversified with an appropriate mix as regards age, gender and educational/professional backgrounds, while achieving compliance by all individuals with regulatory requirements and an overall composition with the requisite experience and skills.

1 Individual fund financial statements are presented in the base currency of each fund. For the purpose of calculating the Company Vanguard Funds plc US dollars total, the EUR-based funds and GBP-based funds have been translated into US dollars at the following exchange rates²:

	Daily exchange rate as at 30 June 2023	Daily exchange rate as at 30 June 2022	Average rate for the year ended 30 June 2023	Average rate for the period from 16 August 2022 to 30 June 2023	Average rate for the period from 15 November 2022 to 30 June 2023	Average rate for the year ended 30 June 2022

GBP-based sub-funds	1.2714	1.2145	1.2047	—	—	1.3310

The resulting translation adjustment represents the difference in exchange rates applied to the net assets at the beginning of the year and an exchange rate differential in consolidating the Company Statement of Operations at the average rate for the year. This adjustment is solely for the purposes of reporting a fund total in US dollars and has no effect on any individual fund.

2 The exchange rates are rounded to four decimal places for financial statements disclosure purposes.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Inflation and policymakers' efforts to rein it in took centre stage for the financial markets during much of the 12 months ended 30 June 2023.
- Early in the period, energy prices continued to cool amid an outlook for slower economic growth, but price increases then broadened to other categories, notably the services sector, which felt the effects of tight labour markets. Central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England reacted to the prospect of inflation remaining stubbornly high by aggressively hiking interest rates even as their actions fanned fears of a global recession.
- Although progress was slow, signs of inflation moderating later in the period led several major central banks to slow the pace of their interest rate hikes or even hit the pause button.
- Despite volatility associated with banking sector turmoil in the US and Europe in the spring and ongoing concerns about a recession, labour markets remained robust overall and corporate profits were fairly resilient.
- Stocks ended the 12 months up significantly. Bonds suffered early in the fiscal year amid aggressive rate hiking and later when markets began to anticipate that rates would remain higher for longer. With rising yields pushing prices down, global bonds ended the 12 months in negative territory.
- In this environment, Vanguard LifeStrategy 20% Equity UCITS ETF returned -0.83% for both share classes for the 12 months ended 30 June 2023, reflecting its allocations to global stocks and bonds.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Inflation and policymakers' efforts to rein it in took centre stage for the financial markets during much of the 12 months ended 30 June 2023.
- Early in the period, energy prices continued to cool amid an outlook for slower economic growth, but price increases then broadened to other categories, notably the services sector, which felt the effects of tight labour markets. Central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England reacted to the prospect of inflation remaining stubbornly high by aggressively hiking interest rates even as their actions fanned fears of a global recession.
- Although progress was slow, signs of inflation moderating later in the period led several major central banks to slow the pace of their interest rate hikes or even hit the pause button.
- Despite volatility associated with banking sector turmoil in the US and Europe in the spring and ongoing concerns about a recession, labour markets remained robust overall and corporate profits were fairly resilient.
- Stocks ended the 12 months up significantly. Bonds suffered early in the fiscal year amid aggressive rate hiking and later when markets began to anticipate that rates would remain higher for longer. With rising yields pushing prices down, global bonds ended the 12 months in negative territory.
- In this environment, Vanguard LifeStrategy 60% Equity UCITS ETF returned 5.40% for both share classes for the 12 months ended 30 June 2023, reflecting its allocations to global stocks and bonds.

