Tracking Error

Each of the Funds listed in the table employs a “passive” investment strategy designed to replicate the performance of its benchmark index. Some of the Funds attempt to fully replicate the index by holding all of the component securities, in approximately the same proportion as their weighting in the index. Other Funds instead use an index sampling process, holding a representative sample of securities which approximates the full index in terms of key risk factors and other characteristics.

Tracking error measures the volatility of the return difference between the Fund and the index. It is calculated as the standard deviation of the tracking difference between the Fund and the index (gross of fees for the trailing 36-month period, or since the Fund’s inception if it does not have 36 months of performance history).

The table below excludes adjustments for swing pricing.

Additional Information From the Directors

Geopolitical Risk

Significant market disruptions, such as those caused by pandemics (e.g., COVID-19 pandemic), natural or environmental disasters, war (e.g., Russia's invasion of Ukraine), acts of terrorism, or other events, can adversely affect local and global markets and normal market operations. Any such disruptions could have an adverse impact on the value of the Funds' investments and Funds' performance. Vanguard continues to encourage investors to follow its core investment principles, including maintaining long-term discipline. Vanguard is committed to safeguarding the assets of investors and their long-term interests.

Synthetic Ongoing Charges Figure

The Ongoing Charges Figure (OCF) is the ratio of a Fund's total disclosable costs (excluding overdraft interest) to the average net assets of the Fund. Because the Asset Allocation Funds invest a substantial proportion of assets in other UCITS or Collective Investment Undertakings (CIU), the Asset Allocation Funds are required to disclose a synthetic OCF that accounts for the ongoing charges incurred in the underlying CIUs.

¹ Individual fund financial statements are presented in the base currency of each fund. For the purpose of calculating the Company Vanguard Funds plc US dollars total, the EUR-based funds and GBP-based funds have been translated into US dollars at the following exchange rates:

| | Daily exchange rate as at 31 December 2022 | Daily exchange rate as at 30 June 2022 | Average rate for the six months ended 31 December 2022 | Average rate for the period from 16 August to 31 December 2022 | Average rate for the period from 15 November to 31 December 2022 | Average rate for the six months ended 31 December 2021 |

| EUR-based sub-funds | 1.0673 | 1.0455 | 1.0142 | 1.0124 | 1.0503 | 1.1606 |
| GBP-based sub-funds | 1.2029 | 1.2145 | 1.1757 | — | — | 1.3623 |

The resulting translation adjustment represents the difference in exchange rates applied to the net assets at the beginning of the period and an exchange rate differential in consolidating the Company Statement of Operations at the average rate for the period. This adjustment is solely for the purposes of reporting a fund total in US dollars and has no effect on any individual fund.

Vanguard LifeStrategy 20% Equity UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

