Risk and reward profile

The indicator above does not signal the risk of a potential loss, but indicates the fluctuations in the sub-fund's share price in the past.

- The sub-fund is assigned to this category because its share price can fluctuate moderately to sharply due to the investment policy applied, particularly its geographical focus.
- The historical data used to calculate the profile cannot be used as a reliable guide to the future risk profile of the sub-fund.
- The risk category shown is not guaranteed and may change.
- Even the lowest risk category is not entirely free of risk.

When assigning a sub-fund's share class to a risk category, it may be the case that not all risks are taken into account. Such risks include risks in connection with exceptional market events, operational errors, legal and political events. You can find a detailed list of the risks in the "Notice regarding special risks" section in the general part of the sales prospectus. The following risks have no direct influence on this category, but may still be important:

- The credit quality of the securities that the sub-fund invests in can deteriorate. This means there is a risk that the issuer of the securities cannot meet its obligations. The value of this investment may fall if an issuer's credit rating is downgraded.
- Using derivatives results in the corresponding counterparty risks.
- The sub-fund entails a higher degree of liquidity risk and greater operational risks as it invests in markets that may be affected by political developments and/or changes in legislation as well as tax and foreign exchange controls.
- The use of derivatives generally results in leverage. The sub-fund is also subject to the corresponding valuation risks and operational risks.
- This share class of the sub-fund is issued in EUR. The sub-fund can invest extensively in securities denominated in other currencies, which means that the class may be exposed to a higher currency risk.