- Early in the period, energy prices continued to cool amid an outlook for slower economic growth, but price increases then broadened to other categories, notably the services sector, which felt the effects of tight labour markets. Central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England reacted to the prospect of inflation remaining stubbornly high by aggressively hiking interest rates even as their actions fanned fears of a global recession.
- Although progress was slow, signs of inflation moderating later in the period led several major central banks to slow the pace of their interest rate hikes or even hit the pause button.
- Despite volatility associated with banking sector turmoil in the US and Europe in the spring and ongoing concerns about a recession, labour markets remained robust overall and corporate profits were fairly resilient.
- Stocks ended the 12 months up significantly.
- The ETF was launched 11 October 2022. It promotes environmental and social characteristics by excluding companies from its portfolio based on the impact of their conduct or products on society and/or the environment. This is met by tracking the FTSE Developed Asia Pacific All Cap Choice Index. The ETF's benchmark is constructed from the FTSE Developed Asia Pacific All Cap Index. The parent index is screened for certain environmental, social and corporate governance criteria by the sponsor, which is independent of Vanguard.
- For the eight months from the ETF's inception through 30 June 2023, the ETF's benchmark index returned 21.33%.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Inflation and policymakers' efforts to rein it in took centre stage for the financial markets during much of the 12 months ended 30 June 2023.
- Early in the period, energy prices continued to cool amid an outlook for slower economic growth, but price increases then broadened to other categories, notably the services sector, which felt the effects of tight labour markets. Central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England reacted to the prospect of inflation remaining stubbornly high by aggressively hiking interest rates even as their actions fanned fears of a global recession.
- Although progress was slow, signs of inflation moderating later in the period led several major central banks to slow the pace of their interest rate hikes or even hit the pause button.
- Despite volatility associated with banking sector turmoil in the US and Europe in the spring and ongoing concerns about a recession, labour markets remained robust overall and corporate profits were fairly resilient.
- Stocks ended the 12 months up significantly.
- For the period from the ETF's inception on 16 August 2022 through 30 June 2023, the ETF's benchmark index returned 4.76%.
- Since inception, the greatest sector contributors included financials, consumer discretionary and technology. The greatest detractors were real estate and telecommunications.
- For the same period, the markets that contributed most included Germany, France and Italy. Sweden and the United Kingdom detracted the most.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Inflation and policymakers' efforts to rein it in took centre stage for the financial markets during much of the 12 months ended 30 June 2023.
- Early in the period, energy prices continued to cool amid an outlook for slower economic growth, but price increases then broadened to other categories, notably the services sector, which felt the effects of tight labour markets. Central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England reacted to the prospect of inflation remaining stubbornly high by aggressively hiking interest rates even as their actions fanned fears of a global recession.
- Although progress was slow, signs of inflation moderating later in the period led several major central banks to slow the pace of their interest rate hikes or even hit the pause button.
- Despite volatility associated with banking sector turmoil in the US and Europe in the spring and ongoing concerns about a recession, labour markets remained robust overall and corporate profits were fairly resilient.
- Stocks ended the 12 months up significantly.
- In this environment, the ETF's benchmark index returned 14.15% from the ETF's October 11, 2022, inception through June 30. The benchmark, the FTSE Emerging All Cap Choice Index, is constructed from the FTSE Global All Cap Index. The parent index is screened for certain environmental, social and corporate governance criteria by the sponsor of the index, which is independent of Vanguard.
- Top-performing markets included China, Taiwan and India. Among sectors, technology, financials and consumer discretionary were among the top contributors to performance.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Inflation and policymakers' efforts to rein it in took centre stage for the financial markets during much of the 12 months ended 30 June 2023.
- Early in the period, energy prices continued to cool amid an outlook for slower economic growth, but price increases then broadened to other categories, notably the services sector, which felt the effects of tight labour markets. Central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England reacted to the prospect of inflation remaining stubbornly high by aggressively hiking interest rates even as their actions fanned fears of a global recession.
- Although progress was slow, signs of inflation moderating later in the period led several major central banks to slow the pace of their interest rate hikes or even hit the pause button.
- Despite volatility associated with banking sector turmoil in the US and Europe in the spring and ongoing concerns about a recession, labour markets remained robust overall and corporate profits were fairly resilient.
- Stocks ended the 12 months up significantly.
- In this environment, the ETF's benchmark index returned 15.87% for the period. The benchmark, the FTSE Global All Cap Choice Index, is constructed from the FTSE Global All Cap Index. The parent index is screened for certain environmental, social and corporate governance criteria by the sponsor of the index, which is independent of Vanguard.
- Of the roughly 50 markets in the index, all but 12 posted positive returns. Strong overall performance by US stocks, the largest market, contributed most to returns. China was the biggest detractor.
- The largest sector, technology, had outsized performance and the biggest contribution to returns. Industrials, consumer discretionary and financials also were strong contributors. Real estate was the sole detractor.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Inflation and policymakers' efforts to rein it in took centre stage for the financial markets during much of the 12 months ended 30 June 2023.
- Early in the period, energy prices continued to cool amid an outlook for slower economic growth, but price increases then broadened to other categories, notably the services sector, which felt the effects of tight labour markets. Central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England reacted to the prospect of inflation remaining stubbornly high by aggressively hiking interest rates even as their actions fanned fears of a global recession.
- Although progress was slow, signs of inflation moderating later in the period led several major central banks to slow the pace of their interest rate hikes or even hit the pause button.
- Despite volatility associated with banking sector turmoil in the US and Europe in the spring and ongoing concerns about a recession, labour markets remained robust overall and corporate profits were fairly resilient.
- Stocks ended the 12 months up significantly.
- The ETF's benchmark index returned 3.27% from 16 August 2022 (the fund's inception) through 30 June 2023. US stocks, which make up more than 95% of the index, drove returns.
- Only four of the benchmark's 11 industry sectors posted positive results. Technology performed best; as the index's largest sector by weight, it also contributed most to returns. Financials, consumer discretionary and real estate detracted most.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