Vanguard LifeStrategy 20% Equity UCITS ETF seeks to provide a combination of income and some long-term capital appreciation by investing in fixed income and equity securities, primarily through investment in other collective investment schemes.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Global financial markets remained volatile in the second half of 2022. Market sentiment improved early in the period amid signs of continuing strength in the labour market, corporate earnings that were more resilient than expected and some cooling in energy prices. Although price increases then broadened to other categories of goods and services, they eventually began to come down from multidecade highs.
- With inflation looking like it may have peaked in many developed markets, central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England continued tightening monetary policy but began slowing the pace of their interest rate hikes late in the year.
- Although fears of a recession weighed on sentiment at times, global stock markets ended the half year in positive territory.
- Bond yields across many developed markets continued to rise, especially for bonds with very short maturities, which tend to be more sensitive to changes in central bank policy rates. With rising yields pushing prices down, global bonds ended the period in negative territory.
- In this environment, Vanguard LifeStrategy 20% Equity UCITS ETF returned -4.03% for both share classes for the six months ended 31 December 2022, reflecting its allocations to global stocks and bonds.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Global financial markets remained volatile in the second half of 2022. Market sentiment improved early in the period amid signs of continuing strength in the labour market, corporate earnings that were more resilient than expected and some cooling in energy prices. Although price increases then broadened to other categories of goods and services, they eventually began to come down from multidecade highs.
- With inflation looking like it may have peaked in many developed markets, central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England continued tightening monetary policy but began slowing the pace of their interest rate hikes late in the year.
- Although fears of a recession weighed on sentiment at times, global stock markets ended the half year in positive territory.
- Bond yields across many developed markets continued to rise, especially for bonds with very short maturities, which tend to be more sensitive to changes in central bank policy rates. With rising yields pushing prices down, global bonds ended the period in negative territory.
- In this environment, Vanguard LifeStrategy 40% Equity UCITS ETF returned –2.92% for both share classes for the six months ended 31 December 2022, reflecting its allocations to global stocks and bonds.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Global financial markets remained volatile in the second half of 2022. Market sentiment improved early in the period amid signs of continuing strength in the labour market, corporate earnings that were more resilient than expected and some cooling in energy prices. Although price increases then broadened to other categories of goods and services, they eventually began to come down from multidecade highs.
- With inflation looking like it may have peaked in many developed markets, central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England continued tightening monetary policy but began slowing the pace of their interest rate hikes late in the year.
- Although fears of a recession weighed on sentiment at times, global stock markets ended the half year in positive territory.
- Bond yields across many developed markets continued to rise, especially for bonds with very short maturities, which tend to be more sensitive to changes in central bank policy rates. With rising yields pushing prices down, global bonds ended the period in negative territory.
- In this environment, Vanguard LifeStrategy 80% Equity UCITS ETF returned -0.65% for both share classes for the six months ended 31 December 2022, reflecting its allocations to global stocks and bonds.

Vanguard ESG Developed Asia Pacific All Cap UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

Vanguard ESG Developed Asia Pacific All Cap UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE Developed Asia Pacific All Cap Choice Index, a market-capitalisation-weighted index composed of large-, mid-, and small-cap stocks of companies located in developed markets of the Asia Pacific region, including Japan.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Global stock markets remained volatile in the second half of 2022 but regained some of the ground lost earlier in the year. Market sentiment improved early in the period amid signs of continuing strength in the labour market, corporate earnings that were more resilient than expected and some cooling in energy prices. Although price increases then broadened to other categories of goods and services, they eventually began to come down from multidecade highs.
- With inflation looking like it may have peaked in many developed markets, central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England continued tightening monetary policy but began slowing the pace of their interest rate hikes late in the year.
- Although fears of a recession weighed on sentiment at times, global stock markets ended the half year in positive territory.
- The ETF was launched 11 October 2022. It promotes environmental and social characteristics by excluding companies from its portfolio based on the impact of their conduct or products on society and/or the environment. This is met by tracking the FTSE Developed Asia Pacific All Cap Choice Index. The ETF's benchmark is constructed from the FTSE Developed Asia Pacific All Cap Index. The parent index is screened for certain environmental, social and corporate governance criteria by the sponsor, which is independent of Vanguard.
- The ETF's benchmark excludes stocks of companies that FTSE Russell, as both the sponsor of the index and the data source, determines to be engaged or involved in, and/or derive revenue (above a threshold specified by the index provider) from vice products, nonrenewable energy and weapons. The index methodology also excludes companies that, as determined by the index provider, do not meet the labour, human rights, environmental and anticorruption standards as defined by the United Nations Global Compact Principles.
- For the very short period from the ETF's inception through 31 December 2022, the ETF's benchmark index returned 13.15%.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the period. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the period and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the period is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard ESG Developed Europe All Cap UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