Investment Objective

Vanguard FTSE 100 UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE 100 Index, a widely recognised benchmark of the UK market's most highly capitalised blue-chip companies.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Inflation and policymakers' efforts to rein it in took centre stage for the financial markets during much of the 12 months ended 30 June 2023.
- Early in the period, energy prices continued to cool amid an outlook for slower economic growth, but price increases then broadened to other categories, notably the services sector, which felt the effects of tight labour markets. Central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England reacted to the prospect of inflation remaining stubbornly high by aggressively hiking interest rates even as their actions fanned fears of a global recession.
- Although progress was slow, signs of inflation moderating later in the period led several major central banks to slow the pace of their interest rate hikes or even hit the pause button.
- Despite volatility associated with banking sector turmoil in the US and Europe in the spring and ongoing concerns about a recession, labour markets remained robust overall and corporate profits were fairly resilient.
- Stocks ended the 12 months up significantly. In this environment, the ETF's benchmark index, which represents the UK market's largest companies, returned 9.11% for the fiscal year ended 30 June 2023.
- Seven of 11 sectors in the benchmark posted positive returns for the 12 months. Industrials, consumer discretionary and financials contributed most to returns. Telecommunications was the biggest detractor.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in British pounds.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Inflation and policymakers' efforts to rein it in took centre stage for the financial markets during much of the 12 months ended 30 June 2023.
- Early in the period, energy prices continued to cool amid an outlook for slower economic growth, but price increases then broadened to other categories, notably the services sector, which felt the effects of tight labour markets. Central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England reacted to the prospect of inflation remaining stubbornly high by aggressively hiking interest rates even as their actions fanned fears of a global recession.
- Although progress was slow, signs of inflation moderating later in the period led several major central banks to slow the pace of their interest rate hikes or even hit the pause button.
- Despite volatility associated with banking sector turmoil in the US and Europe in the spring and ongoing concerns about a recession, labour markets remained robust overall and corporate profits were fairly resilient.
- Stocks ended the 12 months up significantly.
- The ETF's benchmark index returned 1.77% for the 12 months ended 30 June 2023.
- The index, which represents mid-capitalisation companies in the UK market, generally performed well, with positive returns in 6 out of 11 sectors. Industrials and consumer discretionary contributed most to returns. Real estate detracted the most.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Inflation and policymakers' efforts to rein it in took centre stage for the financial markets during much of the 12 months ended 30 June 2023.
- Early in the period, energy prices continued to cool amid an outlook for slower economic growth, but price increases then broadened to other categories, notably the services sector, which felt the effects of tight labour markets. Central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England reacted to the prospect of inflation remaining stubbornly high by aggressively hiking interest rates even as their actions fanned fears of a global recession.
- Although progress was slow, signs of inflation moderating later in the period led several major central banks to slow the pace of their interest rate hikes or even hit the pause button.
- Despite volatility associated with banking sector turmoil in the US and Europe in the spring and ongoing concerns about a recession, labour markets remained robust overall and corporate profits were fairly resilient.
- Stocks ended the 12 months up significantly. In this environment, the ETF's benchmark index returned 16.35% for the fiscal year.
- Most of the countries represented in the index gained ground during the period. The United States, which accounted for more than half the index's holdings, and Japan, the next largest market, helped performance the most.
- Ten of the index's 11 sectors posted positive returns, led by technology, industrials and consumer discretionary. Real estate was the only detractor.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