Vanguard ESG Developed Europe All Cap UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE Developed Europe All Cap Choice Index, a market-capitalisation-weighted index composed of large-, mid- and small-cap stocks of companies located in developed markets in Europe.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Global stock markets remained volatile in the second half of 2022 but regained some of the ground lost earlier in the year. Market sentiment improved early in the period amid signs of continuing strength in the labour market, corporate earnings that were more resilient than expected and some cooling in energy prices. Although price increases then broadened to other categories of goods and services, they eventually began to come down from multidecade highs.
- With inflation looking like it may have peaked in many developed markets, central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England continued tightening monetary policy but began slowing the pace of their interest rate hikes late in the year.
- Although fears of a recession weighed on sentiment at times, global stock markets ended the half year in positive territory.
- The ETF was launched 16 August 2022. It promotes environmental and social characteristics by excluding companies from its portfolio based on the impact of their conduct or products on society and/or the environment. This is met by tracking the FTSE Developed Europe All Cap Choice Index. The ETF's benchmark is constructed from the FTSE Developed Europe All Cap Index. The parent index is screened for certain environmental, social and corporate governance criteria by the sponsor, which is independent of Vanguard.
- The ETF's benchmark excludes stocks of companies that FTSE Russell, as both the sponsor of the index and the data source, determines to be engaged or involved in, and/or derive revenue (above a threshold specified by the index provider) from vice products, nonrenewable energy and weapons. The index methodology also excludes companies that, as determined by the index provider, do not meet the labour, human rights, environmental and anticorruption standards as defined by the United Nations Global Compact Principles.
- For the very short period from the ETF's inception through 31 December 2022, the ETF's benchmark index returned -5.43%.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

1 Since-inception returns: 16 August 2022.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the period. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the period and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the period is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard ESG Emerging Markets All Cap UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

Vanguard ESG Emerging Markets All Cap UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE Emerging All Cap Choice Index, a market-capitalisation-weighted index composed of large-, mid- and small-cap stocks of companies located in emerging markets around the world.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Global stock markets remained volatile in the second half of 2022 but regained some of the ground lost earlier in the year. Market sentiment improved early in the period amid signs of continuing strength in the labour market, corporate earnings that were more resilient than expected and some cooling in energy prices. Although price increases then broadened to other categories of goods and services, they eventually began to come down from multidecade highs.
- With inflation looking like it may have peaked in many developed markets, central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England continued tightening monetary policy but began slowing the pace of their interest rate hikes late in the year.
- Although fears of a recession weighed on sentiment at times, global stock markets ended the half year in positive territory.
- The ETF was launched 11 October 2022. It promotes environmental and social characteristics by excluding companies from its portfolio based on the impact of their conduct or products on society and/or the environment. This is met by tracking the FTSE Emerging All Cap Choice Index. The ETF's benchmark is constructed from the FTSE Emerging All Cap Index. The parent index is screened for certain environmental, social and corporate governance criteria by the sponsor, which is independent of Vanguard.
- The ETF's benchmark excludes stocks of companies that FTSE Russell, as both the sponsor of the index and the data source, determines to be engaged or involved in, and/or derive revenue (above a threshold specified by the index provider) from vice products, nonrenewable energy and weapons. The index methodology also excludes companies that, as determined by the index provider, do not meet the labour, human rights, environmental and anticorruption standards as defined by the United Nations Global Compact Principles.
- For the very short period from the ETF's inception through 31 December 2022, the ETF's benchmark index returned 9.79%.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the period. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the period and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the period is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard ESG Global All Cap UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

Vanguard ESG Global All Cap UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE Global All Cap Choice Index, a market capitalisation-weighted index composed of large-, mid- and small-cap stocks of companies located in markets around the world.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Global stock markets remained volatile in the second half of 2022 but regained some of the ground lost earlier in the year. Market sentiment improved early in the period amid signs of continuing strength in the labour market, corporate earnings that were more resilient than expected and some cooling in energy prices. Although price increases then broadened to other categories of goods and services, they eventually began to come down from multidecade highs.
- With inflation looking like it may have peaked in many developed markets, central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England continued tightening monetary policy but began slowing the pace of their interest rate hikes late in the year.
- Although fears of a recession weighed on sentiment at times, global stock markets ended the half year up more than 2%, as measured by the FTSE Global All Cap Index. By region, Europe and Asia-Pacific fared better than the United States and emerging markets.
- In this environment, the benchmark returned 0.56% for the six months ended 31 December 2022.
- Japan and the United States, which together represent more than two-thirds of the index, contributed most to performance. Germany and Denmark were other top contributors. China and Taiwan were the biggest detractors among other markets with larger weightings.
- Seven of the index's 11 industry sectors posted positive returns. Financials, health care and industrials contributed most to returns; technology and consumer discretionary were the biggest detractors.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

Returns are based on NAV with income reinvested.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the period. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the period and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the period is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard ESG North America All Cap UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