Vanguard FTSE All-World High Dividend Yield UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

Vanguard FTSE All-World High Dividend Yield UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE All-World High Dividend Yield Index, a free-float-adjusted market capitalisation-weighted index of common stocks of companies, excluding real estate trusts, in developed and emerging markets that pay dividends that are generally higher than average.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Inflation and policymakers' efforts to rein it in took centre stage for the financial markets during much of the 12 months ended 30 June 2023.
- Early in the period, energy prices continued to cool amid an outlook for slower economic growth, but price increases then broadened to other categories, notably the services sector, which felt the effects of tight labour markets. Central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England reacted to the prospect of inflation remaining stubbornly high by aggressively hiking interest rates even as their actions fanned fears of a global recession.
- Although progress was slow, signs of inflation moderating later in the period led several major central banks to slow the pace of their interest rate hikes or even hit the pause button.
- Despite volatility associated with banking sector turmoil in the US and Europe in the spring and ongoing concerns about a recession, labour markets remained robust overall and corporate profits were fairly resilient.
- Stocks ended the 12 months up significantly. In this environment, the ETF's benchmark index returned 9.75% for the period.
- The United States, which represents more than 40% of the index, contributed about one-third of the index's return. Japan, the United Kingdom, Germany and France were also among the top five contributors. China detracted most from performance.
- Ten of the index's 11 industry sectors posted positive returns, with real estate the sole detractor. Financials, industrials, energy and consumer discretionary contributed most to performance.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Inflation and policymakers' efforts to rein it in took centre stage for the financial markets during much of the 12 months ended 30 June 2023.
- Early in the period, energy prices continued to cool amid an outlook for slower economic growth, but price increases then broadened to other categories, notably the services sector, which felt the effects of tight labour markets. Central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England reacted to the prospect of inflation remaining stubbornly high by aggressively hiking interest rates even as their actions fanned fears of a global recession.
- Although progress was slow, signs of inflation moderating later in the period led several major central banks to slow the pace of their interest rate hikes or even hit the pause button.
- Despite volatility associated with banking sector turmoil in the US and Europe in the spring and ongoing concerns about a recession, labour markets remained robust overall and corporate profits were fairly resilient.
- Stocks ended the 12 months up significantly.
- In this environment, the ETF's benchmark index returned 7.62% for the period.
- Returns exceeded 10% in all markets except Hong Kong, which had negative results. By sector, basic materials and telecommunications contributed the most. Real estate, consumer staples and health care detracted.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

Vanguard FTSE Developed Europe UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

Vanguard FTSE Developed Europe UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE Developed Europe Index, a widely recognised benchmark of stock market performance of European developed countries that is composed of the stocks of large- and mid-capitalised companies in developed Europe.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Inflation and policymakers' efforts to rein it in took centre stage for the financial markets during much of the 12 months ended 30 June 2023.
- Early in the period, energy prices continued to cool amid an outlook for slower economic growth, but price increases then broadened to other categories, notably the services sector, which felt the effects of tight labour markets. Central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England reacted to the prospect of inflation remaining stubbornly high by aggressively hiking interest rates even as their actions fanned fears of a global recession.
- Although progress was slow, signs of inflation moderating later in the period led several major central banks to slow the pace of their interest rate hikes or even hit the pause button.
- Despite volatility associated with banking sector turmoil in the US and Europe in the spring and ongoing concerns about a recession, labour markets remained robust overall and corporate profits were fairly resilient.
- Stocks ended the 12 months up significantly. In this environment, the ETF's benchmark index returned 16.61% for the fiscal year.
- Nearly every market represented in the index had positive returns, with France and Germany contributing the most. Norway was a minor detractor.
- Nine of the 11 sectors recorded a positive performance. Industrials, consumer discretionary and financials contributed most to results; telecommunications and real estate detracted somewhat.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

Vanguard FTSE Developed Europe ex UK UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE Developed Europe ex UK Index, a widely recognised market capitalisation-weighted index of stock market performance of European developed countries, excluding the United Kingdom, that is composed of the stocks of large- and mid-capitalisation companies in that region.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Inflation and policymakers' efforts to rein it in took centre stage for the financial markets during much of the 12 months ended 30 June 2023.
- Early in the period, energy prices continued to cool amid an outlook for slower economic growth, but price increases then broadened to other categories, notably the services sector, which felt the effects of tight labour markets. Central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England reacted to the prospect of inflation remaining stubbornly high by aggressively hiking interest rates even as their actions fanned fears of a global recession.
- Although progress was slow, signs of inflation moderating later in the period led several major central banks to slow the pace of their interest rate hikes or even hit the pause button.
- Despite volatility associated with banking sector turmoil in the US and Europe in the spring and ongoing concerns about a recession, labour markets remained robust overall and corporate profits were fairly resilient.
- Stocks ended the 12 months up significantly. In this environment, the ETF's benchmark index returned 18.84% for the fiscal year.
- Nearly every market represented in the index turned in a positive performance. France and Germany contributed strongly, as did the Netherlands and Switzerland. Norway was the sole detractor.
- Nine of 11 sectors contributed to performance, with industrials, consumer discretionary and financials adding the most to the index return. Telecommunications and real estate were the biggest detractors.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Inflation and policymakers' efforts to rein it in took centre stage for the financial markets during much of the 12 months ended 30 June 2023.
- Early in the period, energy prices continued to cool amid an outlook for slower economic growth, but price increases then broadened to other categories, notably the services sector, which felt the effects of tight labour markets. Central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England reacted to the prospect of inflation remaining stubbornly high by aggressively hiking interest rates even as their actions fanned fears of a global recession.
- Although progress was slow, signs of inflation moderating later in the period led several major central banks to slow the pace of their interest rate hikes or even hit the pause button.
- Despite volatility associated with banking sector turmoil in the US and Europe in the spring and ongoing concerns about a recession, labour markets remained robust overall and corporate profits were fairly resilient.
- Stocks ended the 12 months up significantly. In this environment, the ETF's benchmark index returned 18.28% for the period.
- The United States, which represents almost two-thirds of the index, contributed most to the index's return. Japan, France, the United Kingdom and Germany also contributed. Hong Kong, Norway and Israel were minor detractors.
- Ten of the index's 11 industry sectors posted positive returns; real estate was the sole detractor. Technology, consumer discretionary and industrials contributed most, followed by financials and health care.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

Vanguard FTSE Emerging Markets UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