Vanguard ESG North America All Cap UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE North America All Cap Choice Index, a market-capitalisation-weighted index composed of large-, mid- and small-cap stocks of companies located in the United States and Canada.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Global stock markets remained volatile in the second half of 2022 but regained some of the ground lost earlier in the year. Market sentiment improved early in the period amid signs of continuing strength in the labour market, corporate earnings that were more resilient than expected and some cooling in energy prices. Although price increases then broadened to other categories of goods and services, they eventually began to come down from multidecade highs.
- With inflation looking like it may have peaked in many developed markets, central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England continued tightening monetary policy but began slowing the pace of their interest rate hikes late in the year.
- Although fears of a recession weighed on sentiment at times, global stock markets ended the half year up more than 2%, as measured by the FTSE Global All Cap Index. By region, Europe and Asia-Pacific fared better than the United States and emerging markets.
- In this environment, the ETF's benchmark index returned -13.28% from the fund's inception on 16 August 2022 through 31 December 2022, largely because of the performance of US stocks, which make up more than 95% of the index.
- Among industry sectors, only health care posted positive results. Technology and consumer discretionary stocks, which make up more than 40% of the index, detracted the most.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the period. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the period and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the period is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard FTSE 100 UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

Vanguard FTSE 100 UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE 100 Index, a widely recognised benchmark of the UK market's most highly capitalised blue-chip companies.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Global stock markets remained volatile in the second half of 2022 but regained some of the ground lost earlier in the year. Market sentiment improved early in the period amid signs of continuing strength in the labour market, corporate earnings that were more resilient than expected and some cooling in energy prices. Although price increases then broadened to other categories of goods and services, they eventually began to come down from multidecade highs.
- With inflation looking like it may have peaked in many developed markets, central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England continued tightening monetary policy but began slowing the pace of their interest rate hikes late in the year.
- Although fears of a recession weighed on sentiment at times, global stock markets ended the half year in positive territory.
- In this environment, the ETF's benchmark index, which represents the UK market's largest companies, returned 5.72% for the six months ended 31 December 2022.
- Eight of 11 sectors posted positive results for the six months. Basic materials and energy contributed most to performance. Telecommunications was the biggest detractor.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in British pounds.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the period. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the period and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the period is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard FTSE 250 UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

Vanguard FTSE 250 UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE 250 Index, a widely recognised benchmark of mid-capitalised companies of the United Kingdom.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Global stock markets remained volatile in the second half of 2022 but regained some of the ground lost earlier in the year. Market sentiment improved early in the period amid signs of continuing strength in the labour market, corporate earnings that were more resilient than expected and some cooling in energy prices. Although price increases then broadened to other categories of goods and services, they eventually began to come down from multidecade highs.
- With inflation looking like it may have peaked in many developed markets, central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England continued tightening monetary policy but began slowing the pace of their interest rate hikes late in the year.
- Although fears of a recession weighed on sentiment at times, global stock markets ended the half year in positive territory.
- In this environment, the ETF's benchmark index returned 2.44% for the six months ended 31 December 2022.
- Stocks in the index, which represents mid-capitalisation companies in the UK market, generally performed well, with positive returns in 9 of 11 sectors. Financials and industrials contributed the most by far to performance. Real estate detracted the most.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in British pounds.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the period. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the period and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the period is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard FTSE All-World UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

Vanguard FTSE All-World UCITS ETF seeks to provide long-term growth of capital by tracking the performance of the FTSE All-World Index, a market capitalisation-weighted index of common stocks of large- and mid-capitalisation companies in developed and emerging markets.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Global stock markets remained volatile in the second half of 2022 but regained some of the ground lost earlier in the year. Market sentiment improved early in the period amid signs of continuing strength in the labour market, corporate earnings that were more resilient than expected and some cooling in energy prices. Although price increases then broadened to other categories of goods and services, they eventually began to come down from multidecade highs.
- With inflation looking like it may have peaked in many developed markets, central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England continued tightening monetary policy but began slowing the pace of their interest rate hikes late in the year.
- Although fears of a recession weighed on sentiment at times, global stock markets ended the half year up more than 2%, as measured by the FTSE Global All Cap Index. By region, Europe and Asia-Pacific fared better than the United States and emerging markets.
- In this environment, the ETF's benchmark returned 2.36% for the six months ended 31 December 2022.
- The United States, which accounted for more than half of the index's holdings, contributed most to its return. Other top contributors included France, Japan, the United Kingdom and Germany. China and Taiwan detracted most from performance.
- Seven of the index's 11 industry sectors posted positive returns, with industrials and financials contributing most to performance. Energy and health care made strong contributions as well. Technology was by far the biggest detractor.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