Vanguard FTSE Emerging Markets UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE Emerging Index, a free-float market capitalisation-weighted index of large- and mid-capitalisation companies in multiple emerging markets in Europe, Asia, Africa, Central and South America and the Middle East.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Inflation and policymakers' efforts to rein it in took centre stage for the financial markets during much of the 12 months ended 30 June 2023.
- Early in the period, energy prices continued to cool amid an outlook for slower economic growth, but price increases then broadened to other categories, notably the services sector, which felt the effects of tight labour markets. Central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England reacted to the prospect of inflation remaining stubbornly high by aggressively hiking interest rates even as their actions fanned fears of a global recession.
- Although progress was slow, signs of inflation moderating later in the period led several major central banks to slow the pace of their interest rate hikes or even hit the pause button.
- Despite volatility associated with banking sector turmoil in the US and Europe in the spring and ongoing concerns about a recession, labour markets remained robust overall and corporate profits were fairly resilient.
- Stocks ended the 12 months up significantly. In this environment, the ETF's benchmark index returned 0.89% for the fiscal year.
- Chinese stocks, which made up more than a third of the index on average, returned -17%, dragging the index's overall return down with them. Top-performing markets included India, Taiwan, Brazil and Mexico.
- Seven of the index's 11 industry sectors posted positive returns. Financials, technology and industrials helped performance the most. Consumer discretionary, real estate and health care were the biggest detractors.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

Investment Objective

Vanguard FTSE Japan UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE Japan Index, a widely recognised benchmark of large- and mid-capitalised companies in Japan.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Inflation and policymakers' efforts to rein it in took centre stage for the financial markets during much of the 12 months ended 30 June 2023.
- Early in the period, energy prices continued to cool amid an outlook for slower economic growth, but price increases then broadened to other categories, notably the services sector, which felt the effects of tight labour markets. Central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England reacted to the prospect of inflation remaining stubbornly high by aggressively hiking interest rates even as their actions fanned fears of a global recession. (The Bank of Japan remained an exception, keeping its target for short-term interest rates at -0.1% and its yield curve policy unchanged.)
- Although progress was slow, signs of inflation moderating later in the period led several major central banks to slow the pace of their interest rate hikes or even hit the pause button.
- Despite volatility associated with banking sector turmoil in the US and Europe in the spring and ongoing concerns about a recession, labour markets remained robust overall and corporate profits were fairly resilient.
- Stocks ended the 12 months up significantly.
- In this environment, the ETF's benchmark index returned 17.37% for the period.
- Nine of the benchmark's 11 industry sectors posted positive results. Financials, industrials, basic materials and technology all had returns above 20%. Real estate and energy were the sole detractors.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Inflation and policymakers' efforts to rein it in took centre stage for the financial markets during much of the 12 months ended 30 June 2023.
- Early in the period, energy prices continued to cool amid an outlook for slower economic growth, but price increases then broadened to other categories, notably the services sector, which felt the effects of tight labour markets. Central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England reacted to the prospect of inflation remaining stubbornly high by aggressively hiking interest rates even as their actions fanned fears of a global recession.
- Although progress was slow, signs of inflation moderating later in the period led several major central banks to slow the pace of their interest rate hikes or even hit the pause button.
- Despite volatility associated with banking sector turmoil in the US and Europe in the spring and ongoing concerns about a recession, labour markets remained robust overall and corporate profits were fairly resilient.
- Stocks ended the 12 months up significantly.
- In this environment, the ETF's benchmark index returned 18.40% for the 12 months, largely because of the positive performance of US stocks, which make up about 95% of the index.
- Eight of the benchmark's 11 industry sectors posted positive results. Technology contributed most, followed by consumer discretionary, industrials and financials. Real estate and utilities detracted most.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Inflation and policymakers' efforts to rein it in took centre stage for the financial markets during much of the 12 months ended 30 June 2023.
- Early in the period, energy prices continued to cool amid an outlook for slower economic growth, but price increases then broadened to other categories, notably the services sector, which felt the effects of tight labour markets. Central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England reacted to the prospect of inflation remaining stubbornly high by aggressively hiking interest rates even as their actions fanned fears of a global recession.
- Although progress was slow, signs of inflation moderating later in the period led several major central banks to slow the pace of their interest rate hikes or even hit the pause button.
- Despite volatility associated with banking sector turmoil in the US and Europe in the spring and ongoing concerns about a recession, labour markets remained robust overall and corporate profits were fairly resilient.
- Stocks ended the 12 months up significantly. In this environment, the ETF's benchmark index returned 21.88% for the 12 months ended 30 June 2023.
- Nine of the benchmark's 11 industry sectors produced positive returns. Industrials and technology contributed most to returns. Real estate detracted the most.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in euros.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

Vanguard S&P 500 UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

Vanguard S&P 500 UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the Standard & Poor's 500 Index, a widely recognised benchmark of US stock market performance that is composed of the stocks of large US companies.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Inflation and policymakers' efforts to rein it in took centre stage for the financial markets during much of the 12 months ended 30 June 2023.
- Early in the period, energy prices continued to cool amid an outlook for slower economic growth, but price increases then broadened to other categories, notably the services sector, which felt the effects of tight labour markets. Central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England reacted to the prospect of inflation remaining stubbornly high by aggressively hiking interest rates even as their actions fanned fears of a global recession.
- Although progress was slow, signs of inflation moderating later in the period led several major central banks to slow the pace of their interest rate hikes or even hit the pause button.
- Despite volatility associated with banking sector turmoil in the US and Europe in the spring and ongoing concerns about a recession, labour markets remained robust overall and corporate profits were fairly resilient. Stocks worldwide ended the period up more than 16%, as measured by the FTSE Global All Cap Index. By region, the US and Europe outperformed, while Asia-Pacific and especially emerging markets lagged.
- In this environment, the ETF's benchmark index returned 18.98% for the fiscal year.
- Nine of the index's 11 industry sectors posted positive results, with information technology leading the way and consumer discretionary and industrials also contributing. Utilities and real estate detracted.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

¹ The return of the S&P 500 UCITS ETF is adjusted by 15% for the withholding tax on dividends paid by US securities. The return of the S&P 500 Index is adjusted by 30%.

Investment Objective

Vanguard ESG EUR Corporate Bond UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the Bloomberg MSCI EUR Corporate Liquid Bond Screened Index, a EUR denominated universe of investment grade corporate fixed-rate bonds.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Inflation and policymakers' efforts to rein it in took centre stage for the financial markets during much of the 12 months ended 30 June 2023.
- Early in the period, energy prices continued to cool amid an outlook for slower economic growth, but price increases then broadened to other categories, notably the services sector, which felt the effects of tight labour markets. Central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England reacted to the prospect of inflation remaining stubbornly high by aggressively hiking interest rates even as their actions fanned fears of a global recession down the road.
- Although progress was slow, signs of inflation moderating later in the period led several major central banks to slow the pace of their interest rate hikes or even hit the pause button.
- Bonds suffered early in the fiscal year amid aggressive rate hiking and later when markets began to anticipate that rates would remain higher for longer. With rising yields pushing prices down, global bonds ended the 12 months in negative territory.
- From the ETF's inception on 15 November 2022 through 30 June 2023, its benchmark index returned 1.60%.
- Among the largest constituents in the index, Switzerland, Italy, Spain and the Netherlands performed better than the index as a whole. Among the laggards were the United States and Germany.
- By sector, bonds issued by financial institutions outperformed those issued by industrial companies and utilities.
- By credit quality, bonds rated BBB generally performed better than their higher-rated counterparts. By maturity, results were mixed.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Inflation and policymakers' efforts to rein it in took centre stage for the financial markets during much of the 12 months ended 30 June 2023.
- Early in the period, energy prices continued to cool amid an outlook for slower economic growth, but price increases then broadened to other categories, notably the services sector, which felt the effects of tight labour markets. Central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England reacted to the prospect of inflation remaining stubbornly high by aggressively hiking interest rates even as their actions fanned fears of a global recession down the road.
- Although progress was slow, signs of inflation moderating later in the period led several major central banks to slow the pace of their interest rate hikes or even hit the pause button.
- Bonds suffered early in the fiscal year amid aggressive rate hiking and later when markets began to anticipate that rates would remain higher for longer. With rising yields pushing prices down, global bonds ended the 12 months in negative territory.
- The ETF's benchmark index returned 1.77% for the 12-month period.
- The United States, which accounts for well over half of the market value of the index, lagged the index as a whole. So did the United Kingdom. A number of European countries, including Italy, Switzerland, Spain and France, were among the countries that performed the best.
- By sector, the performance of bonds issued by industrial companies and financial institutions didn't vary much.
- Shorter-dated and lower-quality bonds generally fared better than their longer-dated and higher-quality counterparts.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