Returns are based on NAV with income reinvested.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the period. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the period and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the period is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard FTSE All-World High Dividend Yield UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

Vanguard FTSE All-World High Dividend Yield UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE All-World High Dividend Yield Index, a free-float-adjusted market capitalisation-weighted index of common stocks of companies, excluding real estate trusts, in developed and emerging markets that pay dividends that are generally higher than average.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Global stock markets remained volatile in the second half of 2022 but regained some of the ground lost earlier in the year. Market sentiment improved early in the period amid signs of continuing strength in the labour market, corporate earnings that were more resilient than expected and some cooling in energy prices. Although price increases then broadened to other categories of goods and services, they eventually began to come down from multidecade highs.
- With inflation looking like it may have peaked in many developed markets, central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England continued tightening monetary policy but began slowing the pace of their interest rate hikes late in the year.
- Although fears of a recession weighed on sentiment at times, global stock markets ended the half year up more than 2%, as measured by the FTSE Global All Cap Index. By region, Europe and Asia-Pacific fared better than the United States and emerging markets.
- In this environment, the ETF's benchmark returned 5.27% for the six months ended 31 December 2022.
- The United States, which represents more than 40% of the index, contributed about two-thirds of the index's return. France, the United Kingdom, Germany and Japan were also among the top five contributors. China detracted most from performance.
- Seven of the index's 11 industry sectors posted positive returns. Financials, energy and industrials contributed most to performance. Telecommunications detracted, as did the relatively small weighting in real estate.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the period. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the period and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the period is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard FTSE Developed Asia Pacific ex Japan UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

Vanguard FTSE Developed Asia Pacific ex Japan UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE Developed Asia Pacific ex Japan Index, a widely recognised benchmark of the large- and mid-capitalised companies of the developed markets of the Asia-Pacific region, excluding Japan.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Global stock markets remained volatile in the second half of 2022 but regained some of the ground lost earlier in the year. Market sentiment improved early in the period amid signs of continuing strength in the labour market, corporate earnings that were more resilient than expected and some cooling in energy prices. Although price increases then broadened to other categories of goods and services, they eventually began to come down from multidecade highs.
- With inflation looking like it may have peaked in many developed markets, central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England continued tightening monetary policy but began slowing the pace of their interest rate hikes late in the year.
- Although fears of a recession weighed on sentiment at times, global stock markets ended the half year in positive territory.
- In this environment, the ETF's benchmark index returned 3.83% for the six months ended 31 December 2022.
- Australia, the largest index constituent market, contributed most to returns, followed distantly by Singapore. South Korea and Hong Kong, which together made up more than 40% of the index on average, were detractors.
- Seven of the 11 industry sectors posted positive results. Financials and basic materials, two of the larger weightings in the index, contributed most to returns. Industrials and real estate were the biggest detractors.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

Returns are based on NAV with income reinvested.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the period. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the period and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the period is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard FTSE Developed Europe UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

Vanguard FTSE Developed Europe UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE Developed Europe Index, a widely recognised benchmark of stock market performance of European developed countries that is composed of the stocks of large- and mid-capitalised companies in developed Europe.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Global stock markets remained volatile in the second half of 2022 but regained some of the ground lost earlier in the year. Market sentiment improved early in the period amid signs of continuing strength in the labour market, corporate earnings that were more resilient than expected and some cooling in energy prices. Although price increases then broadened to other categories of goods and services, they eventually began to come down from multidecade highs.
 - With inflation looking like it may have peaked in many developed markets, central banks including the Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England continued tightening monetary policy but began slowing the pace of their interest rate hikes late in the year.
 - Although fears of a recession weighed on sentiment at times, global stock markets ended the half year in positive territory.
 - In this environment, the ETF's benchmark index returned 4.94% for the six months ended 31 December 2022.
 - Nearly every market represented in the index had positive returns, with France and Germany contributing the most.
 - Seven of the 11 sectors recorded a positive performance. Industrials and financials contributed most to results; telecommunications detracted the most.
- Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in euros.

Returns are based on NAV with income reinvested.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the period. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the period and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the period is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard FTSE Developed Europe ex UK UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

Vanguard FTSE Developed Europe ex UK UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE Developed Europe ex UK Index, a widely recognised market capitalisation-weighted index of stock market performance of European developed countries, excluding the United Kingdom, that is composed of the stocks of large- and mid-capitalisation companies in that region.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Global stock markets remained volatile in the second half of 2022 but regained some of the ground lost earlier in the year. Market sentiment improved early in the period amid signs of continuing strength in the labour market, corporate earnings that were more resilient than expected and some cooling in energy prices. Although price increases then broadened to other categories of goods and services, they eventually began to come down from multidecade highs.
- With inflation looking like it may have peaked in many developed markets, central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England continued tightening monetary policy but began slowing the pace of their interest rate hikes late in the year.
- Although fears of a recession weighed on sentiment at times, global stock markets ended the half year in positive territory.
- In this environment, the ETF's benchmark index returned 5.69% for the six months ended 31 December 2022.
- Nearly every market represented in the index turned in a positive performance. France and Germany contributed strongly, as did Denmark. Switzerland, the second-largest weighting, lagged behind the other leaders. Norway was the biggest detractor.
- By sector, financials, industrials and consumer discretionary contributed the most to the index return. Eight of 11 sectors were positive. Utilities was the biggest detractor.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in euros.

Returns are based on NAV with income reinvested.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the period. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the period and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the period is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard FTSE Developed World UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

Vanguard FTSE Developed World UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE Developed Index, a widely recognised benchmark of large- and mid-capitalisation companies in global developed markets.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Global stock markets remained volatile in the second half of 2022 but regained some of the ground lost earlier in the year. Market sentiment improved early in the period amid signs of continuing strength in the labour market, corporate earnings that were more resilient than expected and some cooling in energy prices. Although price increases then broadened to other categories of goods and services, they eventually began to come down from multidecade highs.
- With inflation looking like it may have peaked in many developed markets, central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England continued tightening monetary policy but began slowing the pace of their interest rate hikes late in the year.
- Although fears of a recession weighed on sentiment at times, global stock markets ended the half year up more than 2%, as measured by the FTSE Global All Cap Index. By region, Europe and Asia-Pacific fared better than the United States and emerging markets.
- In this environment, the ETF's benchmark returned 2.98% for the six months ended 31 December 2022.
- The United States, which represents almost two-thirds of the index, contributed most to the index's return. France, Japan, the United Kingdom and Germany were also among the top contributors. Hong Kong and South Korea detracted most.
- Seven of the index's 11 industry sectors posted positive returns. Financials and industrials contributed most, followed by energy and health care. Technology, the largest sector in the index, was the biggest detractor.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the period. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the period and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the period is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard FTSE Emerging Markets UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

Vanguard FTSE Emerging Markets UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE Emerging Index, a free-float market capitalisation-weighted index of large- and mid-capitalisation companies in multiple emerging markets in Europe, Asia, Africa, Central and South America and the Middle East.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Global stock markets remained volatile in the second half of 2022 but regained some of the ground lost earlier in the year. Market sentiment improved early in the period amid signs of continuing strength in the labour market, corporate earnings that were more resilient than expected and some cooling in energy prices. Although price increases then broadened to other categories of goods and services, they eventually began to come down from multidecade highs.
- With inflation looking like it may have peaked in many developed markets, central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England continued tightening monetary policy but began slowing the pace of their interest rate hikes late in the year.
- Although fears of a recession weighed on sentiment at times, global stock markets ended the half year up more than 2%, as measured by the FTSE Global All Cap Index. By region, Europe and Asia-Pacific fared better than the United States and emerging markets.
- In this environment, emerging markets stocks as a whole struggled. The ETF's benchmark returned –2.65% for the six months ended 31 December 2022.
- Chinese stocks, which make up about one-third of the index, had a return of about –12%, dragging the total return down with them. Taiwan also detracted notably from performance. India was by far the top positive contributor.
- Six of the index's 11 industry sectors posted gains, led by financials, basic materials and industrials. Consumer discretionary and technology hurt performance the most.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the period. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the period and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the period is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard FTSE Japan UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