Vanguard ESG USD Corporate Bond UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

Vanguard ESG USD Corporate Bond UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the Bloomberg MSCI USD Corporate Float-Adjusted Liquid Bond Screened Index, a USD denominated universe of investment grade corporate fixed-rate bonds.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Inflation and policymakers' efforts to rein it in took centre stage for the financial markets during much of the 12 months ended 30 June 2023.
- Early in the period, energy prices continued to cool amid an outlook for slower economic growth, but price increases then broadened to other categories, notably the services sector, which felt the effects of tight labour markets. Central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England reacted to the prospect of inflation remaining stubbornly high by aggressively hiking interest rates, even as their actions fanned fears of a global recession.
- Although progress was slow, signs that inflation was moderating later in the period led several major central banks to slow the pace of their interest rate hikes or even hit the pause button.
- Bond prices suffered early in the fiscal year amid aggressive rate hiking, and later on, when markets began to anticipate that rates would remain higher for longer. With rising yields pushing prices lower, global bonds ended the 12 months in negative territory.
- In the United States, the average yield of corporate bonds over US Treasuries narrowed during the period, helping them outperform.
- From the ETF's inception on 15 November 2022 through 30 June 2023, its benchmark returned 4.44%.
- By sector, bonds issued by industrial companies outperformed those issued by financial institutions.
- By credit quality, bonds rated BBB outpaced their higher-rated counterparts.
- By maturity, longer-dated bonds generally performed better.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

Investment Objective

Vanguard EUR Corporate Bond UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the Bloomberg Euro-Aggregate: Corporates Index, a widely recognised benchmark designed to reflect the total universe of publicly traded, fixed-coupon, euro-denominated, investment-grade corporate bonds with maturities greater than 1 year and a minimum issue size of €300 million.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Inflation and policymakers' efforts to rein it in took centre stage for the financial markets during much of the 12 months ended 30 June 2023.
- Early in the period, energy prices continued to cool amid an outlook for slower economic growth, but price increases then broadened to other categories, notably the services sector, which felt the effects of tight labour markets. Central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England reacted to the prospect of inflation remaining stubbornly high by aggressively hiking interest rates even as their actions fanned fears of a global recession down the road.
- Although progress was slow, signs of inflation moderating later in the period led several major central banks to slow the pace of their interest rate hikes or even hit the pause button.
- Bonds suffered early in the fiscal year amid aggressive rate hiking and later when markets began to anticipate that rates would remain higher for longer. With rising yields pushing prices down, global bonds ended the 12 months in negative territory.
- The ETF's benchmark index returned 0.14% for the 12-month period.
- Among the largest constituents in the index, Italy, Austria and Belgium performed better than the index as a whole. Among the laggards finishing in negative territory were Sweden, the United States and Finland.
- By sector, bonds issued by utilities returned more than those issued by industrial companies and financial institutions.
- Longer-dated and lower-quality bonds generally performed better.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in euros.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the year is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.