Vanguard FTSE Japan UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE Japan Index, a widely recognised benchmark of large- and mid-capitalised companies in Japan.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Global stock markets remained volatile in the second half of 2022 but regained some of the ground lost earlier in the year. Market sentiment improved early in the period amid signs of continuing strength in the labour market, corporate earnings that were more resilient than expected and some cooling in energy prices. Although price increases then broadened to other categories of goods and services, they eventually began to come down from multidecade highs.
- With inflation looking like it may have peaked in many developed markets, central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England continued tightening monetary policy but began slowing the pace of their interest rate hikes late in the year.
- Although fears of a recession weighed on sentiment at times, global stock markets ended the half year in positive territory.
- In this environment, the ETF's benchmark index returned 4.61% for the six months ended 31 December 2022.
- Seven of the benchmark's 11 industry sectors posted positive results. Financial and industrial stocks added most to returns. Real estate and consumer discretionary stocks were the biggest detractors.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

Returns are based on NAV with income reinvested.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

¹ Since-inception returns: EUR-Hedged Accumulating and USD-Hedged Accumulating, 31 January 2020; USD Accumulating, 24 September 2019; USD Distributing, 21 May 2013.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the period. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the period and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the period is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard FTSE North America UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

Vanguard FTSE North America UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE North America Index, a market capitalisation-weighted index of large- and mid-cap companies in the United States and Canada.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Global stock markets remained volatile in the second half of 2022 but regained some of the ground lost earlier in the year. Market sentiment improved early in the period amid signs of continuing strength in the labour market, corporate earnings that were more resilient than expected and some cooling in energy prices. Although price increases then broadened to other categories of goods and services, they eventually began to come down from multidecade highs.
- With inflation looking like it may have peaked in many developed markets, central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England continued tightening monetary policy but began slowing the pace of their interest rate hikes late in the year.
- Although fears of a recession weighed on sentiment at times, global stock markets ended the half year up more than 2%, as measured by the FTSE Global All Cap Index. By region, Europe and Asia-Pacific fared better than the United States and emerging markets.
- In this environment, the ETF's benchmark index returned 1.71% for the six months ended 31 December 2022, largely because of the positive performance of US stocks, which make up about 95% of the index.
- Six of 11 industry sectors posted positive results. Industrials contributed most, followed by health care, energy and financials. Technology, which has by far the largest weighting in the index, detracted the most.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the period. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the period and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the period is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard Germany All Cap UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

Vanguard Germany All Cap UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE Germany All Cap Index, a free-float-adjusted market capitalisation-weighted index composed of large-, mid- and small-cap stocks of companies located in Germany, and is derived from the broader FTSE Global Equity Index Series.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Global stock markets remained volatile in the second half of 2022 but regained some of the ground lost earlier in the year. Market sentiment improved early in the period amid signs of continuing strength in the labour market, corporate earnings that were more resilient than expected and some cooling in energy prices. Although price increases then broadened to other categories of goods and services, they eventually began to come down from multidecade highs.
- With inflation looking like it may have peaked in many developed markets, central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England continued tightening monetary policy but began slowing the pace of their interest rate hikes late in the year.
- Although fears of a recession weighed on sentiment at times, global stock markets ended the half year in positive territory.
- In this environment, the ETF's benchmark index returned 6.12% for the six months ended 31 December 2022.
- Seven of 11 industry sectors produced positive returns. Industrials, financials and technology contributed the most to index performance. Health care and real estate detracted the most.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in euros.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the period. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the period and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the period is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard S&P 500 UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

Vanguard S&P 500 UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the Standard & Poor's 500 Index, a widely recognised benchmark of US stock market performance that is composed of the stocks of large US companies.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Global stock markets remained volatile in the second half of 2022 but regained some of the ground lost earlier in the year. Market sentiment improved early in the period amid signs of continuing strength in the labour market, corporate earnings that were more resilient than expected and some cooling in energy prices. Although price increases then broadened to other categories of goods and services, they eventually began to come down from multidecade highs.
- With inflation looking like it may have peaked in many developed markets, central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England continued tightening monetary policy but began slowing the pace of their interest rate hikes late in the year.
- Although fears of a recession weighed on sentiment at times, global stock markets ended the half year up more than 2%, as measured by the FTSE Global All Cap Index. By region, Europe and Asia-Pacific fared better than the United States and emerging markets.
- In this environment, the ETF's benchmark index returned 2.04% for the six months ended 31 December 2022.
- Seven of the index's 11 industry sectors posted positive results, with health care, financials and energy contributing most to returns. Communications services, consumer discretionary and information technology detracted the most.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

¹ The return of the S&P 500 UCITS ETF is adjusted by 15% for the withholding tax on dividends paid by US securities. The return of the S&P 500 Index is adjusted by 30%.

² Since-inception returns: USD Accumulating, 14 May 2019.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the period. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the period and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the period is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard ESG EUR Corporate Bond UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

Vanguard ESG EUR Corporate Bond UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the Bloomberg MSCI EUR Corporate Liquid Bond Screened Index, a EUR denominated universe of investment grade corporate fixed-rate bonds.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Global financial markets remained volatile in the second half of 2022. Market sentiment improved early in the period amid signs of continuing strength in the labour market, corporate earnings that were more resilient than expected and some cooling in energy prices. Although price increases then broadened to other categories of goods and services, they eventually began to come down from multidecade highs.
- With inflation looking like it may have peaked in many developed markets, central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England continued tightening monetary policy but began slowing the pace of their interest rate hikes late in the year.
- Bond yields across many developed markets continued to rise, especially for bonds with very short maturities, which tend to be more sensitive to changes in central bank policy rates. With rising yields pushing prices down, global bonds ended the period in negative territory.
- The ETF was launched 15 November 2022. It promotes environmental and social characteristics by excluding fixed income securities from its portfolio based on the impact of the issuer's conduct or products on society and/or the environment. This is met by tracking the Bloomberg MSCI EUR Corporate Liquid Bond Screened Index. The ETF's benchmark is constructed from the Bloomberg Euro-Aggregate: Corporates Index. The parent index is screened for certain environmental, social and corporate governance criteria by the sponsor, which is independent of Vanguard.
- The index methodology also excludes the bonds of issuers that, as determined by MSCI, have no controversy score or a controversy score of less than one as defined by MSCI's ESG controversies assessment framework.
- For the very short period from the ETF's inception through 31 December, the benchmark returned -0.47%.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in euros.

Returns are based on NAV with income reinvested.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the period. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the period and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the period is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard ESG Global Corporate Bond UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

Vanguard ESG Global Corporate Bond UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the Bloomberg MSCI Global Corporate Float-Adjusted Liquid Bond Screened Index, a multi-currency universe index of investment-grade corporate fixed-rate bonds from both developed and emerging markets.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Global financial markets remained volatile in the second half of 2022. Market sentiment improved early in the period amid signs of continuing strength in the labour market, corporate earnings that were more resilient than expected and some cooling in energy prices. Although price increases then broadened to other categories of goods and services, they eventually began to come down from multidecade highs.
- With inflation looking like it may have peaked in many developed markets, central banks including the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England continued tightening monetary policy but began slowing the pace of their interest rate hikes late in the year.
- Bond yields across many developed markets continued to rise, especially for bonds with very short maturities, which tend to be more sensitive to changes in central bank policy rates. With rising yields pushing prices down, global bonds ended the period in negative territory.
- The ETF's benchmark returned –1.28% for the six months ended 31 December 2022.
- The United States, which accounts for well over half of the market value of the index, underperformed the index. Switzerland and the United Kingdom were also among the laggards. On the other hand, Italy and Canada were among the markets posting positive returns.
- By sector, bonds issued by utilities weighed more on results than those issued by industrial companies and financial institutions.
- Longer-dated and higher-quality bonds generally underperformed.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

Returns are based on NAV with income reinvested.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the period. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the period and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the period is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.
